

The Auburn Alumnews

Volume XXXX, Number 7, September 1985

Inside This Issue:

ALUMNALITIES, ALUMNALITIES, & MORE ALUMNALITIES—This time of year, information about our alumni increases from the trickle of April and May to a flood of questionnaires from reunion classes and the latest from Okinawa to Bug Tussle as alumni send in their dues for another year and respond to our request for news for The Alumnews. So, if you're looking for the latest on one of your Auburn friends, try pages 13-31. There's bound to be somebody there you know. And if there isn't, send us your news and maybe you'll inspire that person you'd like to know about to do likewise.

CIVIL WAR LETTERS—A collection of letters written during the Civil War recently came home to Lee County when the descendants of the letter writers made a pilgrimage east to trace their roots and to bring the letters of John and Bettie Crittenden to the Auburn University Archives. Page 6.

LITTLE KNOWN TRAINING PROGRAM—Ruth Schowalter's pursuit of the story about the Civil War letters mentioned above led to an interest in what archivists do, which in turn led to a story on the option of an archival specialty through the Auburn History Department, a little-known but highly successful program and boasting among its 27 graduates archivists who deal with state archives, Presidential archives, and military archives. Page 8.

BIG ORANGE VS. THE ORANGE & BLUE—Sam Hendrix couldn't wait for football season to get here to begin The Alumnews' coverage so he decided to trace the history of some of the great Auburn football rivalries, beginning the series this month with a look at the Auburn-Tennessee rivalry—which almost didn't happen. To get in the mood for this year's Big Orange-Big Blue matchup in Knoxville at the end of the month, see page 11.

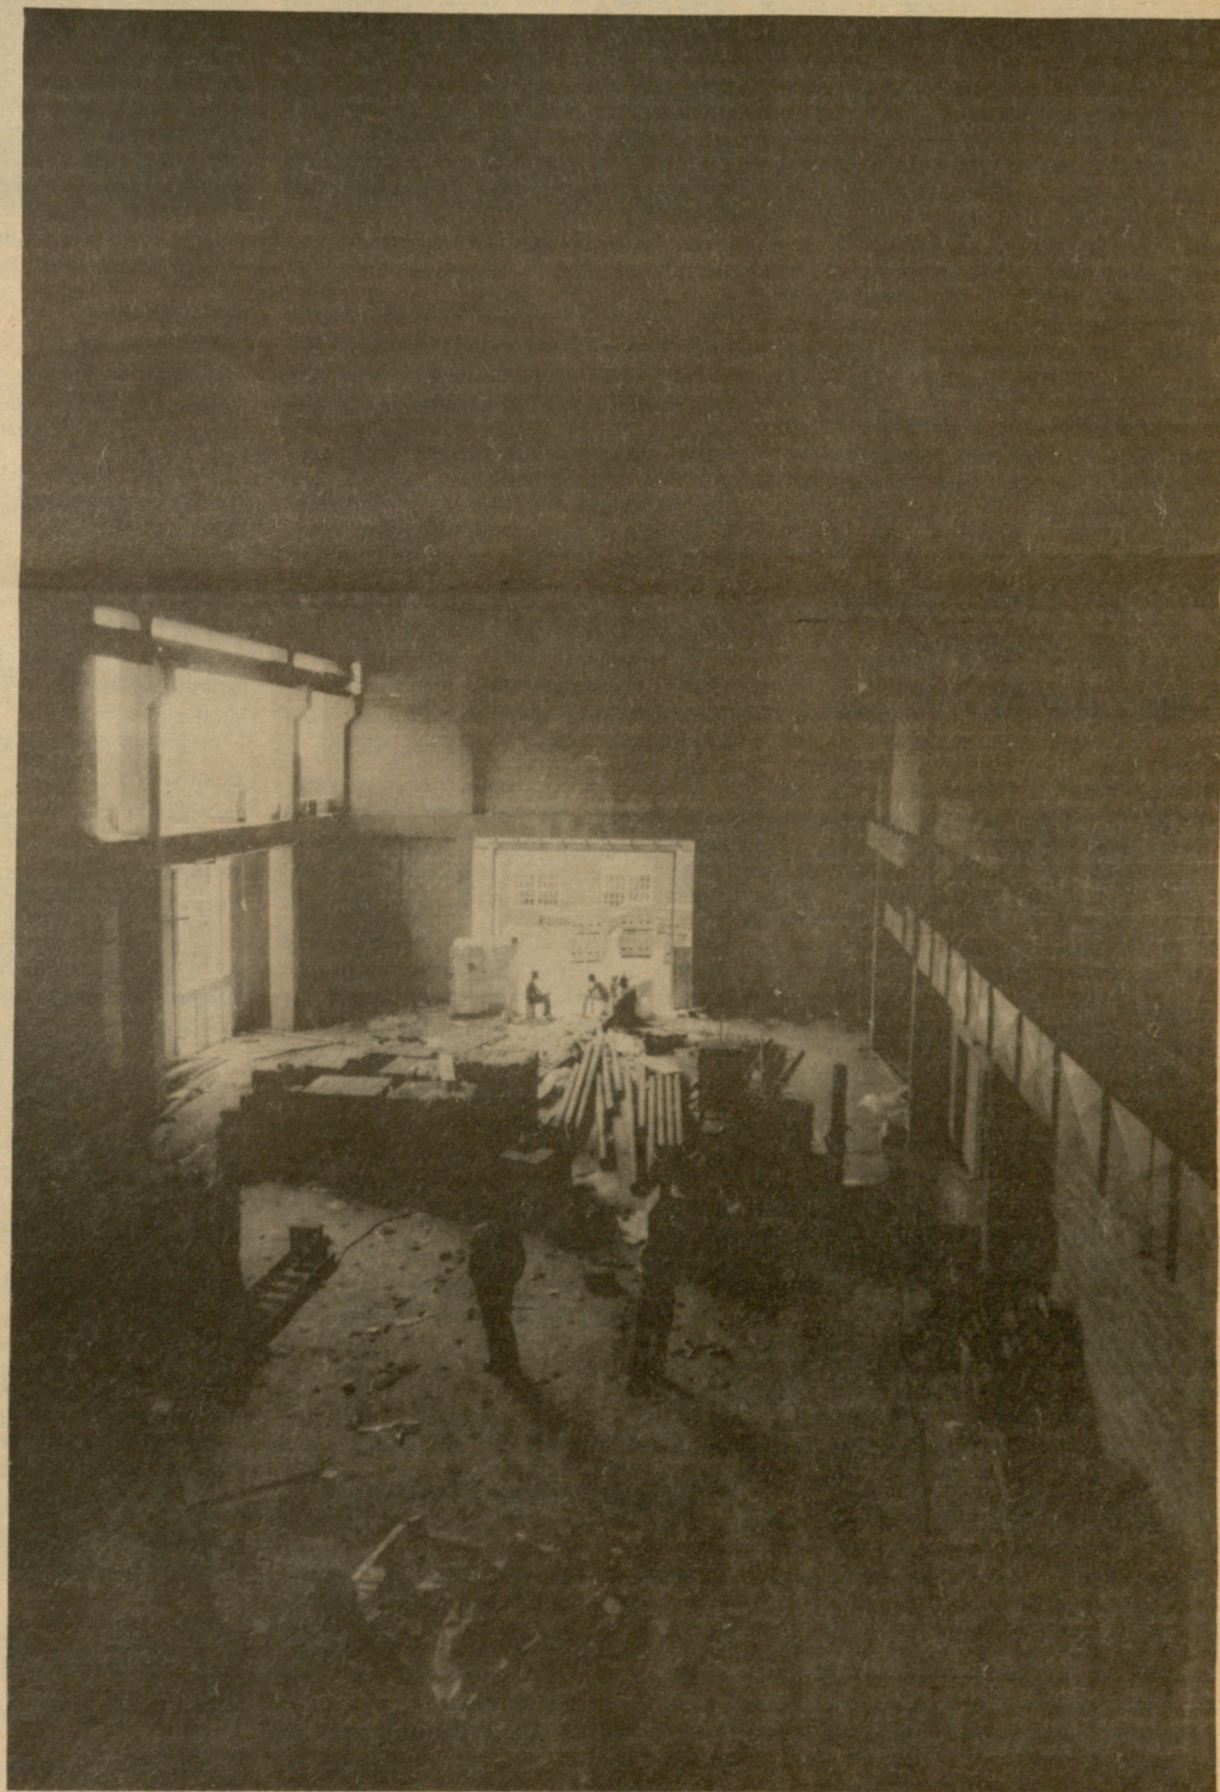

OUR MAN AT THE SMITHSONIAN—Alas, our man at the Smithsonian is there no more except for an occasional visit, for Harry Lowe '43, former Auburn professor, etc., is now former deputy director of the National Museum of American Art. A native of nearby Opelika, Mr. Lowe permanently left the Auburn area in the late fifties eventually to become "a Washington monument." Page 9.

ALL A's—Alice Searcy Johnson is the second student in ten years to graduate from the program of Industrial engineering with all A's. Page 7.

Regular Departments:

Alumnalities p. 13.
Club News p. 12.
In Memoriam p. 10.

Sports p. 11.
Features p. 6.
Points & Views p. 4.

STRUCTURES LAB—A large section of the new civil engineering building will be devoted to the structures lab where large scale beams and other large components will be tested for stress under deflection and other engineering loads. The civil engineering building, which comprises 43,000 square feet, will be dedicated during ceremonies winter quarter. The construction of the building was made possible through a gift from John Harbert, III, '46 to the Auburn Generations Fund.

—Photo by Jim Killian

Campus Roundup

Pharmacy Alumni Honor Three

The Auburn Pharmacy Alumni Association has honored three people for their service to the School of Pharmacy and the profession. The Distinguished Service Award went to Hazel S. Cooper of Auburn, wife of pharmacy dean Ben S. Cooper. Pharmacy graduates James O. Walker '57 of Birmingham and Wyatt Williams '53 of Tuscaloosa received the Distinguished Alumnus Awards.

Mrs. Cooper is active with the American Pharmaceutical Association Auxiliary, the Auburn Campus Club, and the Auburn Women's Club. She is also advisor to Kappa Epsilon, pharmacy honorary.

Mr. Walker is sales manager of Walker Drug Co. in Birmingham where he is secretary of the Better Business Bureau. In addition to being active with a number of pharmaceutical and wholesale drug associations, he serves on the board of the Auburn Pharmacy Alumni Association.

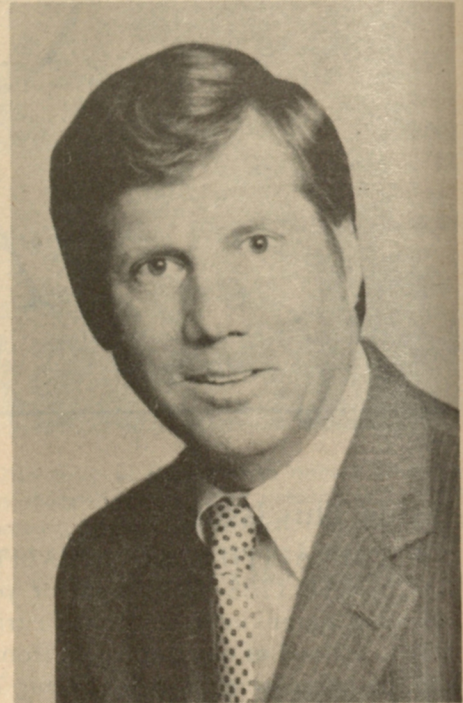

Mr. Williams is director of pharmacy and pharmaceuticals buyer for Harco Drugs. He is a past president of the Alabama State Board of Pharmacy and is active with a number of pharmaceutical and wholesale drug associations.

Hazel S. Cooper

Wyatt Williams '53

James O. Walker '57

Bid for Demolition Accepted as Plans Made for Hotel, etc.

The T. M. Burgin Co. of Birmingham is apparent low bidder on the demolition contract for four fraternity houses being removed to make way for a hotel-conference center on the Auburn University campus. The company's bid of $89,712 was the lowest of two opened on Aug. 13.

Rhett Riley, AU business manager and treasurer, said awarding of the contract now awaits a settlement between the university and the four affected fraternities—Phi Delta Theta, Delta Sigma Phi, Pi Kappa Phi and Alpha Gamma Rho. The university has made settlement proposals to the fraternities, and vice versa, but no agreement has been reached.

According to stipulations of the long-term free land lease, Auburn will now select an appraiser for the houses, as will the fraternities. Those two appraisers will select a third appraiser, who will work with them to formulate a fair settlement. Besides the question of the value of the houses, Mr. Riley said discussion continues over possible payment to the fraternities for the value of the unused portion of the lease. AU has offered to provide another free property lease to the fraternities, plus up to $300,000 to each fraternity in lower than market rate loans with which to rebuild. Mr. Riley said this offer would counterbalance any value of the remaining portion of the lease.

The university has also considered giving the fraternities a cash settlement on the value of the lease, but not providing additional land or loan funds. Both the question of the value of the homes and the unexpired lease will be addressed by the appraisers, according to Mr. Riley.

Meanwhile, developers are involved in finalizing plans for the 225-room facility. The center will sit on a 5.16 acre site across from Ralph B. Draughon Library and is expected to cost $16 million to $18 million. All construction and operation costs will be funded through private investments.

After the settlement comes, the fraternity houses will be razed and construction on the center should begin immediately.

"We don't feel any kind of deadline pressure, but we don't want to delay the project any more than we have to," Mr. Riley said.

The firm receiving the demolition contract will keep all scrap left from the buildings according to Mr. Riley. At present, the university is involved in a $42,000 project to remove asbestos found in the buildings. The Federal Environmental Protection Agency requires that the material be removed before demolition. The university will pay the settlement with the fraternities, as well as for the asbestos removal.

At least one of the fraternities, Pi Kappa Phi, has found another house. It will lease the Delta Chi house from that fraternity's foundation in an arrangement approved July 29 by the AU Board of Trustees.

Art Students Take Scholarship Honors

Students from the Auburn Art Department won 13 of 15 awards, including all five of the top honors, in the prestigious Birmingham Advertising Club's Annual scholarship program held recently.

Eight Alabama schools participated with a total of 105 entries in this year's program. Participants were required to put together prospective advertising campaigns or marketing plans for the new Birmingham horse racing park.

First prize and a scholarship of $1,500 went to Susan Browne of LaGrange, Ga. Pamela Tawater of Chattanooga, Tenn., received the second prize of $1,000, while Nancy C. Spears of Birmingham, Toby Hanna of Talladega, and Donald Scott of Selma were winners of $500 each.

Other Auburn students in the top ten included Sandra Newman of Hartford, Carole Wright of Mobile, and Marcus Yarbrough of Opelika. They won awards of $200 each.

Five Certificate of Merit winners from Auburn rounded out the winners. They were Harry C. Ankeny, Anniston; Robert Barge, East Point, Ga.; Barbara Sue Bennett, Auburn; Ellen Beverly, Birmingham; and Adrienne Wyman, Marietta, Ga.

The top fifteen winners were honored with a banquet at the Birmingham Hilton, during which their entries were displayed in the lobby.

Lane Cannon Named Stevens Scholar

Lane Cannon '85 of Talladega has been awarded the Frank J. Stevens Honorary Scholarship. It is presented to an outstanding senior in the pre-health curriculum who has made great contributions to Alpha Epsilon Delta, pre-health honorary.

Lane graduated from Auburn in March and began graduate school in physical therapy at the University of Alabama in Birmingham.

Chapman Wins NSF Fellowship

Michael L. Chapman '85 has received a National Science Foundation Fellowship to study at Auburn. The highly-competitive, tax-free fellowship will provide $17,000 each year for three years of study. He is currently pursuing the M.S. in agricultural engineering and will use the fellowship to work on his doctorate in the same field.

The National Science Foundation annually awards 540 fellowships from among 4,400 applicants for advanced study in the natural and social sciences, mathematics, and engineering. These fellowships are among the largest and most competitive available for advanced study at American universities.

Six Students Get Home Ec Honors

Six students in various areas of home economics received the most recent honors in the School of Home Economics.

Alison Hunt of LaGrange, Ga., a senior majoring in fashion merchandising, received the Elizabeth Ann Cook award. The award provides $1,000 for a student to use for a fashion or design-related enrichment experience. Alison has been active with Fashion, Inc., and was chairman of the modeling board as well as active with Omicron Nu, the home economics honorary.

Cindy Turner of Black, a junior in family resource management, received the Alma Bentley Scholarship for excellence. She had earlier received the Consumer Affairs Scholarship in 1983 and the Marion W. Spidle Scholarship in 1984. Cindy is the daughter of Sharon Collins Turner '72 and Charles Turner '63.

Lisa Zirkelbach of Birmingham, a senior in family and child development, received the Cobb DeShazo Award as the outstanding senior in her curriculum. She was vice president of the Organization of Professionals in Human Development and a fraternity little sister. Lisa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Zirkelbach '65.

Camille Ivey of Huntsville, a senior in coordinated dietetics received the Morrison's Scholarship from the Alabama Die-

Association for excellence in her field. She is a member of the Student Dietetic Association and Omicron Nu home economics honorary.

Sharon Ann Harper of Huntsville received the Alabama Association for Young Children Award. She was also chosen as the Outstanding Home Economics Student by the SGA and belongs to a number of student organizations including the honorary Omicron Nu.

Laura Norris of Decatur was recognized for her contributions to the Auburn chapter of the Organization of Professionals in Human Development, of which she is president. She is a senior in family and child development and represents the School of Home Economics on the Student/Faculty Council. Laura is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ramon L. Norris '58 of Decatur.

Lisa Ramey Receives First Norman Award

Lisa Ramey of Auburn will study civil engineering as the first recipient of the Jackie Norman Memorial Scholarship. The scholarship honors the late Jackie Jackson Norman '63.

Lisa, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George E. Ramey, was listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students and was active in high school in a number of organizations and honoraries.

Doctoral Student Gets Merriwether Award

Ronald D. Cave, a doctoral student in entomology, has received a Harry Merriwether Memorial Scholarship for graduate study at Auburn. The $3,000 scholarship is for one year.

Ronald holds the B.S. from the University of California at Davis and the M.S. from the University of California at Berkeley.

GOING ON UP—Rapid progress is evident on the new civil engineering building going up on Magnolia Avenue on the site of Broun Hall. The structure is the gift of John M. Harbert, III, '46 to the Auburn Generations Fund and is being built under the auspices of the Auburn University Foundation. The building was designed to fit the historic design of other buildings in the area such as Samford, Hargis, and Langdon Halls.

Hiers Steps Down As Head of Art

After 15 years Charles Hiers '57 is stepping down as head of the Art Department at Auburn University. Following a leave for professional development, Prof. Hiers will resume full-time teaching as professor of art. Dean Keith McPheeters, School of Architecture and Fine Arts, said James Collier, associate professor of art, will serve as acting head of the department.

"Professor Hiers' long service as department head and his efforts to maintain and improve the quality of the programs in the department are appreciated," said Dean McPheeters in announcing the change in leadership of the department.

Prof. Collier, a native of Bellingham, Wash., joined the Auburn faculty in 1975 as an assistant professor and was promoted to associate professor in 1981. His special field is art history, the Renaissance in particular. He earned his B.S. degree at Pacific Lutheran, his master's at the University of Oregon, and Ph.D. at the University of Michigan.

Prof. Heirs earned both bachelor's and master's degrees at Auburn and did graduate work at Waseda and Sophia Universities in Japan and at the University of California-Berkeley. He joined the Auburn faculty in 1965 and was named department head in 1970.

Prof. Hiers is serving his second three-year term as a director of the accreditation commission for the National Association of Schools of Art and Design.

SUPPORT FOR MITE—R. Dwight Goggans '57, center, now a district manager of industrial sales for Westinghouse Electric Corp. in Atlanta, was recently on campus to present his company's check for support of the Minority Introduction to Engineering (MITE) program. (Westinghouse is a long-time supporter of the program, which each summer brings minority students to campus for a two-week sampling of engineering studies and campus life.) Mr. Goggans' daughter Karen is a senior in nursing at Auburn, carrying on the family tradition. Looking on as Mr. Goggans presents the check to President James E. Martin is James O. Nichols of the Aerospace Engineering Department who coordinates the MITE program.

CONGRATULATIONS—Retiring Home Economics Dean Ruth Galbraith receives congratulations from Veterinary Medicine Dean Thomas Vaughan, right, and Rep. Pete Turnham '47 at a dinner in her honor in August. Some 150 colleagues and friends gathered to mark her 15 years of service to Auburn, the last 12 as dean. They and many others not present contributed some $15,000 to the Ruth L. Galbraith Home Economics Scholarship in her honor. In addition to tributes from her faculty and President Martin, Dean Galbraith received a commendation from Gov. Wallace and a resolution from the Alabama Senate, presented by Vice President for Research Paul Parks, as well as a resolution from the House of Representatives presented by Rep. Turnham. There were also commendations from the American Association of Home Economics Administrators and the Alabama Association of Extension Home Economists.

Points & Views

Here and There—

Coming Out of the Closet

By Jerry Roden, Jr. '46

The federal bureaucracy, the education establishment, and more than half my friends love innovation as dearly as a miser does gold. But unlike a miser they never hoard: They sprinkle the term, its verbal brother innovate, and its adjectival sister innovative through countless memoranda to enrich the contents thereof and scatter the same terms through conversation and speech to add luster to their utterances.

Roden

Certainly, the concept and the words employed to convey it possess a seductive quality: The idea of introducing something new appeals to the human ego, and the syllables of innovate, innovative, and innovation roll trippingly from the tongue and fall soothingly upon the ear.

Many years ago, I fell prey to the shimmering appeal of innovation and for some time attempted to be fresh and creative in everything I did. But, alas, all my bold new approaches lacked genuine creativity and turned out, at best, to be merely fresh.

For a time thereafter, I was disconsolate at having been born without the talent essential for a great innovator. But with the passage of the years, I slowly became reconciled and then finally delighted with my innovative deficiency. All of this lasted so long only because I am notoriously slow of study and took years to comprehend what should have become clear in an instant: I was never truly enamored of innovation, but just infatuated temporarily, and that infatuation ran contrary to my true nature—At least nine times out of ten, I prefer the old way to the new.

All of this adds up to the admission that I have been a closet reactionary—or, at least, nine-tenths one—for most of my life. And I apologize for it, not for being an antagonist of innovation most of the time, but for having been so timorous about admitting and defending the fact.

After finally coming out of the closet, I must—I suppose—defend my new position. But before doing so, I should admit candidly my daily enjoyment of several twentieth-century innovations, including indoor plumbing, air-conditioning, radio, television, a home freezer, and a fairly dependable automobile. However, as much as I love these and other modern creature comforts, I just might let them go gladly to be rid of a few other twentieth-century innovations, including social promotion in public schools, contemporary conventional warfare, nuclear weaponry and the threat of a holocaust, biological and chemical weaponry with a potential almost as horrible as that of the nuclear arsenals, and communism's emergence as the greatest foe of democracy and traditional values.

Of course, we cannot rid ourselves of communism and the nuclear threat by going back to the outhouse and the horse and buggy, no matter how appealing that prospect may be. But in the days ahead as we struggle to preserve the noblest principles developed in the course of human history, we should remember constantly that innovation stands as the source of both our daily conveniences and our nocturnal nightmares of an ultimate catastrophe.

Since I am only about nine-tenths reactionary, I am unwilling to exclude some great innovation as the builder of the pathway to escape our present dilemmas. However, I place greater faith in long-established methods and principles and daresay any worthwhile innovation will arise only out of a thorough understanding of all the human wisdom developed through the ages from the beginning of civilization on earth. Therefore, in the days ahead, let us beware of change for its own sake, of blind faith in innovation and progress, and of a naive tendency to succumb dizzily to the gaudy seductiveness of new-fangledness.

* * *

An Apology and a Request—Several months ago, a reader sent me a letter with some comments kinder than I deserve. Since I was not due in the Alumni Office for several days, Mistress Kaye called and told me of the existence of my personal letter which had been routed to her desk. I asked her to open it, read it aloud on the phone, and then forward it to me—all of which she did. But somewhere between the Alumni Office and the Eastern Outskirts of Stonewall, the gremlins seized the letter, so that I have never seen it, and neither Kaye nor I can recall the precise identity of the writer. If the author of that letter is still out there and will drop me a brief note, I will yet give him the appreciative response his first letter deserved.

—Photo by Ken Elkins

The Refined Art of Watching Majorettes Perform

By Bob Sanders '52

The picture of this year's majorettes came out in the local paper recently. It's a pretty bunch of girls, and I always enjoy looking at pretty girls; but the picture still made me sad, just a little bit, because for the first time in nine years, I don't have any connection with any of them.

For six years, two in high school and four in college, we were majorette parents, part of the elaborate getting-ready routine before each game or parade, and then tense but proud spectators, praying that a strap wouldn't break, or that a split wouldn't break something, or that a baton wouldn't go flying out of reach, or that damp weather wouldn't make the hair too frizzy....But at the end of the season last year, the last aging spinster who had served with the Prestige Plaza majorette was mustered out of service.

We got to know, through the daughter, some beautiful and delightful young women—Ginger, Jill, Dell, Kathy, Paula, Julie, the Morgan youngun, Terri, Adonna, Elizabeth, and all the rest.

The impact of the pressure of the tryouts didn't really hit us till after Wimp had finally eked out a diploma—she never would let us come to them; but we went to the one the year after she graduated, and it is a brutal ordeal. Each candidate has to get out there and give her "routine," under the baleful stares of the other candidates and their friends and parents, all of them, except HER friends and parents, hoping she'll make a stumbling, all-thumbed fool of herself. That's the moment when the tape machine won't work, or won't start—as the try-outer stands there, poised, mouth frozen into a smile, and stands there, and stands there, and stands there—as Walls and Vinson and the battle-scarred veteran twirlers look on implacably. No encouragement, no applause, everything depending on this one performance....it's a tough gauntlet to run.

Often, in high school and at the college level, there are several "good" or even "outstanding" ones who don't get the call; but there are only so many spaces to fill. Sometimes the unchosen (and particularly their parents) can become very bitter about the whole thing. These are times when band directors find very important business that needs immediate attention out of town somewhere, far out of town.

Even after a girl gets the note notifying her that she's won the coveted spot (a note that's waited for with fear and trembling—and it always comes a week or two later than the announced time), it's not easy. There's that terrible week under the blazing September sun, not to mention countless other hours spent as a group, or alone, or with the whole band, working on the routines for the opening game.

The Wimp got shin splints one year and had to get her stems, er, legs, taped up just like a jock's every day.

And game days are work, work, work. The whole band starts early in the morning, going through the whole show. Much snarling and growling is heard from the director's platform. Then there's the putting on of makeup, loads of it, and the stuff—uh—arranging of the uniforms, and the primping and fussing right up to pre-game show time; and the work day's not over till a half hour or so after the game, till everybody except band friends and family members have left the stadium, because there's a post game show to be done, also.

Regardless of the hours spent practicing, things can go wrong. A strap broke right during the half-time show at one game, I remember; but the alternate majorette was sent in so quickly and performed so perfectly that not many people besides us professional majorette watchers, I suspect, even noticed.

And there was the time during the post game show when hordes of rabid Georgia fans, like which there are no others, swarmed through the majorette line like stampeding buffalo, pinching anything they could find to pinch, leading some of the girls to use their batons for self protection.

Then there are the hazards of getting to the game on time, and one does NOT be late. There are no excuses (latecomers are beaten to death with tarnished Sousaphones), and that sometimes leads to desperate measures, like the unforgettable Case of the Broken Tooth, which caused a couple of majorettes to miss the bus from the shopping center (where a stop had been made for eating, changing into uniforms, etc.) to the stadium, and consequently led to perhaps the wildest ride ever made across downtown Birmingham. The Morgan youngun was well on her way to being a six-footer. That ride stopped her growth right there. She never grew another inch. She missed a great opportunity to see some of the sights of the big city, being scrunched down in the floor of the car the way she was, but she was busy becoming intensely religious there for a while.

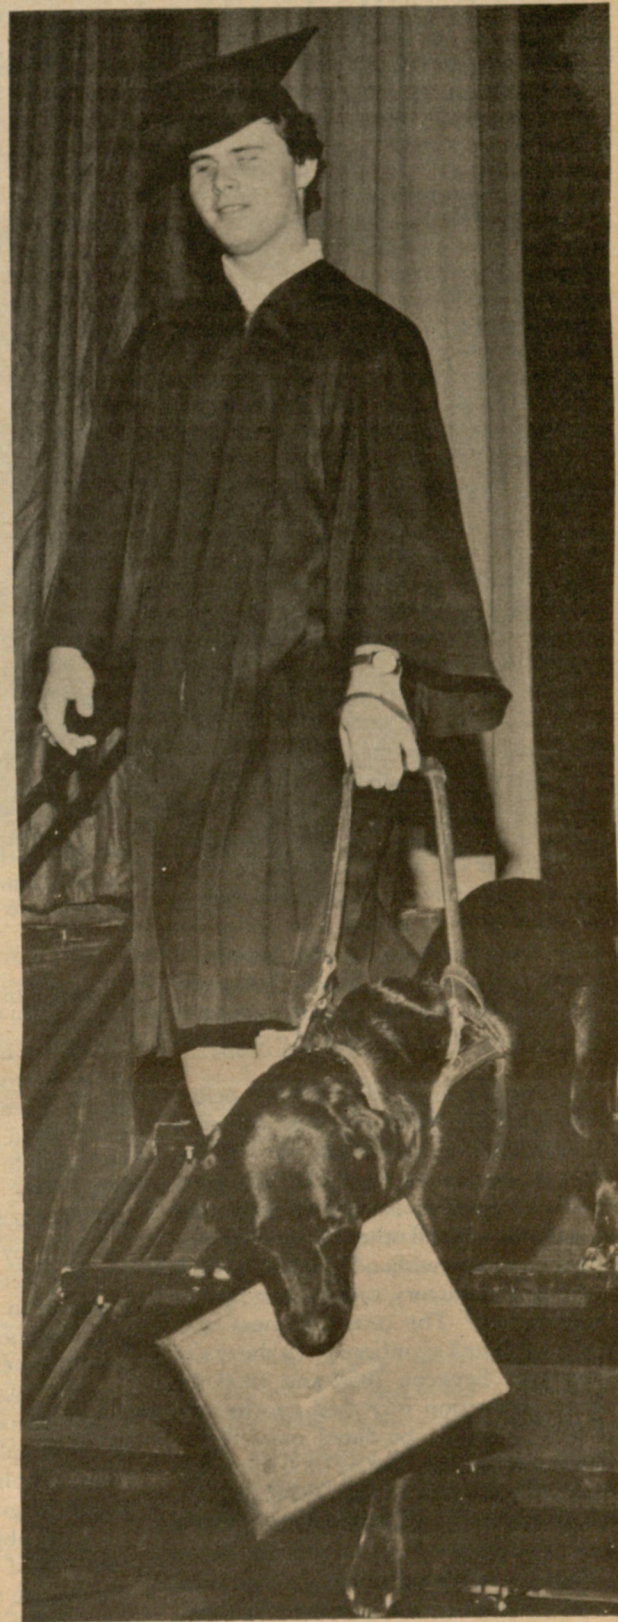

Majorettes don't want for pictures. Photographers are, quite naturally, attracted to them. One I knew went from game to game, taking pictures of majorettes almost exclusively. Their pictures often appear on posters and on and in magazines and newspapers. TV cameramen (except on ABC, where they diligently fill up all the halftime space with sports trivia) regularly zoom in on them. They are minor celebrities in a way, but....

It's not a bed of roses. It takes a heap of work to look glamorous and sexy in perfect unison like that. But when they strut down the field of a packed stadium just before the game, out in front of a huge band playing "War Eagle," all the work seems worth it, I'm told.

So I'll be watching, new majorettes, with an expert watcher's eye, even though the retirement of Ugly Old Elizabeth Decker last year ended any direct connection to "our" majoretting days.

They manage to find some pretty ones every year, don't they? My binoculars are polished and ready.

(Purely coincidentally, four of the aforementioned used majorettes happen to live in Birmingham right now. About once a month they'll get together for lunch or something. Friend of mine said he'd bet heads turn when they all come walking in together. Well, yeah. Anytime four doddering old ladies come into a place, arthritically twirling batons—with tassels, yet—you will probably look at them....)

WE EARNED IT!—John Michael Jones thought Nick, his Labrador guide dog, ought to share in receiving his diploma at Auburn's summer graduation. Here Nick carries the hard-earned bachelor's in rehabilitation and special education as Mike leaves the stage where he and some 800 other students received degrees. The pair had become a familiar sight on campus as Nick helped Mike make his way to classes and take part in extracurricular activities, including some sports. Blind since age 11, Mike, a Panama City, Fla., resident, is awaiting word about a position as an evaluator in Memphis.

—AU Photographic Service

THE AUBURN ALUMNEWS
Volume XXXX, No. 7 USPS 036-760 September 1985
Kaye Lovvorn '64 Editor
Cheryl Duke '88, Mary Mason '86, Dan Shell '87, Restricted Edition
Stacy Simmerson '86 and Karen Price '88 Staff Assistants
Ruth Schowalter Staff Writer
THE AUBURN ALUMNEWS is published ten times a year at four-week intervals, Sept.-July by the Auburn Alumni Association, Auburn University, Alabama 36849. Officers of the Alumni Association are: President, Earl H. (Buddy) Weaver '62; Executive Director, George (Buck) Bradberry; Executive Director Emeritus, Joseph B. Sarver, Jr., '37; Associate Directors, Julian Holmes '62 and Jerry Smith '74; Assistant Director, Leslie Hamby; Board of Directors: Edwin P. Vaiden, Jr., '51, Danny T. Hood '70, James W. Carroll, Jr., '54, Rebecca Evans Blanton '68, John A. Roberts '57, Lee B. Griffith '62, William L. Jordan '59, Don L. Machen '62, Michael F. Moseley '61, E. Wycliffe Orr '68, L. J. (Sam) Kirkland '49, ex-officio. Second class postage paid at Auburn U., AL 36849. Postmaster: Send address changes to 116 Union Building, Auburn University, AL 36849-3501..

Features

Descendants Bring Civil War Letters Back Home

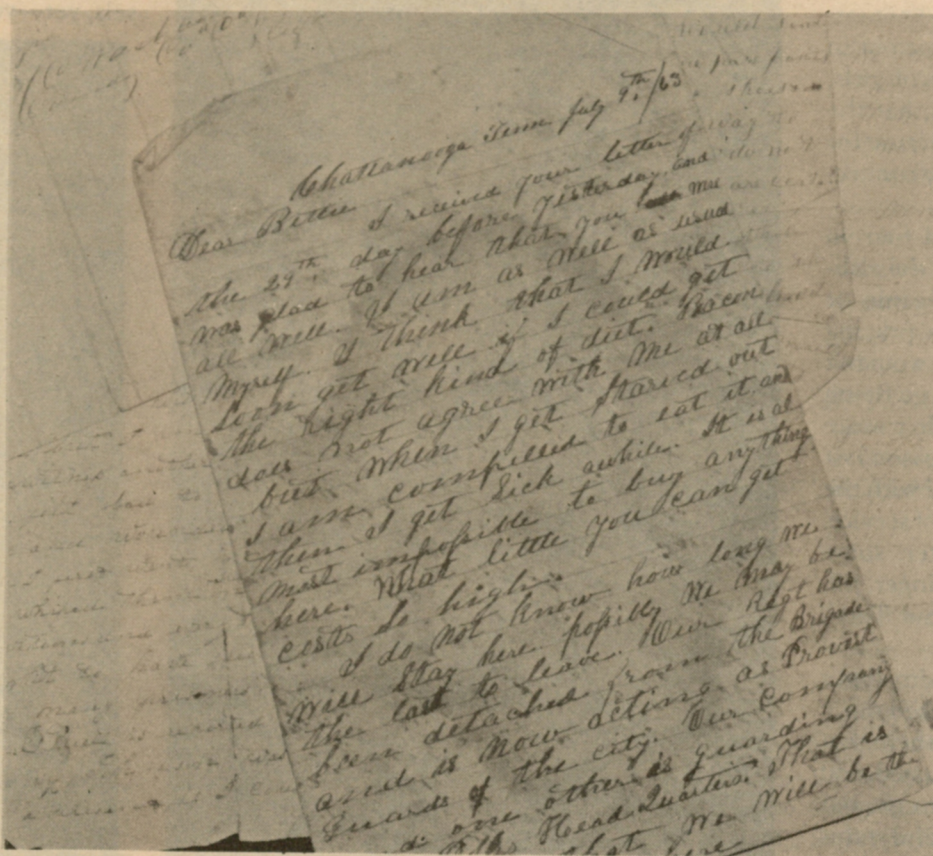

By Ruth Schowalter

They arrived in Auburn in the middle of July, ten Texans in two Cadillacs. Perhaps, it would be considered an unusual vacation by some, but they had come to see Loachapoka, the hometown of their great grandparents, John and Bettie Crittenden. They came carrying a box of letters that John had written to Bettie and his family during the Civil War, letters that had been in the family's possession for 122 years. They planned the homecoming to deliver the letters to a resting place that seemed most fitting for them, a place close enough to Loachapoka where the letters would be safe and taken care of—the archives at Auburn University.

Not everyone who attends Auburn University has the opportunity to become acquainted with the small, quiet town a few miles away from Auburn proper. However, in the past 14 years Loachapoka has drawn a crowd from the Auburn campus every fall for the Syrup Sopping Festival, when a mule-drawn mill grinds sorghum cane that is then boiled into syrup for freshly baked biscuits to the hoopla of country and bluegrass bands. But apart from that, the history of Loachapoka is vague in most of our minds, and it shouldn't be.

Loachapoka, established a while before Auburn, became the chief trading center of the surrounding countryside during the 1850s. Remembered fondly as "the good ole days," Loachapoka then "supported five saloons with all other business in proportion," wrote Aeolian F. McRee in 1968 recalling the history told to her by her grandmother.* The cotton farmers' success contributed significantly to the era of prosperity. Between 1850 and 1860 the cotton production increased enormously. In 1857 Alabama produced more cotton than any other state and by 1860 the cotton produced was worth as much as $45,000,000. Yet, it was the completion of the railroad from Montgomery to Loachapoka and on to Auburn and West Point, Georgia, that boosted the cotton town's economic development more than anything else. In 1850, other than the short rail line along Tennessee in Northwest Alabama, the railroad through Loachapoka was the only one in Alabama, and during the Civil War until the midsummer of 1864 when destroyed by Rousseau's raid, it was the main route of supplies from "the breadbasket of the Confederacy" in the Black Belt of Alabama and Mississippi. It was by this railroad that John Crittenden's family sent him new shirts and shoes as his grew thin and worn, and potatoes and fruit when he had eaten beef and bread for days. Just as importantly, letters traveled quickly by train, announcing the state of cotton crops, hogs and colts, and other home news so vital to men away from farm and wife, also documenting for us the later generations, the concerns of men in war while away from home.

*The information on the history of Loachapoka was taken from Yesterdays in Loachapoka and Communities Nearby by Alexander Nunn.

JOHN'S LETTERS—Margaret Clayton, John Crittenden's great-granddaughter, had kept these Civil War letters under her bed in Terrell, Tex., until the family decided the letters should return to the area from which they originated and decided to give them to the Auburn University Archives.

—Photo by Ruth Schowalter

"Bettie has forgotten me," John would write to his brother William, if he hadn't heard from Bettie as often as he would have liked. And John urged everyone, including brother William to write "more often." He, himself, was no slouch. From 1855 to 1864 he wrote enough letters to fill two lengthy volumes. In those years before the war started in '61, he writes from Kinderhook in Tallapoosa County where he was a school teacher. Addressing the letters to Loachapoka where his family lived and to Pike County where his brother taught school, John sketched out his character in questions about the blackberry crop, complaints about the rain, and stories about the girls back home.

"I had objection to the tavern only that they would not cook their victuals done, nor change the table cloth," John wrote to his mother, his fastidiousness compelling him to move in with a doctor's family. Later, after a visit to Mississippi, John shows his particular tastes in another letter, "I do not like Mississippi at all. I think it is the poorest country I ever saw. I can tell a Mississippian by his smell [;] they all have a curious smell about them I don't like."

While John was away from home to assure him that he was not forgotten by the ladies, his brother William mails to him an "arbitrator emblem" and "a piece of cedar" from Elizabeth [Bettie], which William explains means "Remember me" and "Think of me." William includes his own gift to John, a "tobacco emblem," which he explained meant "Will you have me" which I have no doubt but that you will." In return, John writes his brother of "Spicy Ann," informs him that Miss Mildred married and assures him that "while you are imbibing Pike principles, recollect that I am imbibing Tallapoosa principles."

The brothers also exchanged concerns about their mutual profession. "I find it to be the most vexatious business that I put my hands to," complains John of his students. He would "whip as many as eight a day." But it was the sporadic attendance of his students from "week to week" that disturbed him the most. Consoling himself that he earned $2.25 a day and that he would "go west next fall," he would move on to other topics of interest. The corn planting was done; he had killed two buck rabbits, gone squirrel hunting, "killed five, three up one tree."

In a letter to William in 1858 John notes the changing emotional climate of the South. "Although we have much excitement about politics [sic], there is getting up of a considerable excitement about religion." When the Eighth Census was taken in 1860, John hired on as an assistant marshal. In January of 1861 Alabama seceded. The following August John "was mustered into service" for twelve months and urged William to join also. "We are going to send a recruiting officer in a few days and you must come with him and bring you a shot gun for you can get pay for it as soon as you get here," wrote John, explaining that "the southern people burnt the bridge near Jackson" and destroyed the rail line between Memphis and Jackson "to keep the Yankees from sending arms into Kentucky."

Events surrounding the battlefield enter the letters. William writes to John about his new pants, about the absence of lard, "tallow doesn't make good biscuits when you eat them hot," about a wife following her husband, a new conscript, to camp and refusing to leave even after the men collected money to send her back home, and about the "Yankee paper" used for writing the letter that "took two days hardest fighting that ever was heard" to obtain.

By 1862 John had married Bettie Browning, who, once the war had begun, had moved with the rest of the Crittenden family to Notasulga, about eight miles west of Loachapoka. Numerous letters were written to her, describing fellow soldiers' health, "men taken with measles" at Camp Shorter; lack of food, "living on crackers and bacon;" asking for news of home, about the "baby's teething;" and issuing orders, "not to sell the cow."

"I am as tired of the War, Bettie, as you can be," John wrote to her as early as May 1862, "but when I think, what the results will be if we are defeated I do not regret even enlisting." He would include brief descriptions of victorious moments that failed to make the war seem at all glorious. "They were the worst looking men I ever saw," he wrote of 300 Union soldiers who were loaded on a Montgomery train and sent north. "They were both ragged and dirty [;] some had no coats, some no shoes, and some no hats." Frequently, after accounts of his sick brother, dying friends and his own poor health, his optimism would waver. "Sometimes I get almost disheartened when I think of how long we may be separated," he penned to Bettie. "But I am in the path of duty," he would remind himself.

DELIVERING LETTERS—John and Bettie Crittenden's descendants made a pilgrimage to Auburn in July to donate Civil War letters to the Auburn Archives. Left to right, seated: Mrs. G.M. (Elizabeth) Crittenden, Mrs. Harvey E. (Myrtis) Crittenden, Dr. George Emert, Mrs. J. Leon (Grace) Crittenden, Mrs. John T. (Margaret) Clayton. Standing are, left to right, Harvey E. Crittenden, Mrs. J.S. (Sue) Smith, Gordon M. Crittenden, J. Leon Crittenden, and Dr. Allen Jones.

There were moments of false hope. In a June 1862 letter to his mother, John wrote "Some of our generals are offering to bet a thousand dollars against one hundred that there will be peace in thirty days." In December of '63 he noted General Lee's proposal for an armistice of sixty days. "It seems to me that blood enough has been spilt and lives enough lost to appease the appetite of the most bloodthirsty." In late March of 1864 as John's 34th Alabama Regiment marched towards Atlanta to meet the approaching Union army, he perceived the upcoming fight to be one of the last. "All are of the opinion that a few more battles will bring about an end of the war and with it peace."

Meanwhile, John was finagling for a period of rest and relaxation. "I hear that the surgeons are sure not to give a fellow a furlough if his wife comes after him," he informed his father, asking him to come fetch him. The soldiers continued to get sick, clothes wore thin and often looked better before they were washed in muddied creek water because drinking water was scarce. But the worse thing that John had to contend with were lice. "It is impossible to keep clean of them," he told Bettie, "two will make you think that there is a hundred on you."

As the Southern armies confronted defeat and increasingly insurmountable opposition, the men tended to grow more religious as John noted, "A good deal of interest is now taken in religious matters. I witnessed the baptism of two young men—brothers yesterday. They belonged to the 28th. Ala. A few months back the best of preachers could not get a congregation [;] now hundreds are anxious to attend." In the same letter he asked Bettie to send him a Bible, along with shoe strings and more letter paper.

Sham fights were staged among the Confederate soldiers to the tune of Yankee Doodle and with banners flying, in order to prepare the men for upcoming battle, which in reality was a far cry from the fun of practice. In the following letter John describes a battle near Good Hope Church. "On the 25th we formed line of battle and awaited the arrival of the enemy. On the center Stewarts division was attacked immediately [sic]. Though greatly outnumbering of us they were repulsed after two hours of the heaviest [sic] fighting I ever heard. They charged our line five times. We had only a few killed, but many wounded. Gen. Claiborne fought them here day before yesterday. He repulsed them with terrible slaughter. It is estimated that we have buried [sic] about six hundred of their dead. All not yet buried. I walked over the field to day. I never witnessed such havoc in my life. The boys picked up a great many of their letters on the field. I would send you a sample of them but I am ashamed they are so vulgar. From the tenor of them they are heartily tired of the war. I do not believe that God will ever suffer us to be subjugated by such a motly crew of infidels. Our boys are in high spirits. Have the utmost confidence in our Generals."

Presidential elections in '64 caused southerners some concern. John determined that should President Lincoln be re-elected the war was certain to continue, "as long as they can get a man for their armies or a dollar in their treasury." Yet with genuine faith in the South's cause he stated, "But I have no fears as to the result. If we be true to ourselves we will in the end come off conquerors."

IMPORTANT CONNECTION—Trains such as this one ran from Montgomery to Opelika with stops in Notasulga and Loachapoka in the nineteenth century. Archives Photo

When the soldiers in John's regiment entered Atlanta and found their fellow southerners in worse condition than their troops, they proved that although their destiny was not to be conquerors, they were noble soldiers. "Our Regt to day with the exception of six men, gave to the poor of Atlanta one days rations. I expect that they are in very indigent circumstances. A great many of them Refugees from their homes. Bettie I do pray that you all may be spared from the suffering that the enemy inflicts upon a country that they pass through."

John writes to Bettie into November of '64, continuing to describe the constant struggle for food: "Some one last night stole nearly all of mine and Johns Bread. Consequently we will have to do without until tomorrow night. Some one stole my canteen a few nights after I got with the reg't. I think it was some one that was expecting to get syrup out of it. I reckon that he was disappointed for there was none in it. Bettie I am hungry enough to eat you out if I had a chance." And he went on making notes of soldiers as they died. "James Calhoun a most estimable young man he was lying down. A shell cut off both of his legs from his knees down. He lived about two hours. He said that he was not afraid to die. Just before he died he sang two verses of Home Sweet Home." The letters always concluded "Give my love to Ma and Pa. Kiss the babies for me. Tell the Negroes howdy. I remain as ever your husband."

However, sometime in November the letters stopped coming. No one knew what became of John Crittenden. After his family asked the government to explain John's fate, a letter was sent to his father in December of '65 from a hospital in Nashville, Tennessee, where the hospital records showed no sign of him. "I suppose there can be no doubt of the fact that your son was killed during the battle, and was interred on the battle ground," the letter explained, referring to the battle of Franklin. "I deeply sympathize with you in your afflictions. But many a gallant young man has met a similar fate."

"As for me, I am willing to leave the future to itself, and take of the present," John had written to his father 10 years earlier in response to news about a friend's death. Little did the school teacher John know then that the states would war against one another and that he would fight for four years until he met the fate he wrote about to his father so calmly. "For soon we will all like Joe have to lie down in the much feared grave, and sleep, until roused by the Supreme Judge, to give an account of the deeds done in the Body."

IE Coed Graduates With Straight A's

By Denise McGill

"I never really tried to do it, it just happened."

And "it" just happened to be one of the highest academic honors that Alice Johnson Searcy could achieve at Auburn University. The soft-spoken redhead from Birmingham graduated in August having achieved straight "A's" in industrial engineering—becoming the second student to achieve that feat in the last ten years.

Alice chose to attend Auburn both for the reputation of its engineering program and because Auburn is rapidly becoming a family tradition.

"I knew I wanted to be an engineer and I knew I wanted to stay in this area," she said. "Besides, my brother and sister went here. They encouraged me to come."

As Alice's father, Karl Johnson, graduated from Georgia Tech in industrial engineering, it was her oldest brother Tim who actually introduced the family to Auburn. He graduated in 1983 with high honors in electrical engineering. A year later, sister Linda graduated with honors in art. The family tradition will continue this fall, when her youngest brother Don enrolls in engineering.

Because of Alice's appetite for statistics, engineering economics, and computer graphics, she chose the industrial engineering curriculum. But even she was surprised by her success.

"It wasn't like I intentionally tried to make all 'A's," she noted. "I just did the best I could. I never studied late at night like most people do. I figured it would be better to get a good night's rest so that I could think clearly the next day."

Even though it was more or less an "accident" that Alice made straight "A's," pressure eventually developed to maintain her high grades. Sweating through occasional "C's" and "B's" on tests and assignments, she finally engineered her way to a perfect grade point average.

In addition to academics, Alice was active in various campus organizations. She served as secretary and engineer council alternate for Tau Beta Pi and was recording secretary and corresponding secretary for the Institute of Industrial Engineering. She was also a member of the Alpha Pi Mu, Phi Eta Sigma and Pi Gamma Tau honoraries and worked on the industrial engineering newsletter.

Phi Kappa Phi honorary named her both the Outstanding Freshman in the School of Engineering and Auburn's Outstanding Female Sophomore.

After graduation Alice will work for the Harris Corp. in Ft. Walton, Fla., where she and her husband, Don Searcy, a 1984 electrical engineering graduate, have moved.

"I was studying law in Nebraska and working in an archives. Soon, I found I was escaping from law school to the archives and decided I should become an archivist instead," says Linda Sommers who decided to come to Auburn University in 1978 specifically to study archival administration. Other out-of-state students who were drawn to Auburn's graduate program in history because of the archival training they could receive convinced the History Department to make it an official minor. Today, Linda heads the state archives in South Dakota, after a stint in New York City as an associate archivist. Taking a cut in pay by returning to the Midwest, Linda explains that living in South Dakota isn't as expensive as in New York. But then the archival profession is not especially a lucrative one, as almost any archivist will report. It is a profession, however, that draws people like Linda who are genuinely interested in studying history and in preserving information for the future.

Auburn Educates Preservers of History in Archival Program

By Ruth Schowalter

Dr. Allen Jones, Auburn University archivist and history professor, must have had a crystal ball back in 1973 when he established the Auburn archival training program as a joint venture between the university archives, the History Department, and the Federal Archives and Records Center in East Point, Georgia. Initially, he had to haggle with the History Department which didn't want to accept it as a minor in archival administration for either the MA or Ph.D. history candidates even though they were racking up 15 hours of course work concerning archives. Back then, Dr. Jones made Auburn number among the eight universities in the nation quick enough to recognize the need to train archivists.

"The training I received a decade ago enabled me to get a permanent job that I would have never gotten otherwise," said David Alsobrook of Dr. Jones' training program. Following his internship, David obtained an archival position in Washington, D.C., before being sent to Atlanta to work in the Carter Presidential Library. Recently, 12 years after Dr. Jones initiated the training program, the Alabama Personnel Board established a policy that archivists must have professional training in order to work for the State Archives.

The layman may find the fanfare made over the preservation of documents and records surprising. The archival profession is probably one of those activities that no one takes any note of until he decides to trace his family genealogy and then runs into a variety of people engaged in diverse projects. Some state attorney might be pulling tax records to help him in court, a curious reader might be hunting certain aspects of the Carter administration after the former president has published his memoirs, or some historian might be looking into the different tasks opened to women in the military during World War II. Of course there has always been a need to save documents, but as so much new material is generated daily and old papers are recovered just as quickly, the demand for order and preservation of these documents must be answered in a thorough and routine way.

"I haven't received security clearance yet," explains Patsy Robertson, who, as an Auburn graduate student in history, is co-opting with The Simpson Historic Research Center at Maxwell AFB in Montgomery. Targeted to work with "secret documents," once she has received clearance, Patsy will be making decisions whether or not government documents should be declassified and made ready for the public. This means reviewing government papers and withholding those that have particular information about wars, kinds of weapons, etc., that Uncle Sam has deemed that it's in our best interest not to release yet. "The Historic Research Center is unique," Patsy says of the repository that houses "Air Force unit histories and any material pertaining to WWII, Korean, and Vietnam wars. Researchers come from all over the United States and the world" to use its facilities.

"There is no substitute for professional training," states Dr. Jones matter-of-factly about Auburn's archival training program. Students must take two courses—the five-hour Directed Reading and Study in Archival Procedures and the ten-hour Archival Internship. The directed reading course includes the study of 35 books and pamphlets and approximately 75 articles in the fields of archival administration, library science, and records management. "There ain't no bluffing," Dr. Jones says with emphasis. For surprisingly he allots time with each of the specially selected students—only three are admitted to the program a year—to discuss the reading assignments "book by book, one by one." So taxing is the reading list and the attention each article receives that frequently students need another quarter to complete the course. "You'd make an appointment to discuss four or five articles and it would take two hours," says Patsy Robertson, who has yet to complete her reading list. "It is time consuming, but it is the only way," she says, commenting that she felt well prepared to begin her work at Maxwell AFB. Patsy, a mother of two and grandmother of one, at 46 had never worked before when she

"We promote efficient records programs at government and state levels and identify and protect historical records," says Auburn graduate Dowe Littleton of the Alabama State Archives in Montgomery. As records manager, he troubleshoots, advises, cuts costs, and prepares schedules for any of the state agencies that request assistance. Sometimes his efforts save the taxpayer hundreds and thousands of dollars as he is able to help an agency determine that warehouse after warehouse is unnecessary for the incessantly growing stacks of documents they feel must be saved. While certain documents do require preservation and may be microfilmed to reduce bulk storage, a good many documents may be discarded. According to Dowe, "only three to five percent of all records are saved permanently." But first "each record must be evaluated for its legal, fiscal, administrative and historical value."

"Imagine the old sports arena filled up with paper," proposes David Alsobrook, an Auburn alumnus. As one of the two archivists supervising the preparation of 27 million pages for the Carter Presidential Library in Atlanta, he wanted to give those of us outside the archival profession a sense of the "nitty gritty," involved in the preservation, arrangement, and description of the presidential papers so numerous that any one archivist will not complete the assessment in his lifetime. The archivist, in order to abide by the privacy laws, reviews "piece by piece" entire boxes and collections to determine whether or not to "open a document" to researchers.

entered the master's program in history with the idea of becoming an archivist. When she completes her degree, she will have a permanent job at Maxwell.

In addition to the directed reading, the first course requires the student to work in the University Archives ten hours a week. Here the students are taught a variety of skills from microfilming, processing manuscripts, preparing exhibits, to making oral interviews. Ideally the students will put into practice the ideas and information that they glean from the reading list. During this time in the Auburn Archives, they are constantly supervised and evaluated by the assistant archivist and records manager. "My philosophy is that I'm trying to make them master of all, jack of none," says Dr. Jones who wants the trainees "familiar with everything."

The readings course is a prerequisite for the archival internship, which is designed to provide the student with full-time supervised training in either the Federal Archives and Records Center in East Point, Georgia, the Carter Presidential Library, or the Alabama Department of Archives and History in Montgomery. This work is to familiarize the student with all aspects of work performed in the Federal Archives and Records Center. Each intern's project differs in length and content, but each includes work with record evaluation and description, arrangement of records, preservation and conservation, preparation of exhibits, references, and preparation of records retention schedules, preparation of correlation statements and various finding aids for Federal record groups. Dr. Jones visits the student several times during the quarter to discuss the internship with the student and the internship supervisor. At the conclusion of the quarter, the student must submit an evaluation and description of his internship work to the internship supervisor and Dr. Jones.

"He's a fireball," says Dowe Littleton of Dr. Jones. "He pushes people to do their best." Dowe found that the training he received at Auburn made him one of the better prepared archivists when he worked for the Florida State Archives from 1981 to 1984. Linda Sommers, who in July left her position as associate archivist for the City of New York to become the state archivist of South Dakota, is another advocate of the Auburn training program and Dr. Jones' tutelage. Describing Dr. Jones as "real lovable," she praises him for his devotion to the program: "In terms of people, he never stops supporting you. I'm sure he helped me in some way in obtaining this job."

Yet the archival training program is not without its problems. "Our success is killing us," says Dr. Jones, who in his enthusiasm for the program and with proof of its success has overextended himself. "I've committed suicide," he says, explaining that as he continues his work as a historian, teaching, researching, and attending conferences, he also works equally as hard at being the university archivist. As the archives is awarded Federal grants for various projects—documenting the agricultural history of Alabama, for example, and identifying and preserving Alabama newspapers—the members of the staff are also managing the microfilming and storage of university documents. In addition they serve the research needs of individuals as well as groups. For instance, someone from the Athletic Department visits the archives daily as it is the repository for all sports information films and pictures. Also, the records manager, David Rosenblatt, teaches a records management course without charge in the Political Science Department so that the archival trainees may audit the course.

The time, the devotion, and the lack of funds test the endurance of the archival staff. "I'm tired. I'm worn out," Dr. Jones says. "If we were still just running an archives it wouldn't be so bad." He worries about providing adequate training facilities for his students. With grant money he purchased computers, as archival management can no longer operate without them. He has found, however, that he cannot manage the computer maintenance costs on his current budget. But he doesn't feel that he made a foolish purchase. Debbie Pendleton, a trainee, was offered a job with the Alabama State Archives because of her experience with computers.

"We live hand-to-mouth," remarks Dr. Jones, and anyone who is aware of the needs of the library would know that Dr. Jones is not without a sense of humor when he says, "We think the library is wealthy." For the upcoming year he asked for an increase of $3,500 in the budget and received approximately $500. Apart from the financial difficulties, archives has a space problem. For a year and a half they have been searching for a new location because the library needs the rooms on the first floor of Ralph Draughton Library where archives is located, as well as the half of the basement where the university records are stored.

When Dr. Jones accepted the position as director of archives in 1968, it was only for a three-year appointment. "The end's just about to get here," he says in his frustration. But don't believe it. He is a man with a cause: "We are concerned about quality. If we are going to train people, they are going to be the best. Right now they are." He stresses the need for training historians as archivists and wants support. "A scholar is not much better than what he is provided with," says Dr. Jones. "Historians make better archivists because they learn how to do research on what is important."

The Auburn graduates mentioned in this article as disciples of Dr. Jones' archival training program are among the 27 students who have successfully completed advanced degrees in history and achieved a minor in archival administration from Auburn University. "Those students would fight and die for me," says Dr. Jones, certain of their loyalty. "I'm the reason they have a job now, the reason why they are archivists." David Alsobrook, his first trainee, confirms these sentiments, "Dr. Jones has done an excellent job of guiding the archival training program since the early 70s. He helps one learn and grow as an archivist—I, for one, hope the program will continue to grow and thrive."

Art Alum Leaves Smithsonian

By Kaye Lovvorn

Perhaps Auburn's most distinguished art graduate concluded his career when

Harry Lowe '43 retired as deputy director of the Smithsonian's National Museum of American Art. After 20 years of involvement with the Smithsonian's collection of American art, he decided "to take a real break, back off and put things in perspective."

Although he retired in late 1984, Mr. Lowe was toasted earlier this year by the commissioners of the Smithsonian as "a Washington monument."

"It was S. Dillon Ripley, then Secretary of the Smithsonian, who sent 'scouts to assess the talents of Lowe, when he was director of the Tennessee Fine Arts Center in Nashville,'" wrote Margery Byers, chief of the Office of Public Affairs for the National Museum of American Art, in a letter telling the Alumni Association of Mr. Lowe's retirement.

"And, from 1964 until 1984, Lowe was a mainstay of the museum—first as curator of the Department of Exhibition and Design, then as assistant director under Dr. Joshua C. Taylor. Upon Taylor's sudden death in 1981, Lowe became acting director—I fell upstairs," he said modestly. At that time, he asked the staff to "do the best you can and hold me up. I want the gears to be able to shift."

"He was proud that the staff came through beautifully in a situation for which it was totally unprepared," continued Ms. Byers, "but the staff believed he was the 'glue' that held them together with both firmness and fairness. In gratitude and with great affection, they hosted a surprise party for him—with a victory wreath, a crown, and a staff performance of Gilbert-Sullivan routine relating events of his life and career."

"When Charles Eldredge became our director in July 1982—Lowe was a member of the search committee—he immediately promoted Lowe to deputy director and the two worked closely together. Lowe's desire to retire was 'to take a real break, back off and put things in perspective,' and Eldredge's answer was that 'staff may retire but friends are not deaccessioned.'"

"At his last senior staff meeting," Ms. Byers remembered, "Lowe said, 'When I told Charlie I definitely was going to leave, I realized I was wearing a suit purchased when he was eleven years old. I think that was a signal. I will miss the Museum every day of my life but it couldn't be better when everything looks so good.'"

And, as he continues his backing off and looking back, Mr. Lowe makes periodic visits to the Museum and perhaps he is doing some painting of his own, for he had his own paintings on exhibit in New York and in many museums and galleries before he left Auburn, where he was a professor and curator of the Auburn Permanent Collection from 1949 through 1959.

At the end of his Auburn teaching career, which he also "fell into" when he was offered a teaching job in the middle of his graduate work, he became the first and establishing director for the Tennessee Fine Arts Center at Nashville where the 60-room Cheek mansion and its surroundings was converted into a fine arts center, arboretum, and botanical garden.

When he was offered the teaching job at Auburn, Mr. Lowe remembers, "I thought they were joking. I had never thought of becoming a teacher." However, he obviously was good at it for several art majors in the classes of 1955 and 1960 who are returning for reunions this fall have listed him as their favorite professor.

In addition to his undergraduate and master's work at Auburn, Mr. Lowe studied at the prestigious Cranbrook Academy of Art periodically and there he became interested in museum work; for much like Cheekwood, the Cranbrook Museum is situated in beautiful gardens. During his years at Cheekwood he won national attention for the leadership that gave the Tennessee Fine Arts Center outstanding exhibits. At the time of Mr. Lowe's appointment to the Smithsonian, the Nashville Banner quoted Dr. David Scott, director of the National Collection of Fine Arts, as saying "We hope to do for the nation what Cheekwood has done for the Tennessee area."

Among Mr. Lowe's new responsibilities were helping plan the remodeling of the Old Patent Office Building to become the home of the National Collection of Fine Arts; directing the Traveling Exhibition Service, which provides exhibits for hundreds of museums and galleries; the Lending Collection, which is located in the White House, the Capitol, and in American embassies and other public buildings; and in designing and presenting special exhibitions.

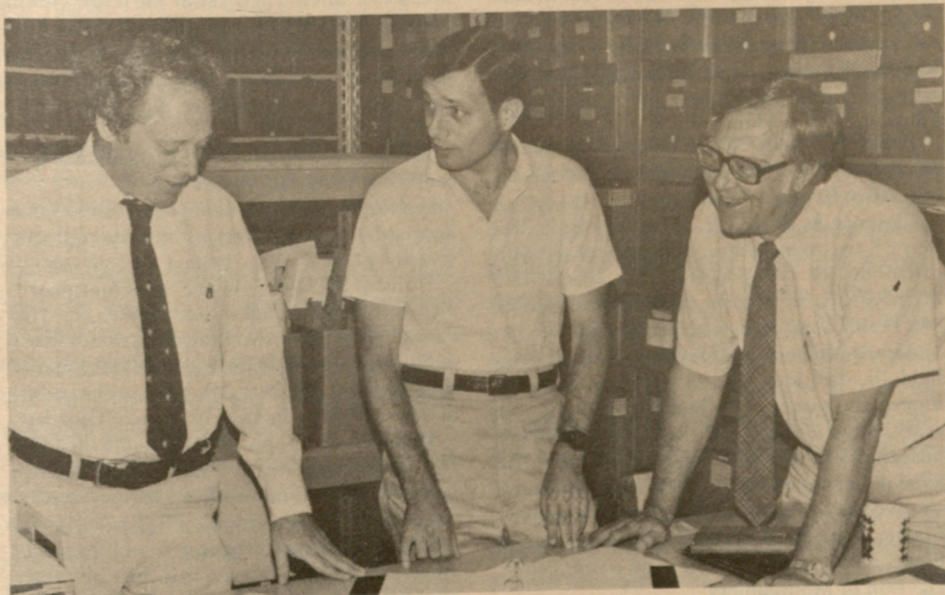

In the years in which he was curator of exhibition and design, Mr. Lowe's efforts were not limited to the United States alone. In 1966 he was deputy commissioner of the U.S. Exhibit at the Venice Biennale, refitting the American pavilion and designing the installing in Italy. In 1969 he served as curator for the International Art Program's Alexander Archipenko exhibition at the Musee Rodin in Paris, which was jointly sponsored by the Smithsonian and the Louvre.

In 1972 Mr. Lowe was promoted to assistant director of the National Collection of Fine Arts (the name was changed to the National Museum of American Art in 1980), where he spent much of his time in planning and scheduling as well as looking at long-range guidelines, policies, and programs for the Museum. As acting director and deputy director, he was even more involved in the planning for the nation's collection of fine arts and how to make it more accessible to the public and protect it for posterity.

Throughout his years in Washington and at the Tennessee Fine Arts Center, Mr. Lowe has maintained an association with Auburn, frequently visiting friends in town and supporting the Auburn Alumni Association, where he was recently on the National Campaign Committee of the Auburn Generations Fund. Far from being a rah-rah alumnus, he questions Auburn's image of an "overwhelming emphasis on athletic events," and asks "What about trying to become a good university? What about having scholastic requirements good enough to make it difficult for mental weaklings like me to muddle through?"

In response to a questionnaire in 1981, he commented, "There have been great scholars and teachers on the faculty and while I was there I was fortunate enough to know some—but I seldom felt official Auburn placed much value on them."

But whether the Auburn of yesterday or today meets the standards he would like for it to, Mr. Lowe remains, like the truest of loyal Auburn alumni, a supporter of the real purpose of a university and encourages Auburn in that direction.

TEACHING ARCHIVISTS—The current staff for providing professional archival training for history graduate students who choose that specialty are, from left, David Rosenblatt, records manager; Jeff Jakeman, assistant archivist; and Dr. Allen Jones, archivist and professor of history.

In Memoriam

Ethel Harrell Whitten '06 of Auburn died Dec. 18, 1971, according to recent information. Survivors include two daughters, Cordelia Barker and Mae Persons.

Jacob Murphree (Jake) Boyd '20 of West Palm Beach, Fla., died June 9. He was Palm Beach County engineer for 26 years, developing the master plan for roads and bridges that currently serve the area. A pioneer aviator, he designed and supervised the construction of a regional airport that is today the Palm Beach International Airport. He also devised an erosion control project that was the first comprehensive erosion control plan in Florida. After serving as county engineer for a number of years, he joined the City of Palm Beach as the second town manager. He served as a captain in the Navy during World War II and has been active with a number of civic organizations in the Palm Beach area. He was a Life Member of the Auburn Alumni Association. Mr. Boyd is survived by his wife, Georgia F. Boyd; a brother, Andrew L. Boyd of Troy, Ala.; three stepdaughters, Jan Grandusky of West Palm Beach, Virginia Stover in Indianola, Iowa, and Mary Nicholson of Kinsington, Md.; a nephew; and a number of grandnieces and grandnephews.

Lyle J. Hillman '21 of Orrville died Jan. 4, 1984. Survivors include his brother, Jack Hillman of Orrville.

J. Francis Cooper, Jr., '21 of Gainesville, Fla., died Oct. 2, 1984. He was an Active Member of the Auburn Alumni Association. Survivors include his wife.

Donald B. Isom '22 of Athens died Jan. 5, 1985. He was an Active Member of the Auburn Alumni Association for 18 years. Survivors include his grandson, Thomas Dugger.

Arthur W. Williams '22 of Mobile died Dec. 29, 1984. He had been an Active Member of the Auburn Alumni Association for 31 years. Survivors include his wife.

James C. Barry, Jr., '24 of Columbus, Ohio, died on Feb. 13 following a heart attack on Feb. 9. He had been an Active Member of the Auburn Alumni Association for 27 years. Survivors include Miriam F. Barry of Columbus.

Tracey B. Wilder '25 of Andalusia died recently. He had been twice mayor of the city and was past president of the Area Chamber of Commerce. He was charter president of the Southeast Alabama Gas District, a former director of Commercial Bank, and past president of the Rotary Club which named him a Paul Harris Fellow in 1978. He received a 50-year perfect attendance pin from the Andalusia Rotary Club in 1984. He was in the lumber business for 23 years before buying the local R.C. Cola bottling plant from which he retired in 1960. He was one of six organizers of WKYD, the first radio station in the area. Mr. Wilder had been an Active Member of the Auburn Alumni Association for 32 years. He is survived by his wife, Inez; one daughter, Joyce W. Law of Andalusia; two grandchildren, Ellen and Allison Law of Andalusia; two brothers, Col. Guy Wilder of Andalusia and A.C. Wilder, Jr., of Tuscaloosa; and two sisters, Mary W. Nordan of Andalusia and Cassie W. Adler of Washington, D.C.

Graham P. Willoughby '25 of Birmingham died March 27. Survivors include his wife, Elizabeth.

Eugene E. Gilmer '25 of Birmingham died June 4, 1985, according to recent information. Survivors include his wife.

James Marshall Barton '27 of Jasper died March 24. He is survived by his son, J. Warren Barton '57 of Jasper; two daughters, Jo Ann Green of Chantilly, Va., and Evelyn Hunter of Birmingham; and two grandsons, Douglas W. Barton '85 of Jasper and Russell Hunter of Birmingham.

John W. Richardson '28 of Cullman died Oct. 7, 1984, of cancer. He was an Active Member of the Auburn Alumni Association for 18 years. Survivors include his wife, Mabel Richardson.

Bruce Roy Anderson '29 of Little Rock, Ark., died April 4. An architect who had operated his own firm since 1948, his projects included many schools, churches, commercial buildings and hospitals. In addition, he was architect for many renovation projects at the state capitol as well as for many years, architect for State College of Arkansas (now the University of Central Arkansas), Harding University, and Ouachita Baptist University. He retired as an architect four years ago. A well-known watercolorist, he had won numerous awards in Arkansas, New York, Massachusetts, California, Tennessee, Texas, Florida, and Louisiana. He was asked to exhibit in the Cooperstown Art Association Show in Cooperstown, N.Y., in 1968 in which Norman Rockwell won first place. But Mr. Anderson's painting "Low Rent" came to the attention of a Parisian art magazine, La Moderne Revue, which asked to use it as a cover illustration in 1969. The magazine also included another picture and biographical information. Active in a number of civic activities, Mr. Anderson was a founder of the Mid-Southern Watercolorists and was a member of the National Water Color Society. He served on the board of the Arkansas Festival of Arts and the Arkansas Children's Hospital. He was a Life Member of the Auburn Alumni Association. Mr. Anderson is survived by his wife, Helen McClain Anderson; a son, Bruce Anderson, Jr., of San Francisco; a sister, Mrs. Doyle Williams of Little Rock; and two granddaughters.

Col. Rupert Ingram '30 of Wetumpka died Apr. 21, 1985, according to recent information. Survivors include his wife, Frances T. Ingram.

Jack E. McLeskey '31 of Kelseyville, Calif., died Sept. 14, 1984. Survivors include his wife.

Dr. James S. Peters, Jr., '32 of Atlanta, Ga., died Sept. 1, 1984. Survivors include his wife Carolyn, son James, and two grandchildren, all of Atlanta.

William Webster Cotney '31 of Winfield died Sept. 29, 1983. He had been an Active Member of the Auburn Alumni Association for 33 years. Survivors include his wife, Fannie Cotney of Winfield.

John Robertson Farris, Sr., '33 of Montgomery died May 7, 1985. He had been an Active Member of the Auburn Alumni Association for 37 years. Survivors include his wife, Margaret D. Farris of Montgomery.

Felix J. Creighton '33 of Montgomery died May 30, 1985, according to recent information. He was an Active Member of the Auburn Alumni Association for 36 years. Survivors include his wife.

John L. Johnson '34 of Brewton died in March of 1984. Survivors include his wife, Sarah Wilks Johnson '32.

Foy W. Thompson '37 of Auburn died June 5, 1985. Survivors include his wife.

Robert Marlin Hardwick '37 of Montgomery died March 16, 1985. Survivors include his daughter, Frances H. Jones of Montgomery.

Gordon Wood Holmes '37 of Abbeville died April 3, 1985. Survivors include his wife, Mary Floyd Holmes.

James D. Orr '38 and his wife of Birmingham are deceased. Survivors include their daughter, Ellen Orr Cano.

Elizabeth Dawson Walters '38 of Prattville died March 8, 1985. She had taught high school math for 30 years. Survivors include her husband, Garvis A. Walters '39; three sons, James G. Walters '71 of Matchitocher, La., Glenn A. Walters '72 of Asheville, N.C., and Brian Walters '75 of Livingston; four sisters; one brother; three grandchildren; and 20 nieces and nephews.

William W. Cowart '39 of Alexander City died May 24, 1985. Survivors include his wife.

Preston M. Wilder '39 of Grant died June 3 after a long battle with cancer. He taught vocational agriculture for 37 years before retiring in 1976 from DAR School at Grant. He had been an Active Member of the Auburn Alumni Association for 25 years. Mr. Wilder is survived by his wife, Lorene Thornton Wilder, and one son, Dr. David T. Wilder '71, DVM, of Hermitage, Tenn.

Henry E. Mohns '40 of Schenectady, N.Y.,

who retired as an engineer from GE in 1980, died May 14. He was a member of the GE Quarter Century Club, the Nisakayuna Lions Club, and the Nisakayuna Board of Education. Survivors include his wife, Malene Dougherty Mohns, seven daughters, and nine grandchildren.

Lewis Martin Harris '42 of Alexander City died April 28. A pharmacy graduate, he was an Active Member of the Auburn Alumni Association. Survivors include his wife, Vera N. Harris; a daughter, Linda Jo Harris Stansell '73 of Taylors, S.C.; and two grandchildren, Scott and Reid Stansell.

Marjorie Elaine Lawton Yost '42 of Island Lake, Ill., died in March 1985, according to recent information. Survivors include her daughter, Margaret Yost of Island Lake, Ill.

William H. Michelson '42 of Decatur died Aug. 8, 1984, according to recent information. Survivors include his wife, Ellen.

Carrie Seville Johnson '42 of Glencoe died Apr. 29, 1985. A native of Etowah County, she taught in the school system for more than 40 years and served as organist of First Baptist Church of Glencoe for 45 years. Survivors include two sisters, Bertha Johnson of Glencoe and Cora Lee Reagan of New Orleans, La.

Wiley H. Fancher '44 of Atherton North Queensland, Australia, died Apr. 15, 1984. He had lived in Australia since Dec. 24, 1965.

Milton R. Thomas '44 of Columbus, Ga., died March 25, 1984, after a heart attack. Survivors include his wife, Dorothy Holmes Thomas, and a son, Milton Reid Thomas, Jr., '68, both of Columbus.

Martha Helen Walton '45 of Milledgeville, Ga., died Nov. 26, 1984. She was an Active Member of the Auburn Alumni Association. Survivors include her sister, Frances W. Ferguson of Raleigh, N.C.

Lt. Col. Robert A. Timmons, Jr., '47 of West Point, Ga., died Feb. 1, 1985. Survivors include his wife, Helen E. Timmons of West Point.

John Thomas Wallace, Jr., '48 of Orlando, Fla., died Jan. 30, 1983. Survivors include his wife.

David L. Shall '48 of Baytown, Tex., died July 16, 1985. He was a retired mechanical engineer with Exxon's Baytown Refinery and Life Member of the Auburn Alumni Association. He is survived by a brother, Charles Shall of Kane, Pa., and three nieces and two nephews.

Theron J. Windham '49 and his wife, Elizabeth, of Columbus, Ga., died recently in an automobile accident in Palatine, Ill., enroute to their daughter's home in Barrington from the O'Hare International Airport. Mr. Windham, a Navy WWII veteran and a pharmacist, with his wife owned and operated Windham's Drugs in Columbus and was a member of the Georgia Pharmaceutical Association and Hilton Terrace Baptist Church where he was a deacon and taught the 15-year-old boys' Sunday school class for 30 years. They are survived by a daughter, Rebecca Windham Klein '68 of Barrington, Ill.; a brother, John Windham; and a sister, Jane Johnson, both of Huntsville.

James W. Beall '49 of Demopolis died in December 1983. Survivors include his son-in-law, Allan Knox of Tuscaloosa.

Clarence A. Perley, Jr., '50 of Anniston died May 23, two months after being diagnosed with carcinoma of the pancreas. He was a Life Member of the Auburn Alumni Association. Mr. Perley's survivors include his wife.

Aimee McCormick Davison '50 of Springfield, Ill., died May 29, 1985, after an extended illness. She taught in the Mobile schools for five years before leaving teaching to travel with her husband, a career Air Force officer. She had lived in Springfield since 1970. Mrs. Davison is survived by her husband, Ralph S. Davison; her mother, Erma R. McCormick; a daughter, Aimee Elene, all of Springfield, Ill.; and a son, Paul S. Davison of Montgomery.

John Curtis Chisholm '50 of Rogersville died May 9, 1985. Survivors include his wife.

Robert B. Hebson '50 of Birmingham died June 25, 1985. He is survived by his wife.

Cmdr. James Robb Byrd, Jr., '51 of Clermont, Fla., died July 1985. He is survived by his son, Robb Byrd '77 of Minneola, Fla., and two daughters, Katrinka Rankin '72 and Mandy Byrd '76. An Active Member of the Auburn Alumni Association, he retired in 1965 from 28 years with the Navy in the nuclear engineering program where he helped design and build the USS Nautilus nuclear submarine. He also worked for several years with Martin Marietta helping design American defense systems.

William S. Stackhouse '51 of Decatur died Nov. 19, 1983, of a heart attack in LaGrange, Ga., where he was construction manager for Daniel Construction Co. He is survived by his wife, Martha and a son, William Grant Stackhouse, Jr., both of Decatur; two daughters, Patricia Griffin of LaGrange, Ga., and Linda Stackhouse of New Orleans; and three grandchildren.

Noel C. Dalton '51 of Chesapeake, Va., was murdered in late January during a robbery in his drugstore. Survivors include his wife, Margaret Guy Dalton; his mother; a daughter; a sister; two brothers; and a grandchild.

Bruce Holding Cousins '51 of Enterprise died June 17. He had been an Active Member of the Auburn Alumni Association for 31 years. Survivors include his wife, Gwen.

Patrick Lee Cummins '52 of Savannah, Ga., died recently. He was corporate vice president for sales and on the board of directors of Savannah Foods and Industry. He was a charter member of St. Francis of the Islands Episcopal Church and a former senior warden and chalice bearer. An army veteran and past president of the Georgia Feed Association, he belonged to several organizations: Chatham Club, the Oglethorpe Club, The Auburn Alumni Association, the Savannah Yacht Club, and the Rotary East Club. Survivors include his wife, Dorothy Wilson Cummins; daughter, Millie Carrie Cummins; mother, Ernestine Ainsworth Cummins, all of Savannah; two sons, Patrick Wilson Cummins of Charlotte, N.C., and Michael Lee Cummins of San Diego, Calif.; and brother, John Ainsworth Cummins of Alexander City.

Adolphus Jones '53 of Bay Minette died on May 26, 1985. Survivors include his wife.

Louie Shields Jackson '53 of Dozier is deceased according to recent information. Survivors include a daughter, Shelia Ward of Andalusia.

Claudia Anne Johnson Gilliland '54 of Samson is deceased according to recent information.

C. Rayford Fulghum '54 of Glenwood, Ill., died on Sept. 11, 1983. Survivors include his wife.

The Rev. Dr. Rudolph Edward Grantham '56 of Claxton, Ga., died on June 30, 1985, after a brief illness. He was pastor of First United Methodist Church of Claxton. He is survived by his wife, Mary Borden Grantham '57; two sons, Rev. Stephen Borden Grantham of Warner Robins, Ga., and Mark Edward Grantham of LaGrange, Ga.; and a daughter, Ruth Marie Grantham of Claxton, Ga.

Mildred M. Mann '57 of Notasulga is deceased according to recent information.

Annie Daniel Robinson '57 of Tallassee is deceased according to recent information. Survivors include Wallace Poague of Tallassee.

William McDuff Wallace '58 of Macon, Ga., died July 7, 1985. Survivors include his wife, Barbara B. Wallace; two daughters, Debra Pierce of Montgomery and Lisa Wallace of Macon, Ga.; son, William McDuff, III, of Opelika; and a brother, Thomas Benton Wallace of Opelika.

Franklin C. Clapp '59 of Eufaula died Oct. 10, 1974, according to information recently received in the Alumni Office. He is survived by daughter Florence Lanford of Tallassee.

Doyle Winston Carpenter '61 of Elba passed away in April 1985. Survivors include his father, Shirley Carpenter of Elba.

Frank C. Emmerling, Jr., '61 of Gastonia, N.C., died May 11, 1970, according to recent information. Survivors include his wife.

(Continued on p. 12)

Sports

Auburn-Tennessee Rivalry Almost Didn't Happen

By Sam Hendrix

Auburn's football series with Tennessee, which Sports Illustrated recently described as the most underrated rivalry in college football, has hardly achieved the glamour of Auburn-Alabama or Oklahoma-Nebraska, but the rivalry has produced several memorable games over the years. Usually the Tigers and Vols clash in mid or late September, and usually Southeastern sports writers carefully note that the loser has never won the Southeastern Conference title, and in all likelihood never will.

So the series has come to mean somewhat of a nuisance game each year. While Auburn people always envision the Georgia and Alabama games as the ones to win, Tennessee folks feel the same about the Vols' annual battles with 'Bama, Kentucky, and Vanderbilt. The early season AU-UT matchup becomes an unconquerable barrier for the loser.

The Auburn-Tennessee series almost didn't happen. After the 1939 game, the teams did not meet for 16 years until 1956. The main reason was that Tennessee had emerged as a national power, going 112-36-8 between 1940-55, compared to Auburn's 63-76-9 mark over that span. Tennessee had nothing to gain by playing Auburn.

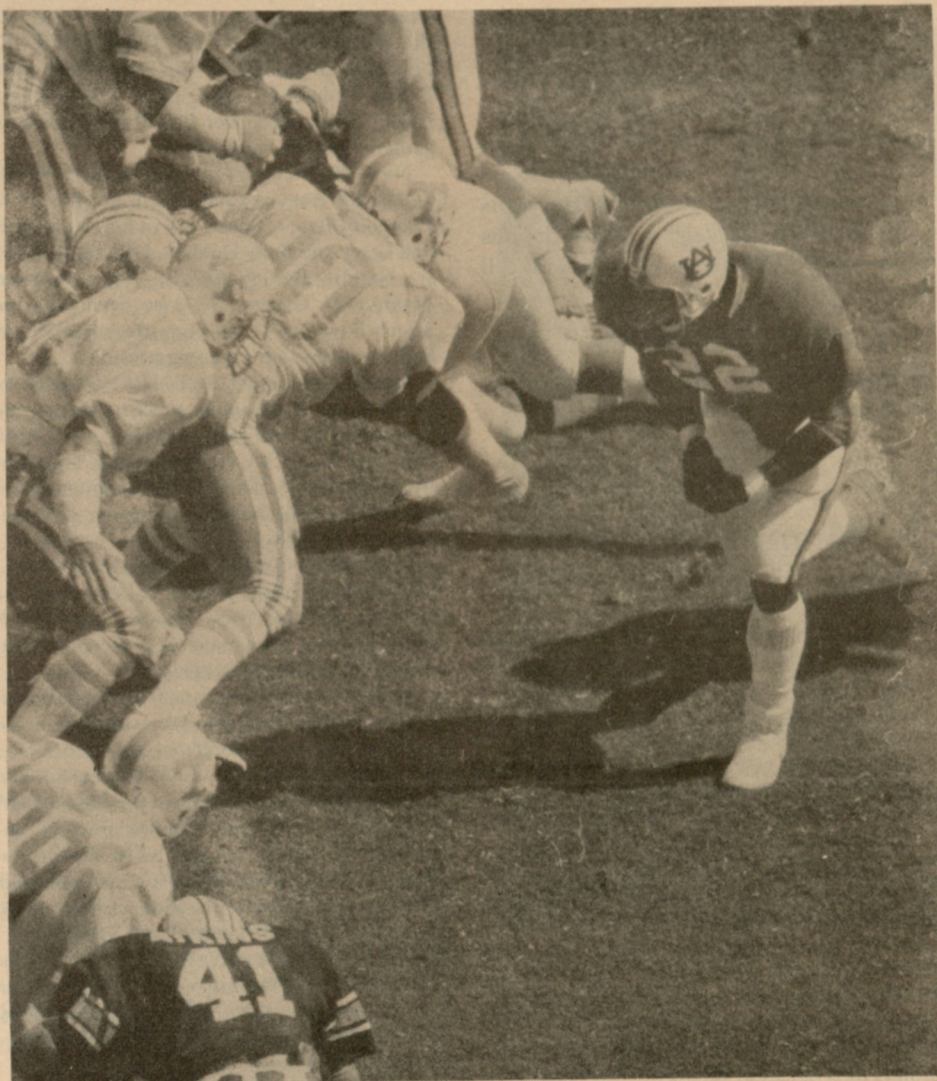

General Robert Neyland, UT coach and later athletic director, knew this. He refused offers from Auburn AD Jeff Beard in the early '50s to re-establish the series. But Beard persisted, and when Neyland took ill and went to Florida to recuperate, Beard was able to convince stand-in AD Harvey Robinson to renew the series.

When Neyland returned, he vowed the game would never be played. But the contract had been signed, and to Neyland's displeasure, Auburn and Tennessee met at Birmingham's Legion Field in 1956. The SEC rivals have played every year since.

Auburn and Tennessee teams have collided 36 times through 1984 with Auburn holding a 20-15-1 advantage. The Vols have won five fewer games but have outscored Auburn 552-519 in the series, 28-point margins in 1956 and '66, plus 1980's 42-0 swamping aided in the point totals.

Auburn's four-game winning streak from 1961-64 is the series' longest, but the Tigers would equal that mark with a win Sept. 28. Three other occasions have produced three-game win streaks by Auburn: 1970-72, 1976-78, and 1982-84. Tennessee has had two three-game winning streaks, the most recent from 1979-81.

Auburn-Tennessee could be considered a defensive series as 13 times (seven for AU, six for UT) has the loser been shut out. And in more than half the games (21 times) has the loser scored fewer than 10 points. However, the offenses have opened up more in the last few years as the series has had only three shutouts since 1966.

OH, NO!—All has not been fun in the Auburn-Tennessee matchups. In 1980 fullback George Peeples (22) got clobbered by a whole bushel of big oranges—and so did the rest of the Auburn team. Tennessee won that one 42-0.

The two schools' teams first met on Nov. 10, 1900, before 2,000 fans at North Birmingham Athletic Park. Auburn won that day, 23-0. The Volunteers returned the favor, but not until 1929 when, on a rainy November afternoon, the SEC champs took advantage of a superior punting game to pummel the Tigers 27-0 in Knoxville.

The series skipped another six years to 1935 before Birmingham hosted the third meeting, a 13-0 Tennessee win before 15,000 fans. The Vols' outstanding end Rose returned a fumble for a score to clinch the game for his team. Auburn had to wait a year for revenge, but a 6-0 whitewash in front of 15,000 at Knoxville's Shields-Watkins Field made the wait worthwhile. This game marked Tennessee's only loss of 1936 and was particularly frustrating for the Vols. Two Auburn goal-line stands in the fourth quarter—one after Tennessee recovered a fumble at the Auburn one—spelled the difference. After the second stand, during which Tennessee gained two feet in four plays, Auburn punted, but Walter Gilbert immediately intercepted a pass to give the Tigers possession at the 36. Thirteen plays later Auburn scored a touchdown in the final minute of play to post the win.

After a Tennessee win in 1938 springboarded the Vols to an unbeaten season and an Orange Bowl matchup with Oklahoma, Auburn faced an even stronger UT squad in 1939. With both these games played in Knoxville, the Vols took advantage and won 7-0 each time. One of Southern football's finest teams delighted the 20,000 Vol partisans as Johnny Butler's 40-yard second quarter run produced the '39 game's only score. Tennessee went on to shut out all its regular season opponents before losing 14-0 to Southern California in the Rose Bowl.

Current Tennessee coach Johnny Majors dazzled the 44,000 in Legion Field in the 1956 game, scoring once, throwing two touchdown passes, and rushing for 166 yards as the Vols opened the season and renewed the series with a 35-7 trouncing of Auburn. Majors was named National Back of the Week. Tennessee recovered four Auburn fumbles within the Tigers' 26-yard line and scored after each.

Auburn began the road to its first National Championship at Knoxville in 1957 with a 7-0 upset of Tennessee. The next year, the teams met in Birmingham in Auburn's first-ever national television appearance. The Tigers gave the nation a show as they held Tennessee to 0 first downs and minus 30 yards rushing in a 13-0 win. At the time, Auburn was in the middle of a 24-game winning streak that would see no defeats until Tennessee's Cotton Letner booted a 25-yard field goal for the 1959 game's only points.

Auburn started a rather improbable streak in 1961 with three straight come-from-behind wins over Tennessee. Down 21-7 in the first quarter, Auburn rallied to pull it out on a Woody Woodall field goal, 24-21. The following year Auburn fell behind 14-0 before Jimmy Sidle's wizardry produced a 22-21 win. And in 1963, with Tennessee coach Jim McDonald having vowed, "Give me a two touchdown lead on Auburn and they won't beat me," Auburn spotted the Vols 12 points before winning 23-19.

AU also won in 1964 when Don Lewis' field goal with less than five minutes to play decided it, 3-0. That day, the punters were the most deadly weapons, Auburn's Jon Kilgore punting 11 times for a 46.2 average (still an Auburn record), and UT's Ron Widby averaging 45.5 yards on 11 kicks.

The series' only tie, a 13-13 deadlock, came in 1965 when Auburn defensive tackle Jack Thornton intercepted two passes to set up field goals. Auburn was lucky as Tennessee, which lost only once that season, allowed the Tigers no closer than the 43-yard line.

One of Auburn's all-time greatest wins came against Tennessee in 1968 when the fifth-ranked and Orange Bowl-bound Vols came to Birmingham's Legion Field for a November night game with unranked Auburn. Mike Carrier earned National Back of the Week honors as he scored three times in the 28-14 upset. Carrier threw the ball into the stands after his second and third scores, but the most important throw of the night was Loran Carter's 49-yard strike to Tim Christian on the first play of the final quarter. That touchdown put the game away and moved the Tigers into the number nine slot in the polls the next week. UT's quarterback Bubba Wyche connected on 25 of 45 passes, both of which remain Tennessee records.

Pat Sullivan would lead Auburn to two great wins over Tennessee in 1970 and '71, but the 1969 game would be one the Heisman Trophy winner would like to forget. Sullivan's second varsity game was a televised affair at Neyland Stadium, and after five interceptions and a 45-19 loss, Auburn and Sullivan had seen quite enough of Tennessee for a while. That year marked the Vols' most recent Southeastern Conference title.

Auburn won in 1970 36-23, Tennessee's only loss in a season that saw the Vols go 10-1 and win the Sugar Bowl convincingly over Air Force. Tennessee finished fourth in the polls and might have won the national title had they gotten by Auburn, but a pair of Sullivan to Terry Beasley bombs nailed the victory.

The glory lost in that 1970 game with Auburn was heavily on the Tennesseans' minds as the 1971 game began at Neyland Stadium. Leading 9-3 late in the game, the Vols watched in horror as, following a Tennessee fumble at the AU 14, Sullivan guided the Tigers 86 yards for the game-winner, Harry Unger's five-yard run, in a 10-9 decision.

Tennessee made its first trip to Auburn in 1974 and the Tigers proved most inhospitable, shutting down All-SEC quarterback Condredge Holloway in a 21-0 win that matched the Vols' 21-0 blanking of 1973. That game was marred by heavy rain that so flooded the field that Tennessee punted on first down much of the second half rather than risk fumbling deep in its territory.

Auburn coach Ralph "Shug" Jordan, whose description of the Vols' artificial turf field as a Brillo pad sparked many comments from both sides, lost to Tennessee 21-17 in his final AU-UT game in 1975. Jordan, who was instrumental in getting the Tiger-Vol series resumed in 1956, had an 11-8-1 record against the Big Orange, impressive considering the quality of teams Tennessee had during Jordan's tenure.

In 1976 and '78 Auburn and Tennessee met in Legion Field before regional television audiences with Auburn winning both times, 38-28 and 29-10. In between, in 1977, James Brooks, then a freshman, gained 112 yards rushing, including a 40-yard burst to the Vol 4 late in the game to set up the winning points in a 14-12 Tiger win. Tennessee, which traditionally has one of the country's finest kicking games, missed a field goal in the final moments.

Tennessee won three straight between 1979-81, including a 35-17 thrashing in '79 and that unforgettable 42-0 laughter in 1980. Auburn's west upper deck was filled for the first time Sept. 20, 1980—the crowd of 75,942 in Jordan-Hare Stadium is still an Auburn record—to witness what was supposed to be an even game. Auburn was actually a slight favorite with the home advantage. But after Tennessee punted on its first possession, the Vols scored six straight times in the third worst conference defeat AU's ever suffered.

Auburn came within a few inches and a few seconds of ending the Vol streak in Neyland Stadium in '81, but Tennessee held on to win 10-7 when Tiger quarterback Ken Hobby fumbled as he collided with tackle Pat Arrington inside the Vol five-yard line with time running out. Auburn was out of timeouts and, even though Hobby recovered the ball, the Tigers were unable to run another play before the horn sounded. The game marked Pat Dye's first in the series, and the current Auburn coach would not lose in his next three meetings with Tennessee.

Update on Football Away Game Plans

The activities planned by the Alumni Association for away football games for the fall are listed below. Those who want to participate should be aware that if kick-off times change because of television, the hours of the parties may vary, but they will begin three hours before kickoff.

AU vs. Tennessee (Knoxville)

Sept. 28, 9:30 - 11:30 a.m. CST

Pre-game party (Cash Bar) Main Lobby, Knoxville Hilton, 501 Church Ave., SW, Knoxville, TN 37902-2591, 615/523-2300

Weekend accommodations are available. For more information call 205/826-4234.

AU vs. Georgia Tech (Atlanta)

Oct. 19, 11:30 - 1:30 CST

Pre-game party (Cash Bar) Main Lobby, Terrace Garden Inn, 3405 Lenox Rd., NE, (at Peachtree), Atlanta, GA 30326. 404/261-9250. Weekend package accommodations are available. Round trip bus tickets to game available to package participants only. For more information, call 205/826-4234.

AU vs. Georgia (Athens)

Nov. 16, 9:00 - 11:00 a.m. CST

Pre-game party (Cash Bar) in Athens at the Holiday Inn at Broad & Lumpkin Sts., Athens, GA 30603, 404/549-4433.

The Atlanta Marriott Perimeter Center, 246 Perimeter Center Parkway, NE, Atlanta, GA 30346, 404/394-6500 will be headquarters in Atlanta for the Auburn Alumni Association for the weekend for the package group. Round trip bus tickets to game available to package participants only. Weekend package accommodations are available. For more information, call 205/826-4234.

AU vs. Alabama (Birmingham)

No plans finalized. See later issues of the Alumnews for more details.

In Memoriam

(Continued from p. 11)

Charles Michael Murray '62 of Buena Vista, Ga., died May 28, 1985, of heart problems. He was co-owner of E.L. Murray Construction Co. and was in his second term as mayor of Buena Vista. He had served on the city council for 10 years and was chairman of the Middle Flint Area Planning Commission, past chairman of the Chattahoochee Regional Library, vice chairman of the Georgia advisory committee to Area Planning and Development Commissions, and past president of the Georgia Utility Contractors Association. He was a Life Member of the Auburn Alumni Association. Survivors include his wife, Carol; a daughter, Grace; a son, Michael; a sister, Mrs. Jack Johns; and a brother, Edward Murray, all of Buena Vista.

Dr. Dorothy Barber Keeble '65 of Five Points died of cancer in 1981.

James Ruel Register '70 of Columbus, Ga., is deceased according to recent information. Survivors include his uncle, Jerry Pound of Columbus.

Ronald T. Donaldson '72 of Opp died in 1977, according to recent information. Survivors include his mother, Jewell Donaldson of Opp.

Auburn Club News

Betty DeMent and Kermit Perry spoke on Auburn football and athletic facilities to 130 members of the SOUTH TALLADEGA Auburn Club on July 25 at the First United Methodist Church in Sylacauga. Jerry (Cisco) King '73 presided. New officers were elected: Patricia Kay Liles Sims '72, president; Tommy Ray Dobson '71, vice president; George R. (Buster) Carlton, Jr., secretary; and Margie Dorsett Duncan '59, treasurer.

PHENIX CITY-RUSSELL COUNTY Auburn Club members met July 19 at the Lakewood Country Club in Phenix City to hear coach Larry Blakeney and Betty DeMent talk about the upcoming football season at Auburn. William J. Benton '74 was elected as new president and James S. McGill '72 as secretary-treasurer. John W. (Billy) Belk '49 presided.

Frank Orgel previewed the 1985 Auburn football season and showed a 1984 football highlights film for 47 members of the SOUTH GEORGIA-NORTH FLORIDA Auburn Club on August 8 at the Sheraton Inn. New officers were elected: Chester Stewart '67, president; Jim Heptinstall, vice president; Robin Reed Stewart '64, secretary; and Charles Phillips '50, treasurer.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA Auburn Club met at Edgewater Hyatt House in Long Beach August 4 to hear Buck Bradberry discuss Auburn's future and to see an Auburn football film. They also elected the following new officers: Roger Raden '66, president; David Bishop '78, vice president; Terri Godwin '83, secretary; and Frances Burson, treasurer.

Twenty-eight members of the NORTHEAST MISSISSIPPI Auburn Club met June 25 at the Ramada Inn in Columbus. Buddy Davidson and Betty DeMent presented athletic department "happenings" while Golda McDaniel '72 presided.

Buck Bradberry talked about Auburn and the work of its faculty, students and alumni around the world with the NORTHERN CALIFORNIA Auburn Club at the Iron Horse Restaurant in San Francisco on August 3. Carol Dugger Lerer '76 presided over the 60 members who gathered for the occasion.

New officers were elected at the BARBOUR COUNTY Auburn Club which met July 23 at Lakepoint Resort State Park in Eufaula to hear Bud Casey and Betty DeMent. Officers for 1985 are Sandra Baxley Chafin '74, president; Thomas W. Gaither '73, vice president; and Angela Bowman '71, secretary-treasurer. Danny M. Crumpler '73 is outgoing president.

The ATLANTA AUBURN CLUB has established a new tradition by meeting the second Wednesday of each month at Harrison's, 2110 Peachtree Rd., N.W., an Atlanta pub. The gathering starts at 5:30 p.m. and continues until everybody's gone home. For further information call 351-7596.

RANDOLPH COUNTY alumni met at Southern Union Jr. College in June. Officers are Steve Burns, president; Patsy Bowles Cotney '73, secretary; Dan Anderson '76, vice president; and Larry McGill '69, treasurer.

More than 115 alumni and friends turned out to hear Auburn President James E. Martin and retiring Executive Director of Alumni and Development George L. (Buck) Bradberry when they were the special guests of the ESCAMBIA COUNTY Auburn Club. The two spoke on educational excellence and upgrading facilities at Auburn. Karl James Robinson '79 presided. Officers elected at the meeting include: John Kenneth Tucker '69, president; Randell Gordon Nichols '79, vice president; and Nan Turner Shirley '65, secretary/treasurer. Directors are Karl James Robinson '79, James E. Hart, Troy L. Cartright '66, Michael Kelly '79, and Charles Flowers '82.

The FROZEN WAR EAGLES have been organized by a group of alumni in the MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL area. When they had been a club less than a month, the group had already recruited more than 50 alumni and friends. President is Ralph Beard '71. Other officers are Tom McClendon '79, vice president; Jan Pendleton '82, secretary; and Charles Wyrick '80, treasurer.

1985 Reunion Schedule

Seven classes will be holding reunions this fall, and later in the summer the Alumni Association will be mailing reservation forms to all alumni in the reunion classes.

A special reunion for the alumni who have traveled with the Auburn Alumni Association over the years will be held on Nov. 2. Alumni travelers will be receiving invitations.

This year's reunion groups will include: 1925, Oct. 25-27; 1930, Oct. 25-27; 1935, Nov. 8-10; 1940, Oct. 4-6; 1945, Oct. 4-6; 1955, Oct. 11-13; and 1960, Sept. 13-15.

Our Apologies

Alder Joseph Lanzi, Jr., '67 of Birmingham assures us that he is very much alive whether or not the Post Office has returned his mail marked "deceased" and gave us the name of his next-of-kin. Al's father, however, died in February. Al is president of Apolo Business Machines, Inc.

It was father of William Avery Goodwin '77 rather than the Auburn Vet School graduate who died in March.

Debra J. Gradick '80 received her M.D. from the Medical College of Georgia rather than from the University of Georgia Medical School. She is currently in an internal medicine residency at University Hospital in Jacksonville, Fla.

Tamara L. Hickman '83 was very surprised to pick up an Alumnews and discover that she'd been married—the name and address change from the Post Office notwithstanding. Tamara's living in Atlanta, where she is general manager of Copy Express, a print and office supply store.

Gremlins chopped off the end of a sentence in an Alumnality about L. Ray Taunton '56 and changed him from co-chairman of the Alabama Textile Education Foundation's Alumni Fund Drive to co-chairman of the Foundation.

UNIVERSITY COUNSEL AUBURN UNIVERSITY

Auburn University is seeking applications and nominations for the position of University Counsel. This person's primary responsibility is to assist and advise the President on legal matters. University Counsel also supplements General Counsel of Auburn University in providing advice to the Board of Trustees, President and other administrators on matters having legal ramifications—including compliance of University activities with applicable law and established legal precedent, and review of legal documents executed in the name of Auburn University.

Auburn University is a comprehensive land-grant institution serving the State of Alabama through research, extension and public service with a current enrollment of approximately 19,000 students.

A professional law degree (J.D. or LL.B.) and admission to practice law in the State of Alabama are required.

A letter of application, accompanied by a current resume and the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of three professional references, should be submitted as soon as possible. The deadline for receipt of nominations and applications is October 15, 1985. Appointment is to be effective on December 1, 1985, or as soon thereafter as possible.

Send applications to:

Dr. George H. Emert, Chairman
University Counsel Search Committee
107 Samford Hall
Auburn University, AL 36849-3501

Auburn University is an Affirmative Action/
Equal Employment Opportunity Employer

Alumnalities

1922-1929

Marion Earl Lasater '22 is retired and lives in Birmingham with his daughter, Mrs. T.A. Immler.

Dr. Ronald B. Mershon '25 of Fairhope has spent his career as a psychiatrist. He attended medical school at the University of Alabama and the University of Minnesota. He practiced medicine in Fairhope from 1932 to 1936 when he joined the Veterans Administration Hospital in Little Rock, Ark., and studied neuropsychiatry. He later worked in Georgia and New York and in 1942 began postgraduate studies in internal medicine at Henry Ford Hospital and Clinic where he worked for five years. Then he opened a private psychiatry practice in Mobile. He retired in 1973 but still works one day a week with the Mobile Mental Health Center.

Howard J. Doughtie '25 is a retired engineer. He and his wife, Jeannette, live in Myrtle Beach, S.C. They have two children and four grandchildren. Mr. Doughtie writes that his "1968 hardtop convertible Mustang runs as well as ever, and takes me to the golf course. Hope to play my age someday."

Lawrence Emmett Bell '25 and his wife, Julia, live in Chester, Va. They have two children and five grandchildren. Mr. Bell spent his career as a cost engineer and retired after 42 years with Stone & Webster Engineering Corp. in 1967. He will be 84 on Oct. 8. He remembers that he "enjoyed ROTC in the field artillery using French 75mm guns."

Bartlett Herbert Ford '25 of Sylacauga retired in 1967 after spending his career teaching agricultural education and being guidance counselor at Sylacauga High. He and his wife, Merle, have two children including Bartlett H. Ford, Jr., '55 and six grandchildren including Jane Fort Patton '82 and Philip Jackson Hagan '84.

William Ellis Glenn '25 of Pine Mountain, Ga., is retired as professor of mathematics at Birmingham-Southern College. He has one son, Dr. W.E. Glenn, Jr., of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Elmer Graf '25 of Greeneville, Tenn., is retired from Bell Telephone Laboratories after more than 41 years. He and his wife, Mary Ellen, have one daughter.

Wilmer L. Whatley '25 and his wife, Jewel, live in Opelika. He is retired from the Internal Revenue Service in Birmingham and Opelika. His wife is also retired after working several years with the Opelika Daily News. They have two daughters, Carol and Gayle.

Richard Hooker Cobbs, III, retired in 1976 as manager of water and electrical systems for the City of Andalusia. He and his wife, Elizabeth, live in Ft. Walton Beach, Fla. They have one son, Richard H. Cobbs, IV, '57 and two grandchildren.

Albert Sidney Hodges '25 of Headland is a retired bookkeeper with Espy Mercantile in Headland. He and his wife have just celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary and have a daughter, Martha Hodges Parks '60, and four grandchildren, two of whom are at Auburn.

Robert Lock '25 is retired senior vice president of Anderson Electric of Leeds. He and his wife, Evelyn, have three children including Robert L. Lock, Jr., '58, and seven grandchildren including Robert L. Lock, III, '83.

Cameron Winston White '25 retired in 1967 after 23 years as president of White Manufacturing Co. in Tampa, Fla., which manufactured bedding. He and his wife, Virginia, have three children including Cameron W. White, Jr., '54 and Vernon H. White '56, two grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

Robert A. Betts '25 is retired. He and his wife, Kathryn, live in Opelika. They have one son, Robert A. Betts, Jr., '54, and two grandchildren.

Leroy Taylor Agee '25 retired in 1968 from Abbott Laboratories, where he had been medical service representative for 27 years. He and his wife, Jewel, live in Jacksonville, Fla. They have one daughter, two grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren.

Catherine McSwan Sewell '29 now lives in Dunwoody, Ga. Her husband, Dr. W.E. Sewell, was on the faculty of the Auburn Animal Science Department from 1926 to 1945.

1930

Levin Lee Sledge of Gadsden owns the L. Lee Sledge Agency, where he continues to work part-time. He and his wife, Ruth, have three children—Elizabeth Sledge Sowell '59 of Jacksonville, William Webb Sledge '65 of Gadsden, and James S. Sledge '69 of Gadsden.

Otis Steele Adams of Shawnee, Okla., is retired after teaching vocational agriculture for 35 years. His wife, Johnnie Lois, is a retired home economics teacher. They have two children and three grandchildren.

Fred Chambers retired in 1971 after 32 years with TVA, most recently as assistant manager of power. He and his wife, Margaret, live in Houston, Tex. They have one son, Fred Chambers, Jr., '57 of Houston and four grandchildren. Since retiring from TVA, Mr. Chambers has done electrical engineering for several other companies and government agencies and his work has sent him to Sweden and South Korea as well as several locations around the U.S.

Hoyt Sherard of Decatur retired in 1973 as a soil scientist with the Soil Conservation Service. He and his wife, Lucille, a retired home economics teacher, have two sons—Hoyt Sherard, Jr., '59 and William Henry Sherard '66—and two grandchildren. Their granddaughter, Veronica, is an Auburn student.

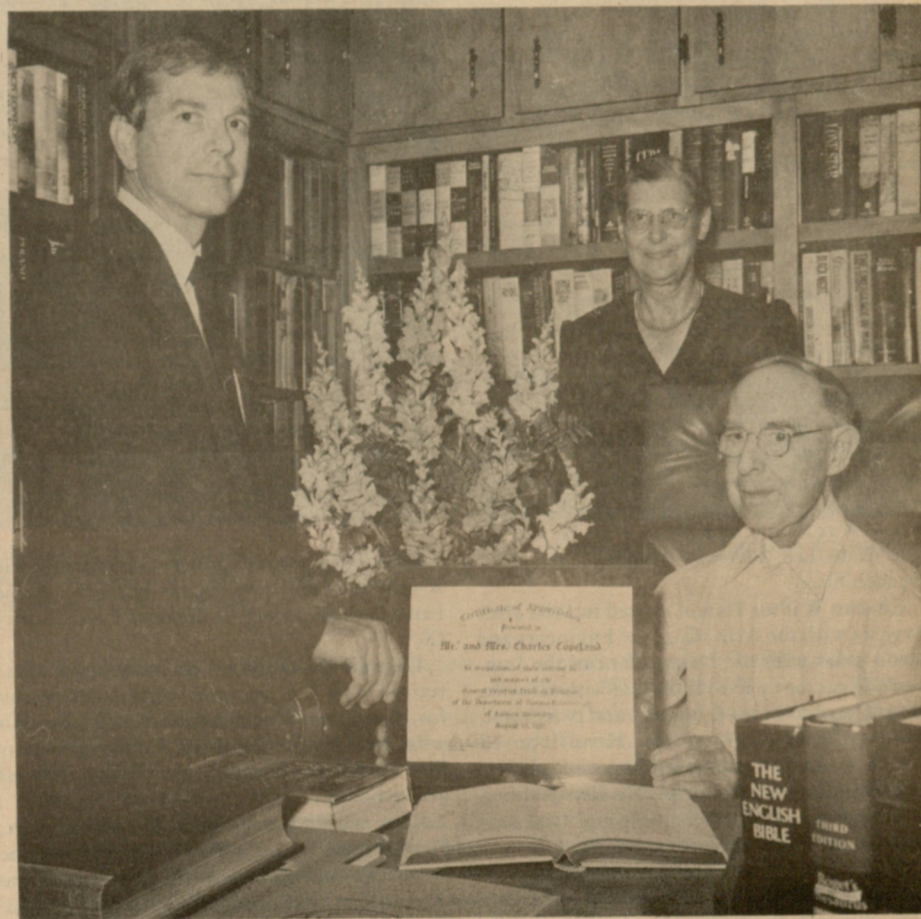

James Luther (Luke) Ward and his wife, Edith, a dietician, are retired and living in New Milford, Conn. He spent 48 years in coaching and twice retired as director of athletics at New Jersey and Connecticut high schools.

Clarence R. LeCroy retired in 1969 from Agrico Chemical Co., where he had worked 39 years in a variety of positions including as plant manager and in research and process development. He has three children and three grandchildren. His first wife died in 1979 and he has since married Reba Lynch, a native Texan. They love to travel and live in Memphis with a second home on Greers Ferry Lake at Heber Springs, Ark. Golf is his main hobby and they both play bridge often. He is a 32nd degree Scottish Rite Mason and active in the Shrine. Clarence writes that "I play golf as often as I can and have a 13 handicap which I think is fair for an old 76-year-old man."

Raymond Carl Roberts is retired and living in Sheffield where he enjoys golf, travel, and church. He and his wife, Merrie Helene, have one daughter—Helene, who is married to Milton Alexander, a professor in the Auburn School of Business—and three grandchildren—James M. Alexander '77, Rob Alexander, and Elizabeth Alexander, an Auburn student. Mr. Roberts writes that he "was privileged to help start several companies TVA, Reynolds Metals, Brown Engineering (AE), and retired from IBM FSD in Huntsville." He is past president of the ASPE, president of the Sheffield Rotary Club, and chairman of the Board of Appeals of Huntsville.

Thorne S. Winter retired in 1973 after 42 years and 11 months with Southern Bell. He was directory staff administrator at the time of his retirement. He and his wife, Blanche, live in Atlanta. They have one son, Thorne, III, and three grandchildren. Among his many activities, Mr. Winter has been president of the Atlanta Auburn Club, the Buckhead Fifty Club, and the Telephone Pioneer Life Member Club. He has also been club president, district governor, and vice president of Civitan International as well as commodore of the Allatoona Yacht club, commander of the Atlanta Power Squadron, an elder of the Covenant Presbyterian Church, and a Cub and Boy Scout leader.

Lucius Mahlon Dyal of Woodbine, Ga., retired from a civil engineering career in 1972. He and his wife, Juliet, have one son, L.M. Dyal, Jr., '59 of Tampa, Fla., and three grandchildren.

ALUMNI SNAPDRAGONS—Dr. John Pritchett '65, head of the Department of Zoology-Entomology, recently presented a plaque to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Copeland '39 in appreciation of their donations of plants and materials to the College of Agriculture. Mr. Copeland, who has been deaf since birth, received a B.S. in agriculture in 1939 after attending the university intermittently for ten years. The Copelands own Copeland's Greenhouses, a wholesale snapdragon operation in Opelika. The snapdragons are used in introductory genetics courses to study the inheritance of flower color.

William McCoy Burt of Dunwoody, Ga., retired in 1980 after establishing the county-wide area vocational school of Russell County, Ala. He spent 13 years teaching and coaching in Georgia and 26 years in Alabama, retiring as assistant Russell County school superintendent. He and his wife, Mary, have two daughters and four grandchildren.

John K. Steinhauer currently lives in Willowbrook, Ill.

Ruth Frisbie Fogleman of Florence retired in 1973 from the Tuscumbia Public Schools where she had taught English, social studies, music, and special reading. She also served as educational consultant for the Child Student Center under Title I for three years. In addition she was soloist for the First Presbyterian Church for 35 years and for the Jewish Temple for 10 years. She now does portraits and leads others in singing at nursing homes, etc. She and her husband, who died in 1981, had one son, George S. Fogleman, Jr., two grandchildren, and a great granddaughter.

John William Wood retired in 1980 after spending 50 years in Alabama public schools, 47 of those years as a teacher, counselor, and principal in Birmingham. His wife, Marie, retired in 1984 from the Birmingham office of the Division of Rehabilitation and Crippled Children's Service. They have two children and two grandchildren.

Bascom E. Winn retired from the U.S. Soil Conservation Service in 1970 in Athens, Ga. He lives in Commerce, Ga. Before working for the SCS, he worked with TVA and the Tennessee Extension Service.

John R. Carreker was recently elected president of the Lenbrook Square Residents Association, a retirement center where he and his wife, Helen Garrett '32, live in Atlanta. They write that they find the center has many advantages for entertainment and care and that Helen particularly enjoys "freedom from cooking." Although John retired in 1973 after 40 years with the USDA, Helen says she "dates her retirement from 1983" when they moved to Lenbrook Square.

O. William Bynum currently lives in Auburn where he moved following his retirement as chairman of the Carrier Corp. He and his wife, Margaret, have two sons, O.W., Jr., and Robert F. Bynum '75, and four grandchildren.

Henry Reeves of Wilmington, Del., is retired and spends his time in volunteer work, golf, and gardening. He and his wife, Marion, have three children and three grandchildren.

1931-1934

Spencer Crawford Subers '31 of St. Thomas Island, Ga., retired June 1, 1970, from Hercules, Inc., in Brunswick, Ga. He moved to St. Simons Island in September 1984.

Thomas H. Pyke '32 of Orlando, Fla., writes that "It's been eleven years since my 5 by-pass open heart surgery and I'm 'doing very well' according to my cardiologist and managing pretty close to a 'bogey' golf game."

John S. Rogers '33 sang commercially on the radio in New York City for nine years before World War II, which he completed as a captain. After the war, he returned to Gadsden with his wife, Hazel, and daughter, Nancy, and owned an antique shop for 33 years, 18 of which he was also a salesman for Scholastic Corp. He put his musical talent to work as choir director of the Episcopal Church and his wife was a soloist for 25 years. They retired in 1980 and spend eight months of the year at Holy Comforter House in Gadsden and four months in a condo in Panama City, Fla.

Dr. William W. Beck '34 continues to live in Wilmington, Del.

1935

Evelyn Perry Relfe of Birmingham retired in 1978 as girls' advisor and assistant principal of West End High. She had been with the Birmingham Board of Education for 21 years. She and her husband, Julien, an assistant system superintendent with Alabama Power, have three children and five grandchildren. She stays active with a number of professional education fraternities as well as the alumni group of Sigma Kappa social sorority, the Pandora Literary Club and the First Methodist Church. In addition she does china painting for a hobby.

James Cooper spent 30 years with the Tuscaloosa County Extension Service before retiring in 1978. He and his wife, Kathryn Duncan '43, have two daughters—Betty Cooper '60 and Margaret Ann Cooper Walker '68, who is on the faculty of the Auburn School of Home Economics. Mr. Cooper won a number of awards during his years of service with Extension including the Distinguished Service Award presented by the National Association of County Agricultural Agents in 1969, the regional award presented in environmental quality recognition program, presented by the same group in 1974, and the state award in the Search for Excellence Program sponsored by the State Association in 1978.

John Boyd Deavours of Greensboro is retired after 34 years with the Alabama Extension Service. He also spent 8 years in the military during World War II and the Korean War. He and his wife, Ruby Lee, have two daughters and three grandchildren.

Charles Wilbur Hixon retired in 1965 after 23 years with the Army Corps of Engineers and seven years with the Department of the Interior. He currently lives in Perote with his wife, Inez. They have two daughters and two grandchildren. During his career, Mr. Hixon received a cash award for sustained superior performance while with the Corps. He also qualified as a professional civil engineer and land surveyor in the State of North Carolina.

Eugene A. Heacock and his wife, Mary, live in Mobile. He retired in 1971 after 36 years with IBM as branch manager. They have two children, E.E. Heacock, Jr., '64 and Virginia Heacock Stewart '68, and four grandchildren.

Linwood E. Funchess retired as head of the Auburn University Physical Plant Division in 1977. He now spends his time in yard work and golf. His wife, Marjorie Fitch '32, enjoys bridge and the garden club. They live in Opelika and have four children—Suzanne Funchess Jacobson '61, Dennis Voss Funchess '64, David R. Funchess '70, and Steven E. Funchess '71—and four grandchildren including Michelle Jacobson '81.

Mayfield E. Slaughter retired in 1975 after 13 years with Thompson Tractor Co., a Caterpillar dealership in Birmingham. The last three years he worked as sales manager for the west half of north Alabama, which included Birmingham as base. Mr. Slaughter and his wife, Mary, have two children and two grandchildren.

Walter David Smith lives in Montgomery with his wife, Annezell Oxford '38. They lived in Seattle, Wash., for 31 years and he retired in 1976 as resident representative at the University of Washington for the Office of Naval Research. The Smiths have two children and two grandchildren.

Velma Patterson Ellis and her husband, Warren, live in Opp. She retired in 1975 as a vocational home economics teacher. During her teaching years, she held offices in the district vocational association as well as local teachers' organization. Her husband is a retired farmer who has been active with the Federal Land Bank Association, holding offices in Alabama as well as in southeastern district representation in New Orleans. They have two children and two grandchildren.

Alfred Keys Allen lives in Dallas, Tex. For the past 40 years he has been an officer of various construction companies including president and CEO of OKC Dredging Co. of New Orleans; senior vice president and member of the board of OKC Corp. of Dallas; vice president of Perina Corp. in San Francisco; executive vice president and member of the board of Perina Corp. of Miami; vice president of Utah Construction of San Francisco; and vice president of Dunn Construction of Birmingham. He and his wife, Barbara, now deceased, have four children including Charles M. Allen, II, '65 of Montgomery. He also has two grandchildren. Mr. Allen served in the Army Corps of Engineers in China, Burma, and India, receiving the Legion of Merit from the U.S. and the Order of Cloud and Banner from the Chinese Government. He is a member of the Moles, the Beavers, and the Lancers Clubs as well as the Bent Tree Country Club.

SOUTH GEORGIA-NORTH FLORIDA—New officers of the South Georgia-North Florida Auburn Club are pictured with speaker Frank Orgel following the Aug. 8 meeting. From left are: Charles Phillips '50, treasurer; Chester N. Stewart '67, president; Jim Hepinstall, vice president; Robin Ann Reed Stewart '64, secretary; and Coach Orgel.

George K. Quinney of Jacksonville, Fla., retired in 1976 as personnel corporate recruiter for Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Florida, Inc. His wife, Helen, is retired from the Duval County Medical Society. They have two sons and four grandchildren.

Clarence Thomas Collier, Sr., and his wife, Mary Elizabeth, live in Birmingham, where he retired as superintendent of design with the sheet, tin, and wire mills of US Steel in Fairfield. They have two children—C.T. Collier, Jr., '70 and Carmen Collier Dupuy '72—and two grandchildren. Grandson William Thomas Collier is a sophomore in architecture at Auburn.

Joseph H. Oliver of Dadeville operated Oliver Hardware for 45 years after earning his degree in forestry and working for the U.S. Forest Service for 5 years. He spent 16 years as a city official in Dadeville, 2 years as mayor. "The one year at Auburn was more exciting than the three years at LSU where I finished in forestry," he writes. "Auburn had no forestry school at the time....I still enjoy the Auburn connection."

Eric Alsobrook, Jr., of Northport is retired after working with Alabama Power for 48 years. He retired as assistant division superintendent. He and his wife, Elizabeth, have two daughters, including Susan Jane Alsobrook Carver '72.

John Edwin Beck is a retired physician. He and his wife, Betty, live in Clover, S.C. They have three daughters and two grandsons.

William B. Capps and his wife, Nell Isbell, live in Auburn where he is founder and chief executive officer of Camco Vending Corp. and she is secretary. He is a retired senior pilot with the Army, qualified in multi-engines and helicopters. They have three sons—William B. Capps, Jr., '60, John Alan Capps, and Carl I. Capps '75—and six grandchildren.

Emerson Sterling Marshall spent his career as a general facilities engineer with NASA and as chief engineer with American Creosoting Co. He retired in 1975 and his wife, Frances, a registered nurse, retired in 1979. They have three children—Patricia Ann Marshall Coats, who attended Auburn but graduated from LSU; Jack Emerson Marshall '70; and Linda Jane Marshall Mace '76—and four grandchildren.

George C. Dunn, Sr., retired in 1980 after being partner in M.O. Carroll Wholesale Co. for 45 years. He retired earlier this year as an active director of the Bank of Ozark for 43 years. He and his wife, Elizabeth, have three sons and three grandchildren.

George A. Fort and his wife, Mary Ellen, live in Marco Island, Fla., following his retirement from U.S. Steel. During his 41 years with the company, Mr. Fort worked in most of the company's major plants and spent much of his career at the world's largest steel plant in Gary, Ind. At retirement he was assistant to the manager of operations at Gary. Earlier he was head of industrial engineering and division superintendent of chemical operations. He and his wife have two daughters and four grandchildren.

Harry Albert MacEwan is an architect in Tampa, Fla., where he lives with his wife, Dorothy.

John Donald McPherson retired as president of Texas Falcon in 1978. Both he and his wife, Dixie, are watercolorists, and in fact met in a watercolor class. They prefer to do paintings from around their home area of Sugar Land, Tex. They have one son.

Nellie Fuller Tisdale and her husband, Marion E. Tisdale '36, live in Mobile where they are involved in real estate and grow Christmas trees. They have three children including Marion E. Tisdale, Jr., '59 of Spartanburg, S.C., and John M. Tisdale '68 of Denver, Colo. The Tisdales have been married for 49 years and write that they are both "looking forward to seeing our old friends at the upcoming class reunion."

C. Cayce Scarborough is retired as a professor of adult and vocational education at Auburn. His wife, Margaret Saxon '42, is retired as a kindergarten teacher from the Auburn city schools. They have three children and two grandchildren. Mr. Scarborough writes that they are "enjoying retired life in Auburn. Keeping busy with Kiwanis (president this year), church (editor AUMC newspaper), retired teachers (treasurer and state director), and gardening."

Elizabeth Craig Crum of Opelika retired in 1978 after 23 years with the Extension Service. She was associate Extension chairman at the time of her retirement. She has three children including Edward Craig Crum '64 and Jane Crum Walker '64. One of her six grandchildren, Edward Crum, is currently an Auburn student.

Walter Richard Brassell spent his career with the Alabama Development Office. He and his wife, Barbara, live in Guntersville, where they have owned and operated Claysville Boat Harbor for 30 years. They have two children and one grandson.

Charles Boland Cooper of Henry, Ill., retired in 1979 as plant manager with B.F. Goodrich. His wife, Gladys, is a retired psychologist. They have three children and 10 grandchildren.

Carl H. Pihl is retired manager of the Copper Development Association. He and his wife, Ellen, have two children and three grandchildren. The Pihls live in East Marion, N.Y. Over the years he's been listed in Who's Who and is a former president of The Silurians, a New York City newspaper group.

Leonard Cleve Brown of Alexander City is retired from New York Life Insurance where he was inspector of agencies. He and his wife, Flora, have two sons.

Miles R. Mountien is retired after a career as a forensic chemist. He and his wife, Elsbeth, a retired medical technologist, live in Jasper, Ga. Mr. Mountien spends his spare time with reading and woodworking.

Alex C. Pate of Birmingham is president of The Pate Co., Engineers. The company specializes in plumbing, heating and air conditioning, and fire protection design. He and his wife, Ruth, have one son and one grandson.

August George McKinney retired from Pan Am as a flight engineer in 1972 but is currently employed in general aviation in Simpson, Ill. He and his wife, Betty, have three daughters.

Glenn Mitchell retired in 1967 after 30 years with Southern States, Inc., as chairman of the board. He also served 30 years on the Hampton, Ga., city council, 26 of those years as mayor. He also was chairman of the commissioners of road and revenue for Henry County for four years. He and his wife, Valerie, have three children and five grandchildren.

John Randall Parrish is retired as a hospital administrator with the Veterans' Administration hospitals. He and his wife, Isabel Webb '36, live in Boynton Beach, Fla., and have two daughters and eight grandchildren, as well as nine great-grandchildren. Mr. Parrish was listed in Who's Who in America before his retirement.

Neill Graham Stevens retired in 1977 as assistant manager and engineer with the Baldwin County Electric Membership Cooperative. Earlier he worked for Alabama Power Co. and Bessemer Electric Service. His wife, Helen, is a retired bookkeeper. They have three children and four grandchildren and live in Foley.

Sarah Shealy Wilkes and her husband, Charles Frank Wilkes '38, a retired training officer with the Veterans' Administration, live in Montgomery. They have two daughters—Karon Wilkes Flint '66 and Becky Wilkes Seay '72, who married Auburn-graduates Charles Flint '65 and Peter Seay '72—and five grandchildren.

James R. Burdeshaw retired from TVA in 1976 where he was director of power utilization. He and his wife, Cornelia, live in Hixon, Tenn. They have two daughters.

Robert J. (Joe) Dowe of Pass Christian, Miss., retired in 1977 from Southern and South Central Bell, where he had spent more than 40 years in a variety of engineering and supervisory positions. His wife, Evelyn, was also an engineer and supervisor with Southern and South Central Bell and retired in 1978. Mr. Dowe received an MBA from Tulane in 1969. He is a past chairman of AIEE (now IEEE) in New Orleans and retired as a colonel in the Air Force Reserve in 1964. He is also a Rotarian and treasurer of the volunteer fire department of Delisle, Miss.

Albin George Pass, DVM, is retired from practice as a veterinarian. He and his wife, Harriet, live in Montgomery.

Marion Sundberg McCall is a homemaker and an artist. She lives in Knoxville, Tenn., with her husband, E. Wyman McCall '34. They have two daughters and four grandchildren.

John Bradford Knowlton and his wife, Margaret, live in Claymont, Del., where both are retired. They have five children and several grandchildren.

Ira Miller Pitts retired from TVA in 1978 as chief of the land branch. He and his wife, Doris, live in Chattanooga, Tenn. They have one daughter and a grandson.

Richard M. Steere is retired after teaching electrical engineering courses at Louisiana Tech, Auburn, and MIT. He and his wife, Emma Bennett '36, live in Auburn where she's retired as a church secretary. They have two sons and four grandchildren.

William Cameron Mitchell and his wife, Marilyn, live in Hampton, Ga. He retired in 1967 as president of Southern States, Inc. They have eight children and 10 grandchildren.

Arthur Jacob Mueller of Evansville, Ind., spent his career with Mead Johnson & Co. He retired in 1977 as senior investigator. His Auburn friends will be saddened to learn of the death of his wife, Mildred Marie, on Jan. 10. They had two children and three grandchildren. During his years at Mead Johnson, Mr. Mueller published 32 papers in scientific journals and received four patents. He is listed in American Men of Science (12th Ed.), Who's Who in the Midwest (vol. 15), and the Dictionary of International Biography (Vol. XIV).

Fred Rudolph Bell, Jr., is chairman of the board and treasurer of Bell & Co. and chairman of the board of Standard Equipment Co. of Mobile. He and his wife, Vivian, have two children and four grandchildren.

Henry Lee Fuller retired in 1975 as assistant chief of the construction division of the Mobile District of the Army Corps of Engineers. He and his wife, Almeda, live in Mobile. They have three sons, including Joe S. Fuller '67 and Walter M. Fuller '74, and five grandchildren.

John Haygood Paterson of Montgomery retired in 1982 as president of Paterson's Rosemont Gardens Florist. He had worked there since college except for service in World War II. He and his wife, Louise, have two children and four grandchildren. The children of their daughter Joy Paterson Stallings '60 are following in the family footsteps by attending Auburn. Lucy Lynn Stallings graduated in 1984 and John Thomas Stallings, Jr., will be in the class of '88.

Joseph Edward Cooper, Jr., a retired insurance agent, owned the Joe Cooper Agency for 35 years before selling it in 1982. He and his wife, Virginia, have three children, including Carey E. Cooper '67, and four grandchildren.

1936-1938

Joseph Lewis Wesley '36, DVM, retired from the practice of veterinary medicine on May 23. His wife retired from teaching at the Alabama School for the Deaf and Blind. They are enjoying traveling together and recently returned from a Caribbean cruise aboard the Song of Norway.

Dewitt D. Vickrey '37 of Shreveport, La., asks his classmates if they "remember those saddle horses (2) that I rented out from 1933-37 to those who would pay $.75 an hour to ride? Like Ed Regan '39 who is in Rotary here with me as well as Dr. Jim Basco (vet) and Dr. James Gavin (optometrist)." Mr. Vickrey's wife, Hazel, is retiring this year, he writes "and we will sho' travel the world."

Eugenia Small '37 of Bay Minette retired in 1973 as Extension agent for home economics in Baldwin County. Classmates will be sorry to learn of the death of her son, Henry Small '63, of a massive heart attack on Nov. 24, 1984.

Dr. William V. Chandler '37 of Lakeland, Fla., is retired and spends his time in wood-working. He is also retired from the Army Reserve after almost 38 years. He notes that he "served with the 5th Armored Division in Europe—the unit assigned to advance rapidly through Germany and cut off pockets of Germans for the other units following us to mop up."

Robert H. Hurd '38 worked with Shell Oil Co. in various positions until his retirement in 1977. He and his wife, Jo, live in Houston, Tex. They have two daughters, Jo Van Hurd Irby and Elizabeth Hurd Trask.

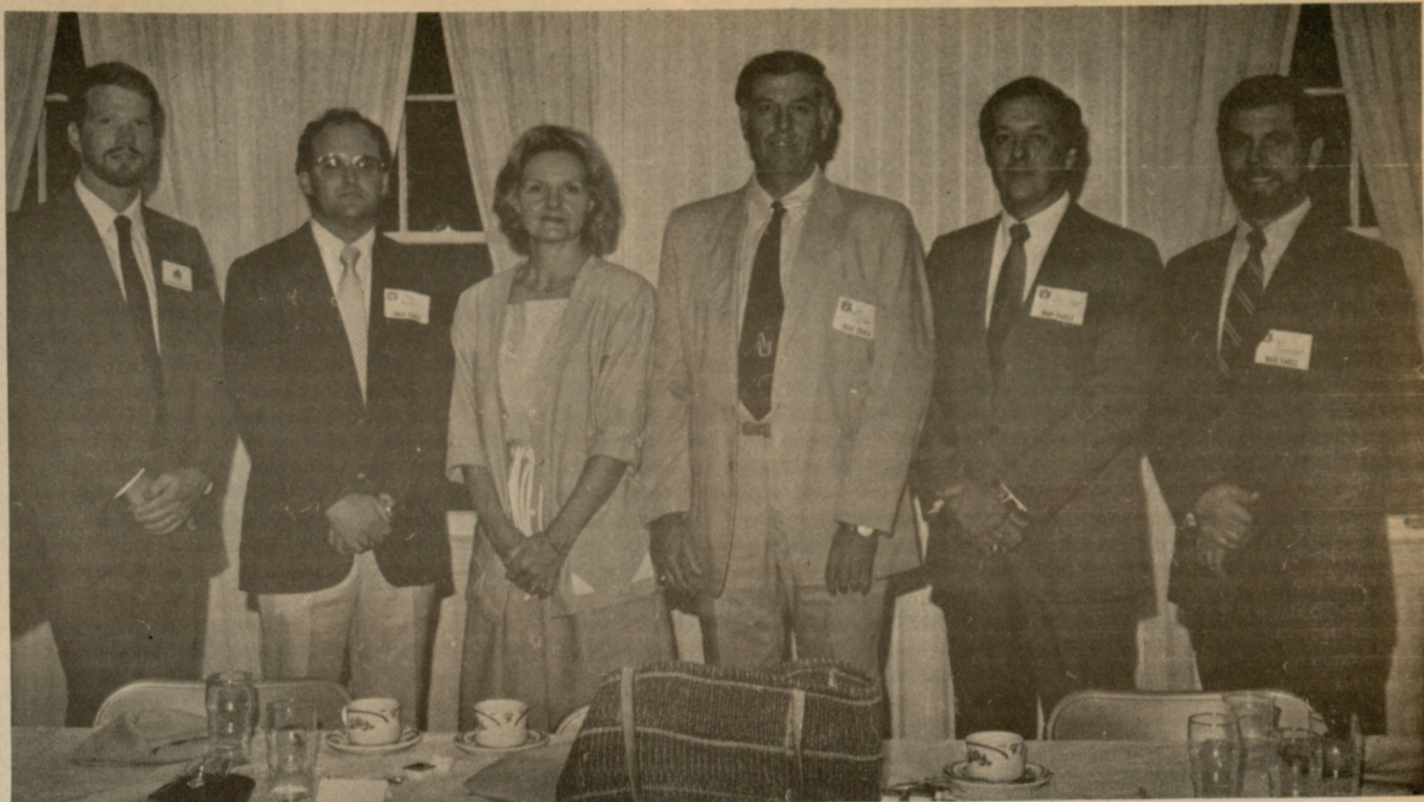

1940

Arthur Edwin Harvey, Jr., of Huntsville retired from the Army Missile Command as engineering manager in 1982. His wife, Mae-Parish Singletary '49, is retired as a program analyst with the Army Missile Command. Mr. Harvey has presented 18 papers at national and international engineering conferences, many of them on "value engineering." He conceived and directed a number of films and wrote several pamphlets. A charter member of the Society of American Value Engineers, he has lectured to civic groups and technical societies. He was the Army Missile Command's member in the American Defense Preparedness Association's Cost and Value Management Division. He is listed in Who's Who in the South and Southwest and has won a number of awards from the Missile Command and the American Society of American Value Engineers. Although having been confined to a wheelchair since 1950, he has traveled more than 700,000 commercial air miles in conducting his business. Among a long list of hobbies, he includes swimming, boating, fly and deep sea fishing, winemaking, gourmet cooking, photography, parapsychology, developing ESP, and freelance writing. The Harveys have five children and 12 grandchildren.

Margaret Pearson McWhorter and her husband, Robert, a retired real estate company owner, live in Dothan. They have three children and four grandchildren. Mrs. McWhorter is on the board of the Alabama-West Florida United Methodist Foundation, on the board of the Bank of the South in Abbeville, immediate past president of the Electos Club of Dothan and president of the Fine Arts Club of Dothan.

John William Lovell and his wife, Irene, live in Birmingham. He retired in 1984 as senior sales engineer with Thompson-Hayward Chemical Co. They have five children—including Jeannette Lovell Sims '68, John W. Lovell, Jr., '72, Nancy Lovell Tyler '72—and two grandchildren.

John Earl Atkinson retired from the Air Force in 1967 and retired from MLPF&S in 1972. He and his wife, Nancy, live in Holmes

ESCAMBIA AUBURN CLUB—Pictured at the recent meeting of the '65, secretary; Ken Tucker '69, new president; Jim Hart '65, director; and Escambia County Auburn Club are, from left: Karl J. Robinson '79, 1984 Troy Curtright '66, director. president; Randy Nichols '79, current vice president; Nan Turner Shirley Beach, Fla. Col. Atkinson, whose father headed the Auburn foreign language program for more than 30 years, left Auburn to attend West Point where he lettered in baseball.

John A. Taylor of Decatur is retired. He and his wife, Addie, have three children—including Barbara Taylor Mitchell '67—and two grandchildren.

Stella Lou Mitchell of Phenix City retired in 1970 after 30 years with the Alabama Extension Service and the USDA Agricultural Extension Services as family economics and home management specialist.

Paul R. Nichols retired in 1980 as general manager of Alabama Precast Concrete. He and his wife, Rebecca, live in Gadsden. They have three children—Bruce F. Nichols '78, Paul R. Nichols, Jr., and Ann Nichols Miller '73—and three grandchildren.

Henry G. Smith, Jr., retired from Lockheed Georgia in 1979 as a senior engineer. He had been with the company 25 years. His wife, Helen, was a librarian at the University of Tennessee prior to their marriage in 1972.

William H. (Jack) Taylor is retired from the Alabama Cooperative Extension Service where he was associate director at Auburn. He and his wife, Nell, have two children, William Taylor '71 and Martha Taylor Lowe '72.

Joe Walker Brown is retired after 34 years in civil service as an accountant. He lives in Wetumpka.

James M. Callaway, Jr., of Birmingham is president of Wilkerson-Callaway Insurance Agency. He and his wife, June, have two children—James B. Callaway '71 and Carol C. Lord '72—and two grandchildren.

Robert W. Dees retired from the Air Force in 1967 and then spent 15 years as a senior staff engineer with TRW Systems before retiring again in 1982. He and his wife, Edith, live in Torrance, Calif. They have two children, Robb and Edith.

Roger C. Hamel, Jr., is chairman of the board and CEO of Victoria Bank & Trust Co. in Victoria, Tex. He and his wife, Martha, have two children and three grandchildren.

Felix Henley Jones, Jr., is retired from the Air Force. He and his wife, Lyde, live in San Antonio, Tex. They have three daughters and nine grandchildren.

Eloise Williams (Toni) Rutledge and her husband, Frank B. Rutledge '39, are both retired. They live in Demopolis and have two children—Robin Rutledge Rogers '69 and Frank B. Rutledge, III—and three grandchildren.

Ben Allen Scarbrough retired in 1984 from Georgetown University. He earlier retired from the Air Force in 1968. He and his wife, Martha Vest '42, have two children and three grandchildren.

George Palfrey Tait and his wife, Phyllis, have three children and three grandchildren. Mr. Tait retired in 1978 from duPont as senior research engineer in the Textile Fibers Department.

C. Wilson Taylor is retired. He and his wife, Caroline, live in Decatur. They have two children—C. Wilson Taylor, III, and Carol Taylor—and two grandsons.

George W. Terrell is a retired dentist. He and his wife, Evelyn, live in Tusculumbia. They have two children—Linda Terrell Catron '69 and George W. Terrell, Jr., '73—and one granddaughter.

Clarence M. Wilson retired in January as supervisor of liquid fertilizers with USS Agricultural Chemicals. He and his wife, Claudia, live in Dundee, Fla. They have three children—Steve, Debbie, and Scott.

Sara Lee Davis Redmond and her husband, John Redmond, Jr., live in McLean, Va., where she is a docent with the DAR Museum and Anderson House. They have two children, John, III, and Dianne, and three grandchildren. John is twice retired—the first time from the Army, where he was with the Medical Service Corps, and the second time from the National Research Council of the National Academy of Sciences in Washington, D.C., where he was senior staff officer with the division of medical science.

Ben F. Thomas, Jr., has practiced medicine in Auburn for 42 years since receiving his M.D. from Emory University. His wife, Thelma, is a retired foreign language teacher. They have four children—Dr. B.F. Thomas, III, '69, Ann Thomas Phillips '74, Martha Thomas Bradberry '72, and John S. Thomas '79—and eight grandchildren.

Jessie Whittle Powell and her late husband owned Hayneville Telephone Co. for 40 years. She has spent ten years as president. She has three children: Howard Smith Powell, III, Penelope Powell Wood '69, and Herbert Whittle Powell.

Mary Evelyn Yates Thompson retired in 1976 after 33 years of teaching home economics. Her husband, Milton, is a retired electrical and plumbing contractor. They live in Ashland and have two children—Irving Thompson '71 and Evelyn St. Clair—and one granddaughter.

William C. Lumpkin, Jr., is retired county supervisor with the USDA. His wife, Kathryn Jones '43, is retired home economics teacher at Randolph County High. They live in Wedowee and have two children and three grandchildren.

Marshall J. Conner is chairman of the board of Conner Brothers Construction Co. in Auburn. He retired as president in 1984. He and his wife, Helen Moates '41, have two children—J. Ab Conner and Don M. Conner '79.

Edward Charles Roukema has retired from the U.S. Department of Agriculture after 40 years. He lives in Springfield, Va., with his wife, Dorothy. They have two children—Barbara Roukema Henn and Patricia Roukema Evans '77.

Frances Passmore Knight and her husband, Albion W. Knight '39, live in Birmingham where he is retired from the architectural firm of Warren, Knight & Davis. They have two children and five grandchildren.

Lois I. McIntyre retired in 1979 after 42 years of teaching first grade in Cleburne County, 38 years in Heflin where she continues to live.

Edgard E. Hendrix, Jr., retired from Siemens Allis in 1984 after 44 years. His last position was as an accounting manager. He continued as a consultant to Siemens Allis until June 1985. He and his wife, Elsin, have traveled from Bangkok to Istanbul for the past 22 years and plan to do more traveling.

Moyer Delos Harris retired from the Army in 1970 and is currently a senior course moderator in the Federal Aviation Administration's Management Training School in Lawton, Okla. He and his wife, Elizabeth, have three daughters.

John P. Weeks is twice-retired. He first retired in 1969 as vice president with Cosby Hodges Milling Co. Then he came to Auburn as fisheries specialist with the Extension Service and retired again in 1978. He and his wife, Aileen, have three daughters—Greta Dean Weeks Tatum '59, Denise Lee Weeks Stephenson '70, and Mary Rebecca Miller '70.

C.T. Mason, DVM, is president of Mason Animal Hospital in Little Rock, Ark. His wife, Irene, is secretary of the hospital. Dr. Mason was voted first lifetime member of the Arkansas Walking Horse Association and the Arkansas Livestock Show and Rodeo featured Ted Mason Day in 1984. The Masons have two daughters and three grandchildren.

William Austin Buce and his wife, Ruth Williams '41, live in Wilmington, Del. He took early retirement from Hercules, Inc., after 37 years in management positions in explosives and engineering. They have three children—James Austin Buce '72, Robert Edward Buce, and Janet Elizabeth Buce Cook '73—and one grandchild.

Adrian L. Sicard of Birmingham owns Thompson Cahaba Coal Mining Co. and Lake Purdy Coal Mining Co. He has one daughter, Carol Sicard Davis '69, and two grandchildren, Marie and Mathew Davis.

John Irby Hall of Cecil is a pilot, retired postmaster, and farmer. He and his wife, Dolly, have five grandsons and two children—John Erby Hall '67 and Kaye Hall Collett '69.

Thomas Franklin Hodges, DVM, retired from the Department of Agriculture where he was a supervisor with the poultry inspection program in May 1981. He and his wife, Pauline, live in Jasper. They have a daughter and two sons.

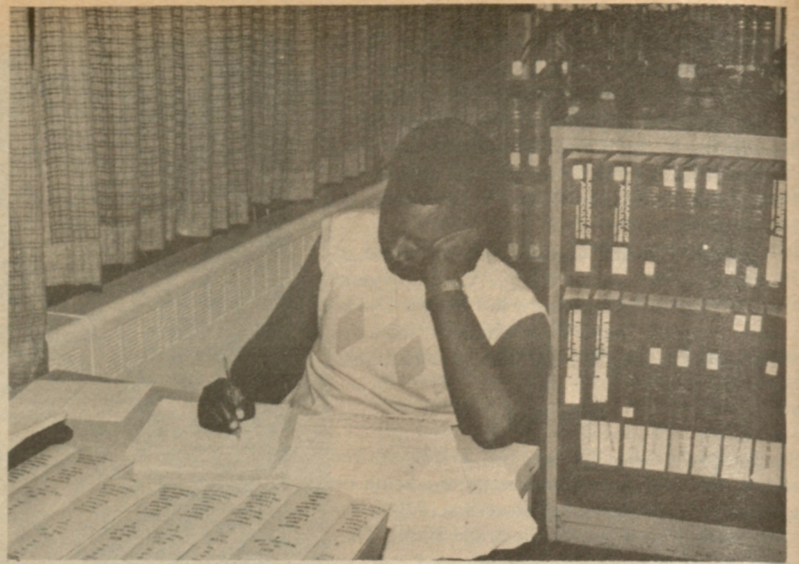

Rebecca Lee Yarbrough and her husband, John, a dairy farmer, live in Ashville. She taught vocational home economics 29 years and worked as home demonstration agent for five years before retiring. They have two daughters—

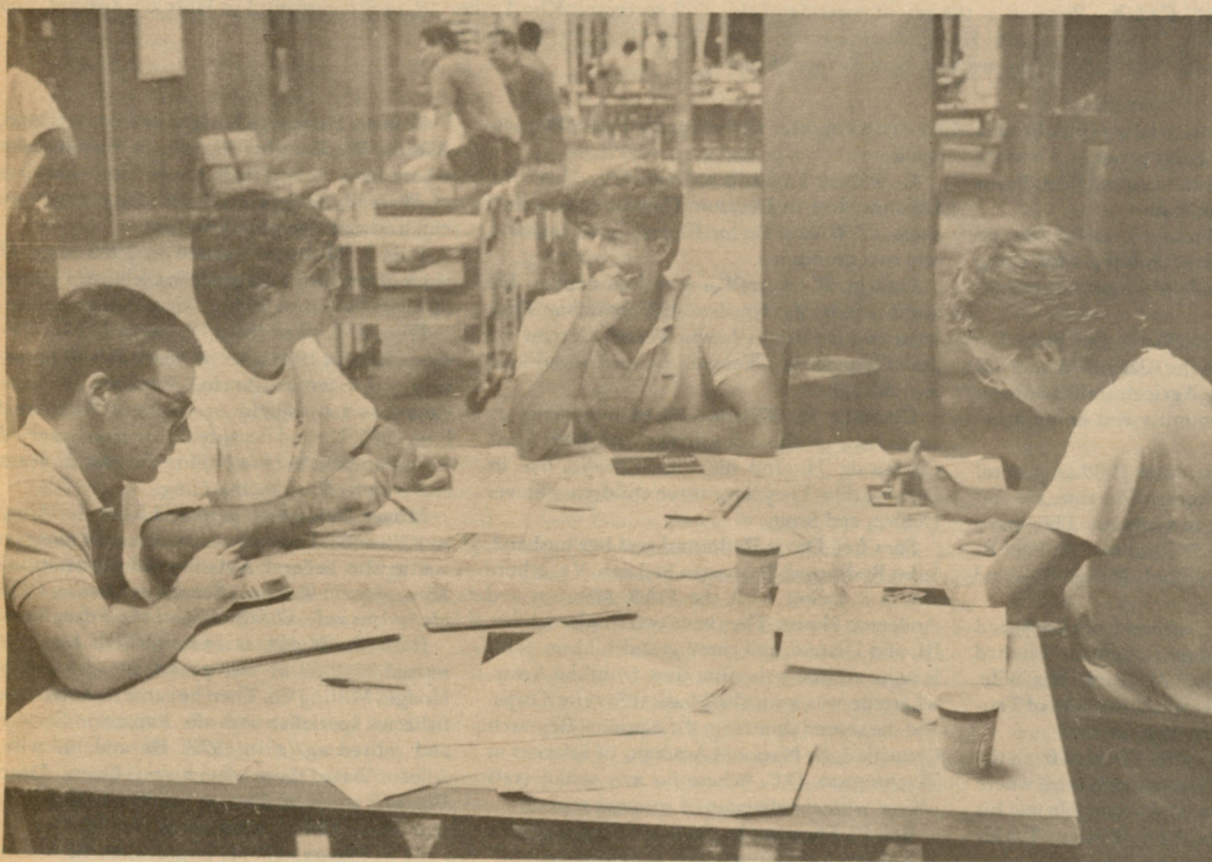

FINALS

Friday Night at the End of a Long, Hot Auburn Summer

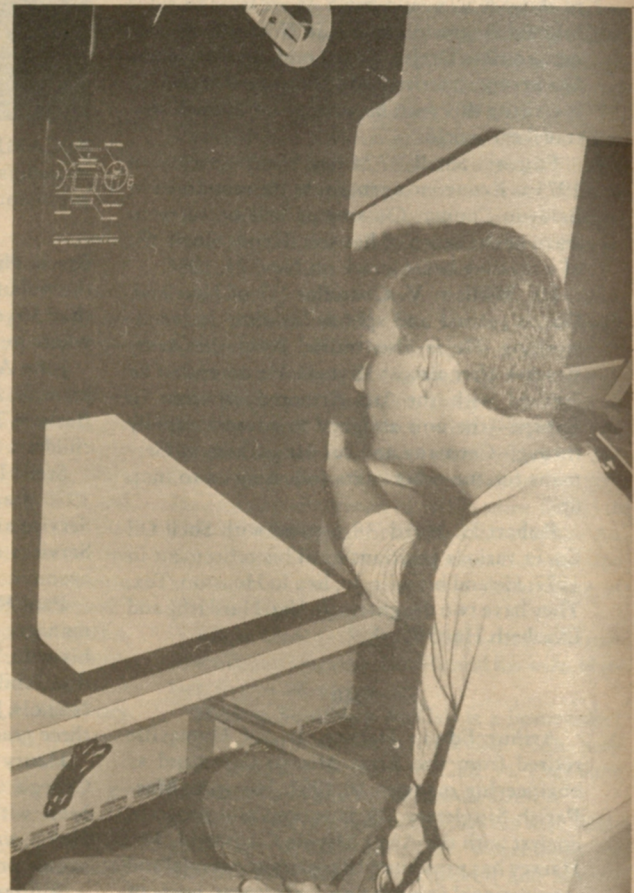

Photos by Ruth Schowalter and DeVillo Sloan

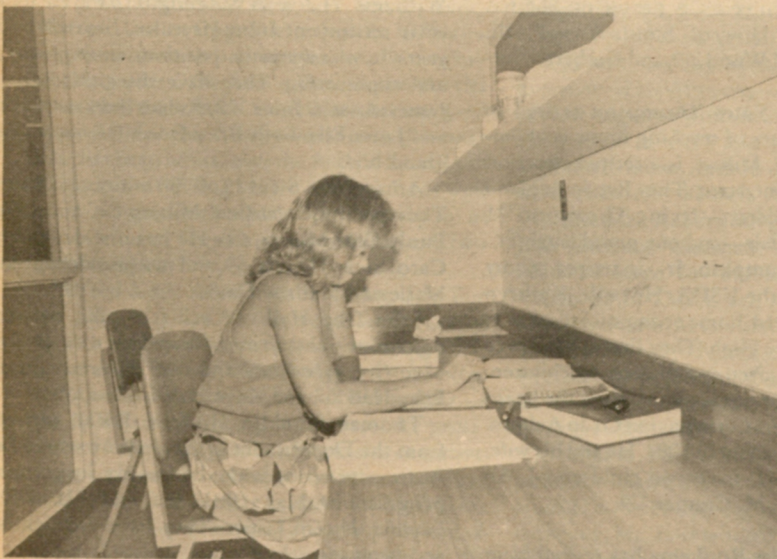

11:13—Bamba Muhaya from Zaire works on his thesis in fisheries while others nervously attempt to wrap up loose ends.

11:05—Senior marketing majors (left to right) John O'Brien, Steven Phillips, Mark Thibaut, and Jay Trumbull combine forces to study MT 433, Retail Store Management.

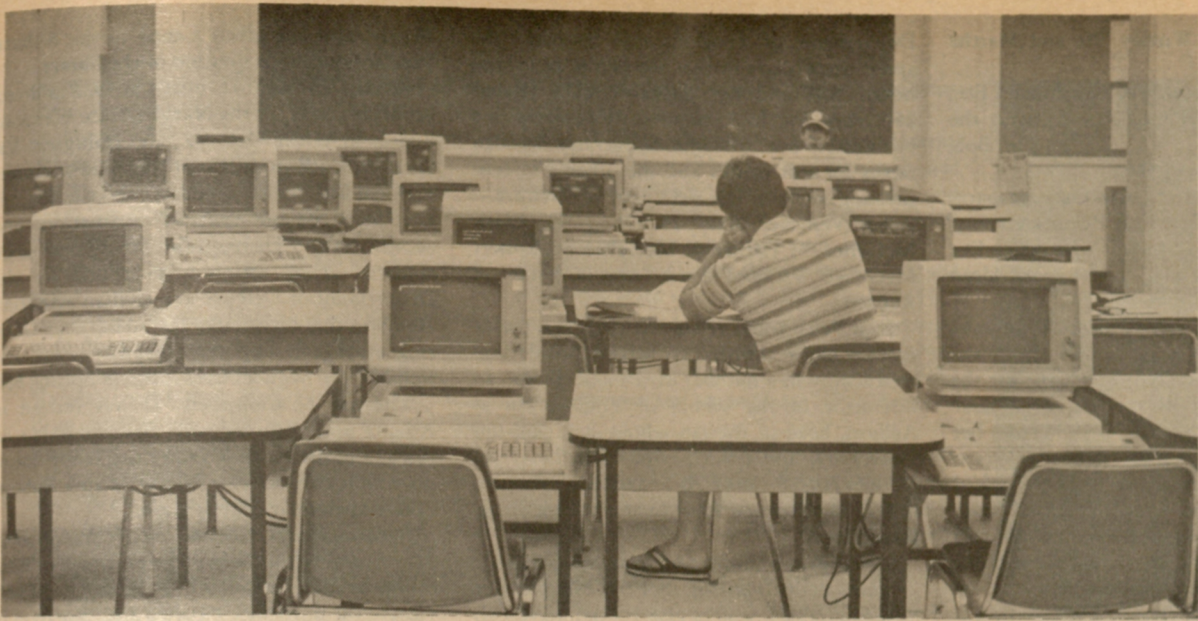

11:17—Ed Byers, a graduating senior in international business, scans micro-film of old newspapers for information on the Vietnam War for his contemporary history class.

11:27—"I'm quitting at twelve—one way or another," says Christie Walker, a junior in mechanical engineering, as she focuses on her course work for Strength of Materials.

11:29—Rutledge Webb (left), electrical engineering junior, and Jeff Nusser (right), electrical engineering senior, both studying for Electro-Magnetics II, disagree about calling it quits for the night. "There is no question about it," says Jeff. "Midnight is my calling." Rutledge plans to be "up all night."

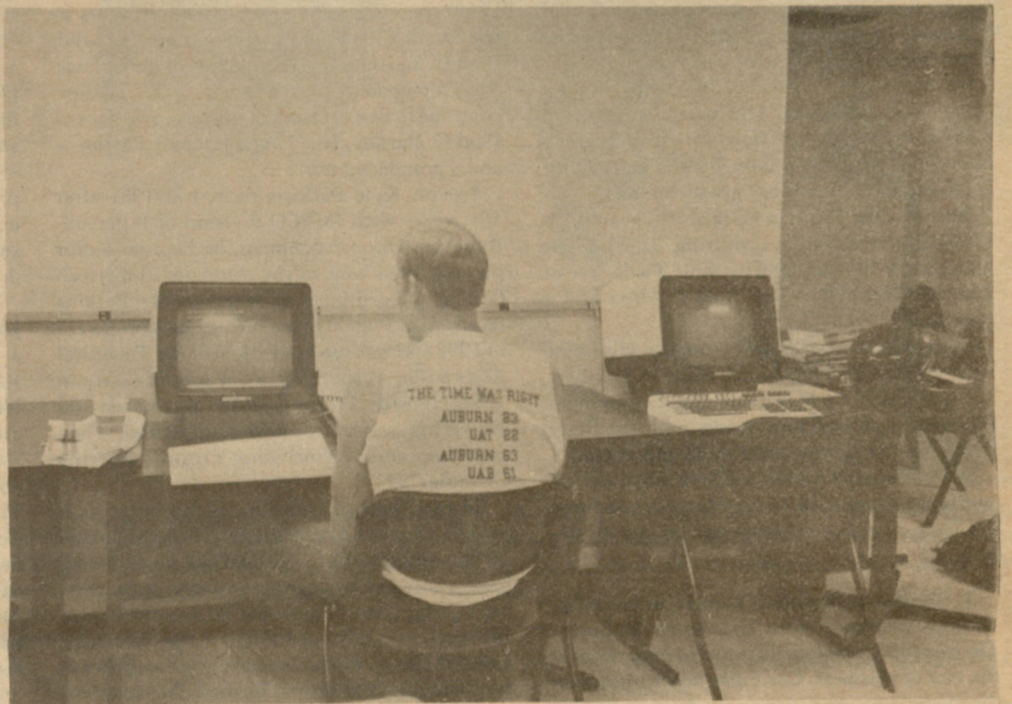

11:45—Senior electrical engineering major, Crawford Ledbetter (left), hopes he will be settled soon for the night. "It's a matter of finishing this program," he says of his assignment in Assembly Language Programming, "of getting a bug out." Classmate Chuck Watson (above), a senior computer engineering major, is having better luck. "I'm cleaning up the program," he says, "and will be going home soon."

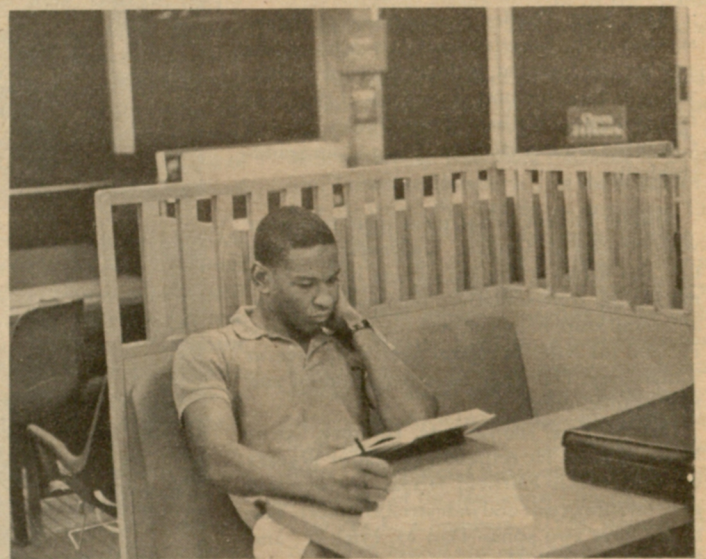

11:40—"I should stay up all night," says senior nursing major Beth Ingle as she prepares in the Haley Center basement for a test in pediatrics. "But I won't," says Beth. Two o'clock is bedtime.

11:32—Finals night brings visitor Kyusik Chung, a USC electrical engineering student, to the library while his brother, an Auburn student, studies elsewhere.

11:50—"I'm trying to get a specials topic program to run," says mechanical engineering senior Troy Flinchback, explaining that he has "a thousand lines of code to edit and get right."

12:00—Dan Howard (left), a sophomore pre-engineering major, and freshman Craig Hassey (right) approach their calculus books tentatively at Krystal, a 24-hour hamburger joint. Both figure that it will be an all-nighter. Around the corner, Anthony Angion (above), a sophomore in industrial engineering, studies for his morning sociology exam without worry. "It's just memorization," he says—unlike the "tough exams next week."

Elizabeth Yarbrough Sorrell and Margaret Yarbrough Shropshire '77.

Carl Happer is retired as assistant vice president of South Central Bell. He and his wife, Myrtice, live in Birmingham. They have two children—C. Thomas Happer, III, and Joe A. Happer '73—and two grandchildren.

Violet Whatley Dorsett retired from teaching in 1976, the same year her husband, Hubert Q. Dorsett, DVM, '40 died. She now lives in Lafayette, La. She has two children—Hubert Dorsett, Jr., and Patricia Dorsett Whitaker—and four grandchildren.

Luther Earl Gowder and his wife, Lorraine, live in Evergreen. After spending 37 years with the USDA's Soil Conservation Service, he retired in 1977. The Gowders have two daughters—Sue Ellen G. Armstrong '68 and Ruth A. Hinson—and a grandson.

Harrell H. McDaniel retired in 1982 from the Department of the Army where he had been an education specialist for 34 years. His wife, Meredith, is with Humana Hospital of Enterprise. The McDaniels have four children, two of whom—Jimmy Allen McDaniel '77 and Brenda Ruth McDaniel '83—attended Auburn. They also have four grandchildren.

Gordon Flournoy is in life insurance sales with Aetna Life & Casualty Co. He and his wife, Mary Louise, live in Columbus, Ga.

Joseph H. (Jack) Upchurch of Columbiana spent 35 years in education and retired in 1977 after 19 years as principal of Shelby County High in Columbiana. His wife, Esther, is a retired teacher. They have two daughters—Beverly Joyce U. McDow '69 and Judy Lynn U. Knight '71—and four grandchildren.

Earl Windsor Jordan worked 39½ years with Phillips Chemical Co., retiring as Midwest manager in 1983. He and his wife, Twila, live in Beatrice, Neb. They have two children and a grandson.

Ealon Lambert lives in Wetumpka. His latest news is that his daughter, Suellen P. Lambert '82, graduated in May from the Cumberland School of Law and now works with the State Public Service Commission in Montgomery.

Mary Watson Franke and her husband, Gustav Henry Franke '38, live in Hampden Sydney, Va. They have two children and six grandchildren.

T. Sherburne Smith of Huntsville is configuration manager with the Army Engineer Division and is looking forward to retirement at the end of this year. Currently he's working on the modernization program for Army ammunition plants, which is part of the Department of Defense industrial base for defense production. His wife, Elizabeth, works part-time in marketing research. They have four children and three grandchildren.

Everett S. Brooks, Sr., retired in 1979 from civil service. His wife, Eula, is owner and real estate broker with Landmark Realty Center in Huntsville. They have three children—including Everett S. Brooks, Jr., '70—and seven grandchildren.

Ann Argo Dudley is supervisor of library services in the Russell County, Ala., schools. She and her late husband, William Howard Dudley, who was also a member of the Class of 1940, had two children—William Argo Dudley '67 and Christina Dudley Blaxton '79—and six grandchildren.

Sinkler Eugene Scholze has spent his career with Procter & Gamble, Southwestern Drug Co., and Ethan Allen, Inc., where he has been marketing representative, regional manager, and retail store manager over the past 17 years. He and his wife, Margaret Smith '42, live in Tallahassee, Fla. They have two children and four grandchildren.

Dan M. Friel and his wife, Tommye, live in Vestavia Hills. He retired in 1980 after 39 years with US Steel in Fairfield. His last position was general supervisor and industrial engineer. The Friels have two sons—Dan M. Friel, Jr., and William E. Friel, II, '73.

T. Chester Culver retired in 1981 after working for B.F. Goodrich for 40 years. He had been regional sales manager with the chemical group of the company for ten years. He and his wife, Catherine, live in Seneca, S.C. They have two daughters and four grandchildren.

Earl Ray Gardner of Centre is a retired teacher and now works for a newspaper. His wife, Evelyn, is also retired from teaching. They have three daughters—Judy Gardner Schmidt

'66, Sarah Gardner Worley '70, and Martha Gardner Baker '75.

Frances Beard Sprinkle of Tallahassee, Fla., is a retired teacher. She and her husband, the late David G. Sprinkle '41, had one son, Bob, and two grandchildren.

Frederick Pierce Richardson is a mechanical engineer at the Naval Air Rework Facility, NAS Alameda, Calif. He and his wife, Mary, live in Livermore, Calif., and have three children and two grandchildren.

John T. Wheeler, Jr., of Kettering, Ohio, retired in 1979 after 39 years with the Crane Co., the last 15 as area representative for the valve division in Ohio, Kentucky, and Indiana. His wife, Mary Jane, retired in 1984 from her avocation as a flower designer at a local department store. They have four children and four grandchildren. Mr. Wheeler notes that "since retirement I spend as much time on the golf course as possible. Art and painting classes keep me out of trouble in the winter!"

Eliza Clark Macatee lives in Mandeville, La. Dee Franklin Holcombe and his wife, Ester, live in Holly Pond. He retired in 1976 as a vocational agriculture teacher. They have six children—three boys and three girls—and 14 grandchildren.

Hazel Sanders Bartley taught for 31 years before retiring and spent 20 of those years in the Ozark City Schools. She and her husband, Paul C. Bartley, Jr., a retired agronomist from the Department of the Army at Ft. Rucker, continue to live in Ozark. They have two sons—Paul C. Bartley, Jr., '77 and James S. Bartley—and a granddaughter.

Joseph Kyle Perkins retired in 1981 after 35½ years with IMPCO division of Ingersoll-Rand Co. Upon retirement, he became senior process consultant to the company's Fibertech Group, and continues to be active. Mr. Perkins received the Pulp Manufacturing Division Award in 1982 and was made a Fellow of the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry in 1985. His wife, Helen, sold her secretarial and answering service in 1982 and retired. They have three children including Virginia Perkins Chandler '72.

Edward Samuel Smith is a circuit judge with the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit in Washington, D.C. He and his wife, Innes, have a son and a daughter and two grandchildren. Judge Smith notes that he was one of five brothers who belonged to the same fraternity, Lambda Chi, "which also have the five Jackson brothers from Clairmont Springs. This may be a record?"

Hulett Lasseter King retired in 1982 but joined Fibro Chem, Inc., in Dalton, Ga., two years ago. His wife, Dorothy, is a school food service manager. They have four children and five grandchildren.

Suzelle Hare McGehee spent 25 years keeping house and rearing six children and at the age of 50 went to work as a social worker for the Department of Pensions and Security. She spent three years in that job before returning home. She and her husband, C.L. (Babe) McGehee, live in Auburn where he heads two businesses, one which manufactures wooden boxes for soft drinks and the other a screen-printing business. The McGehees' children are—Susan Venable, Mary M. Pope '73, Clark McGehee '73, Catherine McGehee '82, Robert McGehee '73, and Bruce, now a junior at Auburn.

Sam Price Jones retired in 1975 as superintendent of the Dothan City Schools. In addition to teaching in a number of schools, he was an instructor in the school of Engineering at Auburn, head of the lab school at Livingston University, and principal of both Troy and Dothan High Schools. He and his wife, Voncile, live in Dothan and have one son, Sam Price Jones, Jr.

Helen Porch Smith taught in Sylacauga for 23 years before retiring in 1978. She and her husband, James, who is also retired, have two children—James W. Smith, Jr., and C. Robert Smith '70—and two grandchildren.

William Brooks Carroll currently is a part-time instructor in mathematics at Prince Georges Community College in Largo, Md., after retiring from the Air Force after 27 years and then retiring again from Communications Satellite Corp. where he worked 15 years, retiring as assistant general manager of the International Operations Division. He and his wife, Dorothy, live in Camp Springs, Md. They have two sons and a daughter.

Winfrey Boyd of Stone Mountain, Ga., is project manager with Batson Cook Co., a general contractor. He and his wife, Virginia, a secretary, have six children and seven grandchildren.

After retiring from the Air Force in 1970, John Furniss Watters spent 11 years managing a real estate business before fully retiring in 1982. He and his wife, Jean, live in Bellevue, Neb., and have six children and four grandchildren.

Earl Franklin Kennamer retired from the Alabama Cooperative Extension Service after 35 years as a wildlife specialist in 1974. His wife, Rosalie, retired a year later after working for the Extension Service and the Auburn University Library. The Kennamers continue to live in Auburn. They have two children—Dr. James Earl Kennamer '64 and Anna Marie Kennamer Rush '70.

Albert Henry Locke, DVM, has an equine practice in Magnolia, Del. He and his wife, Freelo, have three children and two grandchildren.

1941-1944

Nelle Clegg Watson '41 of Millbrook recently published her second book of poetry, Bred by a

Breeze, and has given a copy to the Auburn Special Collections division of the library.

Martin Wender '41 retired in 1980 as director of contracts for the Naval Surface Weapons Center in White Oak, Va., and Dahlgren, Va. He is currently president of Negotiations International Ltd., which conducts classes in acquisition management, contract negotiations and administration. He has trained more than 4,600 students at 49 different programs for the Department of Defense and civilian activities. He notes that he recently had to have his ODK ring enlarged, "as I have grown in age and weight." Mr. Wender lives in Silver Spring, Md.

Thomas L. Campbell '41 has retired in Atlanta and with his wife, Sue, comes to all Auburn home football games and many out of town. They are active with the Atlanta Auburn Club and enjoy traveling often.

Bernice Bailey Cofield '42 retired on Dec. 31, 1984, from the Georgia Department of Education as area consultant for school food services in the northwest Georgia area. She lives in Lafayette, Ga.

Ed Gentle '42 and his wife, Jeanne, recently concluded an assignment with International Executive Service Corps working with the Directorate General of Telecommunications as a volunteer executive consultant for several weeks in Taipei, Taiwan, which he notes was "interesting and educational!"

John D. Bridgers '44 of Albuquerque, N.M., has received Sigma Chi Fraternity's highest honor for outstanding achievements in his field. Mr. Bridgers, one of 17 alumni honored by the award, was recognized for his achievements as director of athletics at Florida State and the University of New Mexico and as football coach at Baylor and Johns Hopkins. Mr. Bridgers is director of athletics at the University of New Mexico.

1945

Jane Post Henry has worked part-time for seven years as an assistant administrator at Twelve Oaks Lodge, a non-profit retirement home. She and her husband, Edward, a CPA, live in Burbank, Calif. They have two daughters and four grandchildren.

Dorothy Hackney Crook and her husband, Robert L. Crook '43, live in Birmingham where he is in real estate and insurance. They have two children—Susan Crook Rowell, who attended Auburn for two years, and Robert L. Crook, Jr., '73—and four grandchildren.

William Russell Sanders and his wife, Julia, live in Temple, Ga. He retired in 1959 because of a physical condition. Referring to Auburn academically, Mr. Sanders wrote, "I made a great improvement while attending Auburn. I can second what Jerry Roden said in his column about teaching English. I have seen it from the inside."

Mary Ella Allen Burns and her husband,

RANDOLPH COUNTY—Pictured at the June meeting of the Randolph County Auburn Club are current officers and special guests from Auburn. Alumni from Tallapoosa and Chambers Counties were also invited to the meeting at which Coach Pat Dye and Alumni Executive Director Buck Bradberry were the speakers. From left are: Steve Burns, president; Coach Dye; Patsy Bowles Cotney '73, secretary; Mr. Bradberry; Dan Anderson '76, vice president; Leslie Hamby, associate secretary of Alumni and Development; and Larry McGill '69, treasurer.

Montroy, live in Sheffield where he retired in 1982 as a chemical engineer. They have two children—Allen Rutledge Burns '79 and Whiter M. Burns—and a grandson. Mrs. Burns has been active as an officer of Little League five years, an officer of the high school athletic boosters for six years, and treasurer of the United Methodist Women at her church for six years.

Thomas Vernon Raines '45, DVM, and his wife, Nancy Sallade, live in Potomac, Md. They have two children and two grandchildren. Dr. Raines is veterinary medical officer with new drug submissions in the poultry section at the Medicine, Federal Drug Administration's Center for Veterinary Mrs. Raines is active with AAUW and formerly was on the citizen's advisory board of the Montgomery County, Md., Crisis Center. She helped develop the child sexual abuse awareness program for the Montgomery County [Md.] schools.

Mary Helen Wilson Sanders says she has been "a household executive for 42 years." Her husband, John H. Sanders '43, is vice president and assistant general manager for Eastman Chemical Division of Eastman Kodak in Kingsport, Tenn. They have two sons, J.D. Sanders and Scott Sanders.

Arnold Silverberg, DVM, and his wife, Ann, live in Jacksonville, Fla., where he operates a small animal practice, Beach Boulevard Animal Hospital. They have three children and two grandchildren.

N. Kathryn (Kay) Turnham lives in Auburn where her husband, Pete B. Turnham '44, is owner and president of Alabama Contract Sales, an office and school supply company, and she is a kindergarten teacher with the Lee County School System. They have four children—Diane Turner McCrary '79, Tim Turnham, Ruthmary Turnham, and Joe Turnham '81—and three grandchildren.

Mary Jane Mullen Street and her husband, John, live in Birmingham, where she is clinical dietitian at Brookwood Medical Center and he is operations manager with South Central Bell. They have a daughter and a granddaughter.

Mailande Cheney Sledge is associate professor of English at Marion Military Institute. She received her Ph.D. in English from the University of Alabama on May 18. She and her husband, Joe L. Sledge '43, DVM, live in Greensboro. The Sledges have six children, including Mailande Sledge Easley '66 and William Cheney Sledge '82.

Francis M. Powell is emergency room physician at East Alabama Medical Center. His wife, Rebecca, is a nurse at EAMC. They have one daughter, Pamela Anne.

Norma McNeill Denham retired in May 1984 from Bamberger's in New York City where she was art director for 26 years. She continues to live in New York.

Margaret Toomer Hall and her husband, John R. Hall '48, live in Atlanta where he is with Construction Data Control, Inc., developers, manufacturers, and marketers of computer software for the construction industry. They have two children and four grandchildren.

John Edward Wilborn has been a partner in the Wilborn Construction Co. for 40 years. He and his wife, Marie, live in Birmingham and have four children including: Pamette Wilborn '67, Kathy Wilborn Ivey '74, and Marsha Wilborn Walsh '67.

Ruth Booras Davis and her husband, Richard R. Davis '47, live in Starkville, Miss., where her husband is assistant to the vice president of agriculture at Mississippi State. The Davises have three children.

Charles T. Scott and his wife, Sara Ann Nichols '47, live in Edmond, Okla., where he is president of Lear Siegler, Inc., management services division. They have two children.

Edna Coyle Stone is a retired teacher from the Huntsville City Schools. Her husband, Walter, is retired as an aerospace engineer with NASA at Marshall Space Flight Center. They have three children—including Sissy Stone, presently a senior at Auburn.

Lawrence H. Pease '45, DVM, remains an adjunct professor at the University of Southwest Louisiana where he retired as head of the animal science department in 1978. He notes that he is "preoccupied with management of Mobile Home Court." His wife, June, retired in 1979 from teaching home economics. They have two children and two grandchildren. Dr. Pease remained in touch with Auburn for many years by sharing in preparing pre-vet students for Auburn.

Bob Wesley Dean and his wife, Martha Grace '47, live in Atlanta where he is technical vice president with Mallory & Evans, Inc., and she is a travel agent with Vacations International. They have four children.

Gwendolyn Tucker Biddle retired in 1984 after 36½ years with the Volusia County [Fla.] School System. At the time of her retirement, she had been principal of a senior high school for eight years. Her husband is retired from the family service station business. They have one son.

Virginia Borders Whitley is a state immigration specialist with the Georgia Department of Labor. Her husband, Grover Morgan Whitley '46, is retired. They have two children and live in Atlanta.

Barbara Beck Bailey retired on Jan. 1 as senior supervisor with Travelers Insurance Co. Her husband, George, is also retired from Travelers.

Dorothy Williams Culpepper retired in June 1984 as assistant supervisor of school food services with the DeKalb County [Ga.] School System. Her husband, Lawson, is also retired. They live in Atlanta and have three children, including Susan Culpepper Lynd '74, and five grandchildren.

James Thomas McMichael is senior technical consultant with American Telephone and Telegraph Technologies, Inc. He and his wife, Sarah Louise Moore '47, live in Greensboro, N.C.

1946-1949

Thermon Robert Lang '46 of Sardis writes that he's sold his business and retired. He's "looking forward to football season and a lot of happy hours to spend in Auburn."

Edwin Frank Pearson '46 of Decatur has retired from Monsanto, real estate, and the Air Force Reserve.

J. Marvin Johnston '46 has been elected to a fourth term as tax collector of Conecuh County.

M. Eugene Moor, Jr., vice chairman of the board of AmSouth Bank is the new president of the Alabama Bankers Association. He has been with the banking company since 1950 and assumed his present title in 1977. He is a graduate of the School of Banking of the South of LSU.

Dr. Raymond J. Young '47 was appointed assistant director of meat inspection with the Georgia Department of Agriculture on July 1. His office is now in Atlanta.

Joseph E. Cook '47 of Nashville has retired after 38 years with South Central Bell. He was general manager/resident and community affairs for Tennessee.

Leonard G. Pease, Jr., '47 of Atlanta retired in October, 1984, and writes that he is "now enjoying golf, fishing, and grandchildren!"

Kenneth J. Barr '47 retired on July 1 from Amoco Corp. (formerly Standard Oil of Indiana) after 37 years of service. He had been named president and CEO of Cyprus Minerals Co., formerly Amoco Minerals, following spin-off from Amoco Corp. Cyprus Chemicals, headquartered in Englewood, Colo., is a diversified company producing coal, copper, molybdenum, and industrial minerals. Mr. Barr joined Amoco as a junior engineer following graduation. By 1963 he had become chief engineer. Subsequent positions included vice president of Amoco Canada, Amoco Production Company-New Orleans, and executive vice president of Amoco International and Amoco Production. He and his wife, Jeanne Bonner, live in Denver, Colo., and have three children living in Louisiana and Florida.

Helen Williamson Thomas '47 retired from the Mobile County Board of School Commissioners on June 13. Her husband, Dr. John Harvey Thomas '48, retired from the Mobile College faculty on July 12. They live in Daphne.

Sue Carpenter Andress '48 and her husband, John E. Andress '48, have three children, all Auburn alumni: Randal Paul Andress '71, with TRW in Huntsville; Allan E. Andress '77, with Alabama Department of Wildlife Conservation; and Brenda Lain Andress Potts.

Robert T. Scott '48 is retired after 36 years with Westinghouse Electric and is now living on Soldier Creek at Perdido Beach.

J. Burl Galloway '48 of Titusville, Fla., is director of technical support with McDonnell Douglas Technical Services Co. He and his wife,

GETTING TOGETHER—Pictured at the August meeting of the Northern California Auburn Club are, in the top photo Charles D. Robertson '37 and Brandt Woodward '37, two devoted Auburn men who drove a long way for the meeting. In the bottom photo are Marilee Richter, Mark Marsh '70, Lyndal Myrick Curry '74, and Tim Curry '73.

Mary, have four children who all attended Auburn: Jochael W. Galloway, John C. Galloway, Steven L. Galloway '75, and Lisa Galloway Batts '83.

Charles L. Seay '48 has been named director of international trade services with Eastman Chemical Products, Inc., in Kingsport, Tenn. He had been director of product management in the at the time of his appointment. He is president of the Kingsport Coalition, Inc., is active with the Rotary Club and First Presbyterian Church. He and his wife, Mary, have two daughters and two sons.

Russell Alford, Jr., '49 of Birmingham, manager of design services for power delivery, is the new chairman of the Alabama section of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers. He is a member of the state board of the Alabama Professional Engineers and Land Surveyors and previously served on the board of directors of the Joint Engineering Council of Alabama.

James D. Morris, Jr., '49 of Columbia, S.C., is retired after 35½ years with Allis-Chalmers Corp. He held a number of management positions with the company over the years and lived in Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Wisconsin, Missouri, and South Carolina. He and his wife, Lucy, will continue to live in Columbia where he is entering the securities and insurance field.

1950

Billy R. Jones retired on March 1 after 30 years with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. After three months as loan review officer with the First City Bank of Dallas, Tex., he joined Bay Bank & Trust Co. in Panama City, Fla., as vice president. He and his wife, Jo, live in Panama City.

Bette Whitson Adams works in the student loan department of Central Bank in Birmingham. Her daughter, Robin Adams Trapolino '79, is a pharmacist with Big B in Birmingham and her son, Webb Whitson L. Adams '76, works for UAB.

Toon R. Ferrell and his wife, Gerry, are now retired and living at Bay Point in Panama City Beach, Fla.

Harold C. Ingram of Decatur retired in Dec. 1982 after 29 years with Monsanto. He and his wife, Mary, "have enjoyed traveling throughout the U.S. and have been trying to improve my golf game. We are also avid War Eagle football fans and seldom miss a game."

Frank Sego was recently elected national vice president-east of Exchange Clubs of America. He has been on the 50,000-member civic organization's national board for the past four years. For the past 12 years, Mr. Sego has been governmental affairs director of the Alabama Forestry Commission. His daughter, Michelle, is in her junior year at Auburn.

The Alabama Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners recently honored their retiring president, Thomas M. (Tim) Miller, DVM. Dr. Miller practiced veterinary medicine in Dothan for 27 years and has served on the board for the past 20 years, the last six as president. Eight years ago he sold his practice in Dothan and moved to Elba to head the State Veterinary Diagnostic Lab. "During his 20 years of service, he has never missed a meeting of the Board," said Dr. Warren Kent, Sr., a board member, in presenting Dr. Miller a plaque for dedicated service. Dr. Miller and his wife, Rene, have one son—a physician in Opelika—two daughters—both registered nurses—and three grandchildren. He has been a Rotarian for 31 years and is a member of the Methodist Church.

James L. Chambers, DVM, became semi-retired in March and sold his practice. He and his wife, Billie, live in Montgomery and have three sons and six grandchildren.

1951-1954

William J. Hardy '51 retired as county agent in Wilcox County on June 30. He had been in Wilcox County since 1954.

Jerry M. Baker '51 operates Jerry Baker Co., Real Estate and Insurance, in Sheffield.

John H. Becton '51 became president of the First Bank of Grove Hill on Jan. 15. He has been with the bank since 1965. He and his wife, Madge, have three children—Harla B. Brunson; Jadda Becton '74; and Dana Becton '81. Mr. Becton is immediate past president of the Independent Bankers of Alabama as well as chairman of the Independent Banks Division of the Alabama Bankers Association and a member of the Community Bankers Advisory Board, a division of American Bankers Association. He is immediate past president of the Clarke-Washington Auburn Club and has been chairman of the Industrial Development Board of Clarke County since its inception. He was also charter president of the Grove Hill Lions Club, chairman of the deacons' committee of the Grove Hill Baptist Church, and president of the local chamber of commerce.

James D. Randall, Jr., '52 has been with the Hillsborough [Fla.] County Schools for 30 years. He was recently promoted to assistant superintendent for administration and operations.

Dr. Richard E. Wilhite '53 has a son, Jerry V. Wilhite '83, DVM, of the University of Tennessee in partnership practice at Old Hatchie Veterinary Clinic in Bolivar, Tenn.

Irene Casey Payne '53 and her husband, Charles L. Payne, Sr., '57, live in Columbus, Ga. Irene is a third grade teacher with the Muscogee County School System. They have three children—Charles L. Payne, Jr., '78, Gail Payne Tourtellotte '80, and Jill Payne '84.

Thomas H. Scott '53, deputy director of the Enriching Operations Division and chief of the Operations Branch for the Department of Energy's Oak Ridge Operations, has retired from Federal Service. He had been with the Oak Ridge since 1973 and was appointed deputy director in 1979 where he has been responsible for the operations of three gaseous diffusion plants and the gas centrifuge enrichment plant. He had been involved in nuclear energy programs since 1959. During his career Mr. Scott received Superior Performance Awards in 1960, 1983, and 1984. He is a columnist for Engine! Engine!, the quarterly journal of the Society for the Preservation and Appreciation of Antique Fire Apparatus in America. He is a member of the Oliver Springs Volunteer Fire Department, has been a member of the Oak Ridge Football Officials' Association since 1973, and was selected to referee the Tennessee Secondary School Athletic Association Class A Finals in 1983. Mr. Scott and his wife, Janet, have two children: Jan, an Auburn graduate and youth director of the First United Methodist Church, and David, a student on basketball scholarship at Tennessee Wesleyan in Athens, Tenn.

G.E. Uthlaut and his wife, Dorothy Stafford '54, left the position of managing director of Esso Exploration and Production UK Limited in London, England, in June to move to Exxon USA in Houston, Tex.

Mary Abell Randall '54 recently retired from 25 years as a teacher with the Hillsborough County Schools in Tampa, Fla., as an English teacher at Dowdell Jr. High. She is presently associated with Burnett and Curry Real Estate, Inc., in Brandon, Fla.

1955

After 20 years in advertising in New York and Atlanta, Howard Skelton and his wife, Freddie, opened their own advertising and public relations agency in 1976 in Atlanta, only to decide Sarasota, Fla., was their dreamland. So in 1983, Howard Skelton Associates opened in Sarasota. They have a staff of seven. Freddie is creative director and has won 43 awards as a commercial artist and has exhibited her paintings in New York and Atlanta.

Mary Hopson Thompson and her husband, James, live in Opelika where she has taught language arts at the junior high for 18 years and he is in timber management and consulting. They have two children, including AU graduate Pamela Barks Duca '81 of Fredericksburg, Va.

Robert D. Word, Jr., and his wife, Elizabeth Payne, live in Scottsboro where he's an investor. The Words' two children are both Auburn alumni: Robert D. Word, III, '81, who's also a graduate of Cumberland Law School, and Emily Payne Word '83.

Val G. Hietter, III, and his wife, Carolyn, live in Jacksonville, Fla., where he is a senior field rating representative with ISO Commercial Risk Services, Inc., which was known as South-Eastern Underwriters Assoc. 30 years ago when Mr. Hietter began his career with them. He's had several job titles over that time. They have two children, including Michael Val Hietter, currently an AU junior, and two grandchildren.

CLUB MEETING—Among those attending the August meeting of the Northern California Auburn Club were, top photo, from left: Meredith Luck '71, Hank L. Miller '64, and Phyllis Evers. In the bottom photo are Virginia Bethea Stephens '42 and Ed Stephens.

Danny L. Wright and his wife, Syble, live in Ozark where he is deputy director of resource management with the Army Aviation Center at Ft. Rucker and she is a purchasing agent with Phillips Van Heusen Corp. They have three children. Mr. Wright holds the MBA degree from Syracuse University.

Jack N. Reynolds and his wife, Armeto Chandler '57, live in Slidell, La., but will soon be moving to West Germany.

Dr. Richard P. Reese and his wife, Shirley, live in Americus, Ga., where he is professor of education at Georgia Southwestern College. They have four children: Meredith, Catherine, Nancy Jane, and Richard, III. Richard is grandson of the late Prof. Michael Thomas Fullan and Ella Yeager Fullan of Auburn and great-great grandson of Edwin Reese, builder of the old Presbyterian Church (now the University Chapel) in 1850 in Auburn.

John D. Logue and his wife, Helen, a computer consultant, live in Birmingham where he is editor-in-chief of Oxmoor House as well as creative director of Southern Progress Corp. They have three children, including John, an Auburn industrial design student. Mr. Logue writes mystery novels in his spare time.

Wayne Walter Upton and his wife, Barbara Anne, live in Jacksonville, Fla., where he has been pastor of Jacksonville Heights Baptist Church since 1976 after having served as professor of missions/evangelism at Luther Rice Seminary. They have two children.

Glenn D. Moon, Jr., and his wife, Verna, live in Moultrie, Ga., where he is vice president and trust officer with Moultrie National Bank. They have four children and two grandchildren.

Nell Winn Foshee and her husband, Phillip Dewey Foshee, Sr., '53, live in Clanton where he is a doctor. They have four children: Phillip D. Foshee, Jr., '74 (who's married to Amy Britton '80); Evelyn Estelle F. Bramlett; Forrest Winn Foshee '77; and Randall Foshee '85.

Anne B. Coleman Crane and her husband Tillman (Gil) Crane '50, live in Decatur where she's a salesperson with Steve Shirley Realtors, Inc., and he is a pharmacist. They have four children, including Auburn alumni Elizabeth Crane Breland '80 and Katherine C. Nabors '84.

Mary Louise Collins lives in Birmingham where she has been a medical technician at Baptist Medical Center-Montclair for 15 years. William M. Adair and his wife, Jacqueline Waller, live in Marietta, Ga. He has been president of Adair Associates/Advertising for 14 years and she's been treasurer during that time. They have two children.

Benny B. Barrow and his wife, Esther, live in Andalusia where he owns Recycling Resources Co. and she's a school librarian. They have three children—including Auburn grads Ben, Jr., '75 and David '79—and six grandchildren.

Austin Travis Beatty and his wife, Newana, live in Birmingham where he's marketing manager with O'Neal Steel, Inc. He has been with the company 25 years. He has three children, including Kevin who begins Auburn this fall.

Dewey Byron Cash and his wife, Louise, live in Columbus, Ga., where he has been a math professor at Columbus College for 27 years. They have three children and one grandson.

William W. Clarkson and his wife, Elizabeth, live in Lynchburg, Va., where he's been contracts manager with Montague-Betts Co., Inc., for 29 years. They have two children.

Nell Jopling Davis and her husband, Paul Stewart Davis '56, live in North Palm Beach, Fla., where she's been secretary at First Presbyterian Church for 10 years and he's district manager of engineering and assignment for Southern Bell Telephone Co. They have two sons who are or will be Auburn graduates: James Allen '83 and Mark Stewart '86.

Robert Laird Ellis and his wife, Sue Felder

'64, live in Blakely, Ga., where he is vice president of Felder Hardware & Builders Supply, Inc., and she's the company's president. They have two children including daughter Anne-Marie, an Auburn student.

Robert William Harrison, Jr., lives in Cocoa Beach, Fla., where he's been process engineering staff manager with Lockheed Space Operations Co. for 26 years. He has four children.

William Ray Helms and his wife, Nellie Sue, live in Brundige where he's self-employed with a heating and air conditioning repair service and she teaches high school English. They have three children.

Sue Carter Jefferson is a nutrition consultant in Orlando, Fla., where she lives with her daughter, Marcia Kate, 11. Sue is enjoying preparing for a new vocation by expanding her hobby of growing amaryllis bulbs.

John D. Lovvorn and his wife, Nita, live in Brunswick, Ga., where he's been a vocational agribusiness teacher for 13 years and she teaches music. They have a daughter and one grandson.

Helen Coppedge Middleton and her husband, Robert L. Middleton '56, live in Huntsville where he's an engineer at Marshall Space Flight Center and she owns an interior design firm. They have twin sons, Michael '80 and David '84. Helen is currently Alabama chapter president of the American Society of Interior Designers.

Susanna (Tanna) Rives Nicholson and her husband, Mike, live in Athens, Ga., where she's a bookbinder and he's a professor of art at the University of Georgia. They have two sons.

William Carlyle Patterson, DVM, and his wife, Rebecca, live in Columbia, Tenn., where he's a veterinarian. They have four children.

Faye Couey Walker and her husband, James, live in Hartselle. They have one son, William '82, and a grandson, William Glenn, Jr., almost 2.

Gary S. Gay and his wife, Kay, live in Mobile with their three children—Gary, Charles and Benjamin. Gary is president of Associated Dry-wall, Inc.

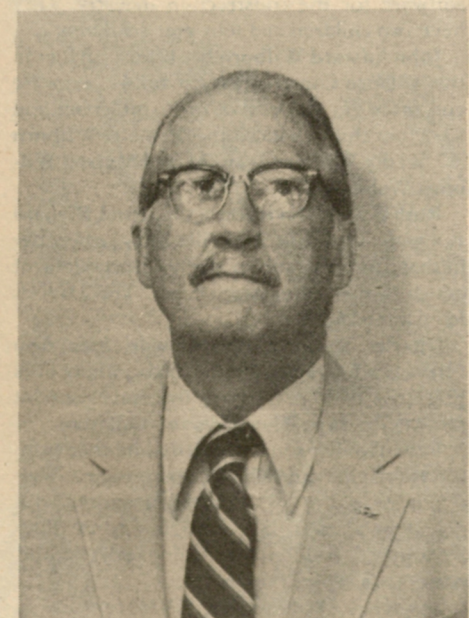

Charles Barton Flynn and his wife, Rosemary, live in Charlotte, N.C. He's spent 25 years as a claim security analyst with Allstate Insurance Co. They have two sons.

Cassie William Price, DVM, and his wife, Diane, live in Prentiss, Miss., where he's a veterinarian. They have three children.

Robert G. Jordan and his wife, Netha, live in Henderson, Tenn., where he's been with the USDA since 1977. They have two children and two grandchildren.

Edwin Rex Peters and his wife, Joyce, live in Gadsden where he's been president of Peters Oil Co., Inc., for 14 years. Joyce is secretary and treasurer of the company. They have two children.

David R. Brown and his wife, Marilyn, live in Towson, Md., where he is chief pilot for U.S. Fidelity & Guaranty Life Insurance Co. He retired from the Air Force as a colonel in 1979. They have two children and a grandson.

VET BOARD HONORS—Thomas M. (Tim) Miller '50, DVM, was recently honored by the Alabama Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners for his 20 years of service, the past six as president. Dr. Miller practiced in Dothan before moving to Elba to head the State Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory.

Dr. H.C. Morgan, associate dean for academic affairs of the Auburn School of Veterinary Medicine, has been selected to receive a 1985 Certificate of Merit from the ACT/NACADA National Recognition Program for Academic Advising. He will receive the award on Oct. 16 during the NACADA Annual Conference.

Sue Stowers Cramer and her husband, Gary, live in Atlanta, Ga. She's been in real estate since 1969, the past six years with Harry Norman Realtors. They have three children and four grandchildren.

Frederick F. Denton, Jr., and his wife, Evala, live in Montgomery where he's been industrial development director for the State of Alabama for 14 years. She is with the State's Mental Health Department as a data processor. Their three children all attended Auburn: Bonnie Jane Wegel, Joy Lynn Denton '83, and Julie Ann Denton '83.

Geraldine Anderson Luster and her husband, Spencer, live in Millbrook where he's retired from the military and she's a chemist with Eastern Environmental Radiation Lab. They have two sons: J. Anderson Luster '84 and Christopher T. Luster, who's an Auburn student.

William Oland Smallwood and his wife, Dorothy Mae, live in Clearwater, Fla., where he's capital facilities coordinator with Sperry Corporation's microwave and support systems division. They have three children and two grandchildren.

Henry R. Neal and his wife, Vilena P. Neal '58, live in LaGrange, Ga., where he retired in 1983 after teaching vocational agriculture for 40 years. She retired after teaching art at the high school. Vilena now bakes wedding and birthday cakes and paints. They have three children and five grandchildren.

James V. Mallett and his wife, Margaret, live in Pensacola, Fla., where he is president of his own consulting engineering company. They have two children and a granddaughter.

Richard J. Joyner and his wife, Dorothy, live in Wheaton, Ill. He's been a senior specialist in planning and economics with Amoco Oil Co. for 25 years. They have four children.

Edwina Sims Gaskin and her husband, James A. Gaskin '56, live in Opp where she's been an instructor in business education at MacArthur State Technical College for 17 years. Their two children are both Auburn graduates: Lori Gaskin Thomison '83 (whose husband is Jim Thomison '83) and Alex Gaskin '85.

Robert Thornton Crews and his wife, Hester, live in Clarksville, Tenn., where he's an associate professor of biology at Austin Peay State University and program director of the university-based medical technology program. Hester is executive aide to the dean of students at APSU. They have two children.

Wilma Barnes Meads and her husband, Homer Ray Meads '58, live in Eutaw where he's a veterinarian with the USDA and she teaches first grade at Warrior Academy. They have three children, including James A. Meads '82, and one grandson.

Glenn Arthur Wilcox and his wife, Carole, live in Robertsdale where he is with the Navy and she's a registered nurse. They have four children, one of whom is Auburn alum Sharon W. Connolly '82, and three grandchildren.

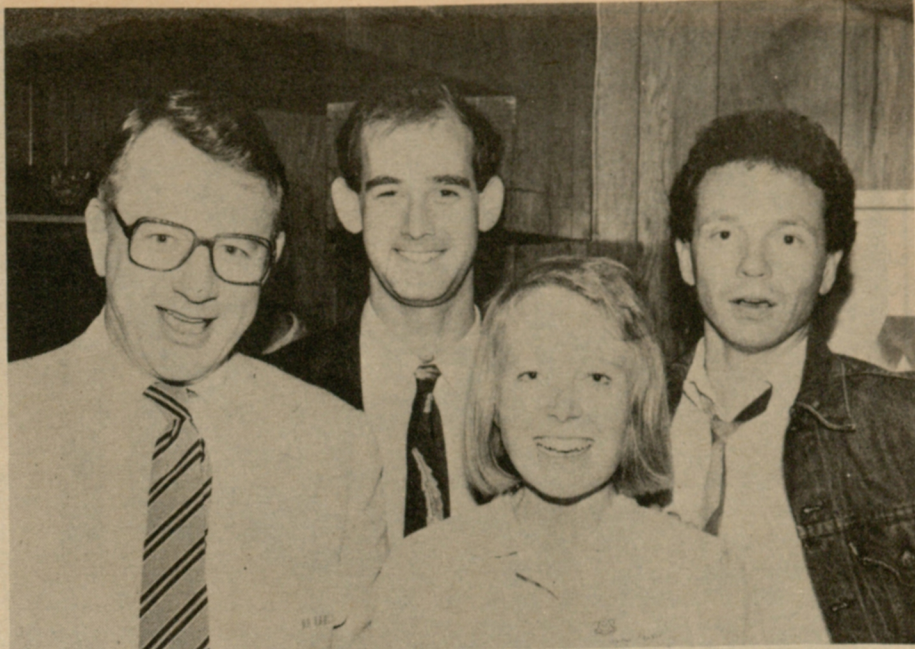

Sheldon L. Morgan and his wife, Joyce Hardwick '54, live in Mobile and have four children and four grandchildren.

T. Adrian Brown and his wife, Margarita, live in Treasure Island, Fla., where he is with the Space and Strategic-Avionics Division of Honeywell, Inc., and she has been a teacher's aide for 11 years. They have three children.

Donald Fred Denman and his wife, Joanne Wise '54, live in Samson where he's owned Denman Farms for 28 years. She's a partner in Flower & Gift World. They have three children, including Dianne, currently an AU student.

John Rudolph Seibold and his wife, Connie, live in Tulsa, Okla., where he's in his 22nd year with Amoco Corp. and she's an analyst programmer with Cotton Petroleum. They have three children.

Berlett Herbert Ford, Jr., has been staff pharmacist with Southeast Alabama Medical Center for four years. He and his wife, Sue, a nurse at SAMC, live in Headland. They have three children, with daughters Leigh Ford Parsons '79 and Jane Ford Patton '82 Auburn graduates.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA—Pictured at the August 3 meeting of the Northern California Auburn Club are, top photo from left: Jackson E. Johnson '59, Tracy Lea '68, Sarah Perry, and Mark Barasch. In the bottom photo are Ann Freeman, Ole Krogh, and Hugh Krogh-Freeman. (Before their move to California, Dr. Krogh was on the Auburn faculty and his wife was a writer for the Auburn Development Program.)

Ann Middleton Goodwin and her husband, Arthur Donald Goodwin '56, live in Birmingham where he's associate pastor of Lake-side Baptist Church and she's secretary at Altadena Valley Presbyterian Church. Their daughter, Donna Denise G. Dickson '79, and son, Mark Alan Goodwin '84, are both Auburn graduates. They have a grandson who's almost three.

John Lewis Sellers and his wife, Ann Ford '57, live in Syracuse, N.Y., where he is a professor at Syracuse University and chairman of the Department of Visual Communication and she owns The Dollhouse Emporium. They have four children and five grandchildren.

Fred H. Steele and his wife, Molly, live in Huntsville where he's had 30 years of service with Army Missile Command. They have three children, including Auburn students Ben and Freddy.

William H. Whitaker, Jr., and his wife, Margaret Ragsdale '56, live in Birmingham where he's president of Zortec, Inc. They have two children, one of whom is Karen Leigh Whitaker '79.

Philip A. Watts and his wife, Barbara, live in Birmingham where he is president of Control & Power, Inc., and she's a secretary with the chaplain's office at Brookwood Medical Center. They have three children. Mr. Watts writes that this past January six Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity brothers from '54-'56 went skiing in Aspen, Colo. The six included himself, Jim Johnson '55, Felix Cochran '55, B.B. Word '54, Dave Smith '56, and George Bryant '55.

Bryan B. Marsh, Jr., and his wife, Carole, live in Richardson, Tex., where he is president of Marsh Builders, Inc., and Marsh & Associates Realtors. Carole is a real estate agent. They have three children.

E. Florene Longcrier Minchew and her husband, Julian, live in Pensacola, Fla., where he's self employed and she teaches music at Ensley Elementary School. Their daughter Anne-Marie attends Troy State.

A.L. (Al) Morrison, Jr., and his wife, Shirley, live in Montgomery where he's in his 28th year with IBM, serving as branch manager. They have two children.

Robert Bruce Lassiter and his wife, Mary Ann, live in Santa Ana, Calif., where he owns Lassiter's R.V. Center. They have three children, including Auburn senior Robert B. Lassiter, Jr.

Alvin H. Gibbs and his wife, Sarah, recently returned to their home in Birmingham after a trip up the West coast from Tijuana, Mexico, to Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada. Last fall they toured New England, both trips being with the United Methodist Center for Senior Citizens of Birmingham.

J. Miles Thomas, mayor of Opelika, accepted the 1985 Alabama Pharmacy Leadership Award in June at the Alabama Pharmaceutical Association's annual convention at Sandestin Beach, Fla. A newspaper account of the award said of Thomas, "His true interest in his customers and their health is evident in his everyday practice of pharmacy."

Isaac R. Prater retired July 1 from his position of business enterprise representative with the Alabama Institute for Deaf and Blind at Talladega. He now lives in Weogufka.

Charles Frank Bentley and his wife, Mary, live in Notasulga where he retired in 1975 after 24 years with the USDA's Soil Conservation Service. They have two children and three grandchildren.

Sarah Jones Havens and her husband, Edward, live in West Covina, Calif., where she's a part-time staff pharmacist and he's an engineer at Queen of the Valley Hospital.

Herman Thomas Dodd and his wife, Martha, live in Tucker, Ga., with their daughter, Lynne. Mr. Dodd has been with Southern Company Services, Inc., as an accountant for 26 years.

James Harold Horne lives in Cordele, Ga., where he's complex manager with Gold Kist, Inc. His daughter, Sabrina H. Smith '79, and grandson Christopher Smith, 3, live in Nashville, Tenn.

William Boyd Reynolds retired this year after 15 years with the Vestavia Board of Education. He lives in Birmingham.

Louis T. Weekley and his wife, Sarah, live in Ward where he's in his 27th year at the James River Paper Corporation's Nadeola Mill. He has two children, including Auburn alum Ann W. Simmons '84, whose husband is Sean Simmons '84, and three grandchildren.

Wallace Elliott Birch of Titus is in his 16th year as state epidemiologist at the Alabama Department of Public Health in Montgomery. He has one son, David.

Alvin Hubert Gibbs and his wife, Sarah, live in Birmingham where he retired after 38 years with U.S. Steel, supervising metallurgy specifications. He's currently occupied with the United Methodist Center for Senior Citizens. Their two sons are both graduates of UAB. Mr. Gibbs writes that he began school at the University of Alabama but later transferred to Auburn because "I saw the light."

Grady Sue Loftin Saxon and her husband, James B. Saxon '57, live in Leeds where she's part-time professor at Samford University and a consultant with Family Enrichment Services while he's plant manager of Square D, Anderson Plants. Their two children are Kathryn Sue Saxon '81 and James Grady Saxon '84.

James R. Eichelberger and his wife, Betty, live in Fayette where he's been with Union Underwear Yarn Mills for 12 years. Their daughter, Janet, will graduate from Auburn next year.

Joan Davidson Holder and her husband, John, live in Columbus, Ga., where she's an agent with Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co. and he's an attorney. Three of her four children are Auburn graduates: George W. Mize, Jr., '80, David Mize '82, and Carter Mize '85.

James Burton Odom and his wife, June, live in Decatur. He's manager of the Space Telescope Office at Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville. They have two children, including Auburn alum James B. Odom, Jr., '83.

William Alfred Hunt and his wife, Ann, live in Gulf Breeze, Fla., where he's been president and owner of Gulf-Atlantic Construction, Inc., for 15 years and president and owner of Guin and Hunt General Construction for 26 years. He was president of the Florida Council of Associated General Contractors in 1984 and is currently on the Advisory Council for Building Science at Auburn. They have six daughters, including Auburn graduates Elizabeth Ann Puckett '81 and Pamela Dalfonso '84.

Lester W. Teel and his wife, Gay, live in Auburn where he's been a self-employed painting contractor for 23 years. They have three children and five grandchildren.

Beth Carlovitz Holtam and her husband, Jordan Greene Holtam '57, live in Celina, Tenn., but they have recently become representatives with AFRICARE in Lusaka, Zambia. They have four children and one granddaughter.

James H. Hendry and his wife, Donis Parker Hendry '57, live in Atlanta, Ga., where he's a senior marketing representative with IBM. Their sons Don Hendry '81 and Jeff Hendry, now an AU sophomore, continue the family's Auburn connection.

David E. Wingard and his wife, Dorothy, live in Memphis, Tenn., where he's president of Memphis Drum Service, Inc. They have three children and three grandchildren.

Gaynell Downey Grant and her husband, Charles Wesley Grant '53, live in Fairhope where she's been a teacher for 24 years with the Baldwin County Board of Education and he's associate superintendent. They have four children, including Auburn grads Brenda G. Saltz '78, Sharon G. Gable '81, and, next year, Susan Grant '86. The Grants also have two grandsons.

Hunter S. Bell, Jr., and his wife, Llewellyn, live in Atlanta, Ga., where he owns his own company. Their son, Hunter, III, is a 1983 Auburn graduate.

Jack Lewis Rogers and his wife, Jennilee, live in Pensacola, Fla., where he's been general project engineer with Monsanto Textile Co. for 29 years. They have three children.

Augusta York Kracke and her husband, Henry Kracke '54, live in Panama City, Fla., where she teaches high school and he is store manager for Goodyear. Their son, Larry Kracke '79, and daughter, Karen Kracke '83, are Auburn alums. They have a granddaughter, Ashley, 1.

Emmett K. Taylor, Jr., and his wife, Winifred, live in Pisgah Forest, N.C., where he is retired from the Army, last holding the rank of lieutenant colonel.

George William Cooley and his wife, Faye, live in Huntsville where he's a senior aerospace engineer with Morton-Thiokol Corp. in his 28th year. They have three children, including Auburn grad Barbara Cooley '79.

John Killough Pearce and his wife, Joyce, live in Poplar Bluff, Mo., where he's retired. They have a daughter and a granddaughter.

Clarice Smith Gibbs and her husband, Dr. Sydney Royston Gibbs, live in Birmingham where he's a surgeon. Daughter Julie Gibbs '82 is an Auburn alum. Mrs. Gibbs enjoyed her daughter's four years at Auburn because they "brought back old memories."

Richard Frank Mitchell and his wife, Iris, live in Dallas, Tex., where he is vice chairman and chief administrative officer of the Zale Corp. They have two children. Mr. Mitchell was named Outstanding Accounting alumnus in 1981, served as executive in residence for the AU School of Business in 1983, and is currently on the School's advisory council.

John Vernon (Jack) Skinner, Jr., is an attorney in Atlanta, Ga. He has two children.

James L. Johnson and his wife, Jerry Nelson '56, live in Birmingham where he's in his 30th year with Jim Johnson and Associates. They have three children: Linda Stone '79, Beth Monlove, and Auburn senior James Johnson, Jr.

Ray M. Prichard and his wife, Joann, live in Birmingham where he is vice president of sales and marketing for the store room division of Thompson Tractor Co., Inc. They have three children, including AU graduate Michael R. Prichard '81 and Auburn junior Danny Prichard.

Gerald Olmstead Flournoy and his wife, Mary, live in Decatur, Ga., where he retired in December 1984 after 27 years as postal inspector. They have four children and three grandchildren.

Leslie Melvyn Kramer and his wife, Sara, live in Mobile where he owns Construction Administration Liaison Management (C.A.L.M.) Co. They have five children.

Frank B. Smith, Jr., and his wife, Jeanne, live in Ocala, Fla., where he's a salesman with Mass Mutual Life Insurance Co. They have three children and two grandchildren.

Nancy Smith Bannon Smith and her husband, Frank, live in Ft. Walton Beach, Fla., where she's a part-time salesperson at a clothing store and he's a retired Air Force lieutenant colonel, former pilot, and current real estate salesman with VIP Realty. Nancy was married to Paul A. Bannon '56 who was shot down while flying an Air Force mission in Laos in July 1969. He was declared dead in 1979. Nancy and Frank have been married since October 1982. Nancy has three sons, including Auburn graduate Jeffrey Bannon '82 and current Auburn student Jon Bannon. She is co-owner of Feed-bag, Inc., western wear, riding gear, etc.

Sam R. Hester, Jr., and his wife, Joyce, live in Ft. Walton Beach, Fla., where he's chief of the electronics branch at Eglin AFB. Their son, Sam R. Hester, III, '83 is an AU alum.

Ethel Lee Dial and her husband, William Gilbert Sellers, live in Ramer where he's a pulpwood broker. They have three children: Lee Ann Runyeon '79, William G. Sellers, III, DVM, '84, and Susan Irene Windham '82.

S. Eugene Dekich and his wife, Nina Faye Kelly '52, live in Birmingham where he has been manager of Provident Life & Accident Insurance Co. in Alabama and northwest Florida for 25 years and she's a church librarian. They have two children and one grandchild. Mr. Dekich was recently honored for a quarter century of service to his company.

Thomas Leonard Moore, Sr., and his wife, Carolyn, live in Lee, Fla., where he's taught at Lee Junior High for 29 years. Their three children are all Auburnites: Tommy Moore '81; Bonnie Moore, who holds an Auburn degree in speech pathology and is currently enrolled in graduate school at Auburn, expecting to complete her degree next June; and Margaret, who plans to enter Auburn fall quarter of '86.

John Lindsey Hart, Jr., and his wife,

HENRY COUNTY—Officers of the Henry County Auburn Club pictured at their July 30 meeting are, from left, seated: Richard L. Bendinger, Jr., '77, vice president; Samuel J. Clenny, III, '74, president; and Lucky C. Armstrong, secretary-treasurer. Standing are: Don W. Skipper '67, outgoing president; William W. Norden '44, director; Mark C. Espy '65, director; Catherine Kwilecki Herndon '73, director; and Lester H. Killebrew '68, director.

Eleanor, live in Winter Park, Fla., where he's been an electronics engineer with the Naval Training Equipment Center for 19 years. They have three children.

Aldridge Marnar McMahan and his wife, Eva, live in Jacksonville, Fla., where he is a pharmacist for the State of Florida's Health and Rehabilitative Services Dept., in his 20th year. They have one son.

John William Dorminey and his wife, Peggy, live in Montgomery where he is a lab technician with Flav-O-Rich Dairy. They have two children.

1957-1959

Larry Godwin '57, a metal sculptor and artist, has been commissioned to build the Monument to Powered Flight to be located at Maxwell AFB in Montgomery celebrating the 75th anniversary of the establishment of the first school of aviation in the U.S. and commemorating Montgomery's connection with the Wright Brothers. He will build a full-scale stainless steel replica of the Wright Flyer for the Air Command and Staff College Foundation. Twin cantilevers will hold the aircraft aloft over a large, circular apron of terrazzo. Bronze donor plaques and a white pedestal, containing a cast-iron relief plaque of the Wright Brothers' hangar and an inscription, will be in front of the monument. It will be on Chennault Circle in front of the Air University Library at Maxwell AFB. Larry lives in Brundidge where he has a studio and gallery, Art Acres. He has works on the Alabama State University campus, in Montgomery City Park, and at Eastdale Mall. He has taught sculpture at both Alabama State and Auburn University-Montgomery. The Southern Association of Sculptors selected his work to include in a touring show and some of his works are included in several private collections.

Marvin C. (Buck) Van Wanderham '58 of the engineering division's materials engineering and technology laboratory of Pratt & Whitney received UTC's George Mead Gold Medal for engineering achievement. He and Jack Harris shared the honor for developing the Retirement for Cause program which includes state-of-the-art inspection methods and is expected to save hundreds of millions of dollars.

Forrest Clay Bishop, Jr., of Montgomery is plant accountant for Universal/Nolid, a division of White Consolidated Industries.

Jean Dawson Stockburger '58 became a partner in the law firm of Mitchell, Williams, Selig, Jackson & Tucker in Little Rock, Ark., on Jan. 1. She is one of the first two women partners in the 35-lawyer firm. The other is Anne Ritchey who taught English at Auburn prior to entering law school in Little Rock in 1976.

Lionel Worthy '58 of Gainesville, Fla., retired from the Night Vision Laboratory of the Army Electronics Command, Ft. Belvoir, Va., in 1977. He says he now has "an obsession with roses, mostly hybrid teas. I am currently president of the Gainesville Rose Society which is affiliated with the American Rose Society. We sponsor a rose show each spring and have had entires from Alabama, Georgia, and Florida. At our April 1983 show I won King of the Show and Dowager Queen of the Show."

A. Lamar Baggs, Jr., '58 retired in April from the FAA, Atlanta Tower, to the family farm at Rt. 2, Vienna, Ga. He notes that "thirty-one years of government service in air traffic control is enough!"

William H. McMahan '59 has been appointed coordinator of the Faculty Development Center at Mississippi State University. The center seeks to enhance professional and personal development of faculty throughout the university. Dr. McMahan will continue to teach in the chemistry department but will relinquish the supervision of the freshman chemistry program.

On August 1, H. Wyman Dorough '59 became professor and head of the department of biological sciences at Mississippi State. He had been director of the graduate center for toxicology at the University of Kentucky before moving to Mississippi State. A Diplomate in the Academy of Toxicological Sciences, he teaches a graduate course in insecticide chemistry and toxicology and has more than 125 publications dealing with pesticide chemicals. Dr. Dorough received the University of Kentucky Research Award in 1974 and, for his contributions to graduate education, the Sturgill Award in 1980.

Peyton A. Sides '59 is retired from the Air Force and associated with Montgomery Ward in Oklahoma City, Okla. He would like to hear from his old Auburn friends from the classes of '57, '58, '59, and '60.

1960

Bill E. Poole lives in Huntsville where he is the owner of Bill Poole Realty, Commercial Brokerage. He has a daughter, Scarlett Lee.

George E. Ramey is professor and head of the Dept. of Civil Engineering at Auburn University. He and his wife, Sandra, a self-employed typist, have five children: Kim, Tracy, and Lisa—current Auburn students—and Douglas and John.

Jack Carlton Lewis and his wife, Claire, live in Alexander City where Jack is an industrial engineer with Russell Corp. They have three sons, Michael, Erik, and Lee Patrick.

James F. Thompson is a physicist for NASA in Huntsville where he lives with his wife, Jackie, and daughter, Stephanie, 16.

John Thomas Stallings and his wife, Joy Paterson, live in Montgomery and have two children, Lucy Lynn '84 and John Thomas, expected to graduate in 1988. John is vice president of Litton UHS/von Gal Palletizers.

Donald Ray Patrick is an aerospace engineer for AST Flight Systems Test for Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville. He and his wife, Maxine, have three children—Laurie Beth '83, Lisa Anne, an Auburn student, and Jerome Walker, 15.

Edward Davis Walker and his wife, Carole Meadows '62, live in Milledgeville, Ga. Edward recently sold his company and now owns a registered Angus cattle farm, raises catfish, and is building Georgia's first catfish processing house. Edward is president of the Milledgeville-Baldwin Chamber of Commerce, chairman of the Milledgeville-Baldwin County Recreation Department, and national chairman of Collegiate Water Skiing. He is former chairman of the Georgia College Foundation. They have three sons—Ed, II, a senior at Presbyterian College, and twins Thad and Steve, who are juniors at Auburn.

Michael A. Papadeas lives in Burlington, N.C., and is department chief of project engineering for AT&T Technology Systems.

James Carmichael Newton, Jr., is director of loss administration for Fuqua Industries, Inc. His wife, Judy Strickland '62, is a special education school teacher in DeKalb County. They live in Tucker, Ga., and have two sons, J.C., III, a sophomore at Georgia Tech, and Robert, 18.

Ronald Lee Coleman and his wife, Bonnie, live in Madison where Ronald is senior principal engineer for Computer Sciences Corp.

George E. Williams is Tech Service Engineer for the plastics division of Phillips Chemical Co. He and his wife, Cathey, live in Manchester, Tenn., and have two sons, G. Ed, Jr., and Samuel.

Eva Mae Jernigan Spielman of Murfreesboro, Tenn., is a Chapter I remedial reading teacher for Rutherford County. She has three children, Kathy S. Carter, Caroline, and Ben. Caroline received a Rotary scholarship for a year's study in France, which began in July.

Thomas L. Barton and his wife, Sandra, live in Abbeville where Thomas is owner and operator of Abbeville Machine Shop. They have two children, Milly, an Auburn student, and Gina, 15.

James R. Isbell, DVM, is owner of Isbell Animal Clinic in Gadsden where he lives with his wife, Tomilyn Eagar, part-time interior decorator. They have three children—Lisa Angelyn Isbell '84; Amy, an Auburn student; and Jayson, 16.

James Harrom Baker is staff engineer for Lockheed Georgia Co. in Marietta, Ga. He and his wife, Mary Pearl, have three children—Teresa Lynn, James H., Jr., and Daphne Ann—and three grandchildren.

William Ernest Biles is professor and chairman of industrial engineering at Louisiana State University. He lives in Baton Rouge with his wife, Mary. They have three daughters, Pamela, Portia, and Patricia.

Chuck Dunseth and his wife, Sue Morris '64, live in Dothan where Chuck is a partner with Dunseth & Lee, Architects. They have three children, Sandy Dunseth '85; Paul, an Auburn student; and Robin, 15.

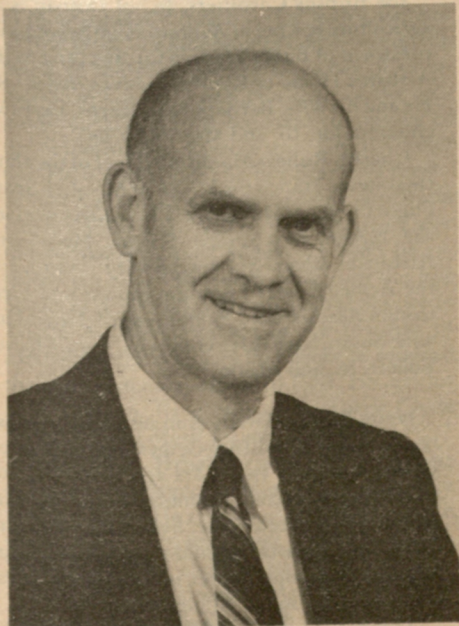

Clifford Boyd Foster and his wife, Mary, live in Greenville and have three daughters, Lisa Helen Foster '84; Susan Boyd, a graduate of Judson and USA; and Mary Catherine, 14. Boyd is president, engineer and land surveyor of Boyd Foster, Inc.

Jann Pitts Lecroy and her husband, Jim Lecroy '58, live in Birmingham where Jann teaches English grammar and personal development for Herzing Institute and Jim is budget specialist for South Central Bell. They have a son, Scott, a graduate of Birmingham-Southern and the University of Alabama Medical School.

Howard L. (Buzz) Manning is staff engineer for Rust International Corp. and his wife, Barbara Robinson, is interior designer and store manager of Attic Antiques. They live in Birmingham and have two children, Cindy, 24, and Mark, 20.

William S. Pesto of Alpharetta, Ga., is supervisor of Bell Laboratories. He and his wife, Camellia, have two children, Steve '84, and Tanya, an Auburn student.

Linda Hall Trucks is chairman of the Humanities Division at Jefferson State Junior College. She lives in Birmingham and has three children—Robert, Jr., a South Alabama graduate; Wayne, an Auburn student; and Beth, 15.

RETIREES—Thomas H. Scott '53, deputy director of the Enriching Operations Division and chief of the Operations Branch for the Department of Energy's Oak Ridge, Tenn., operations has retired from Federal service. He has been involved in nuclear energy since 1959.

Charles Harvey Sasser and his wife, Carolyn Godwin, live in Montgomery where Charles is with Colonial Bank. He has been president and chief executive officer of Colonial Bank of Northwest Alabama for six years. They have three children—Danny, Tim, and Cathy, who is beginning Auburn this fall.

William H. Owen manages a Sears store in Salisbury, Md., where he lives with his wife, Elva. They have five children—John, William Jason, Catherine, and twins Laura and Lesley.

Stan Nemec is in citrus research in Maitland, Fla. His wife, Violet Parrington, is a preschool director. They have two children, Della Nemec '84 and Todd, currently an Auburn student.

Gerald Newton Sumners is an engineer with the Army Missile Command and affiliated commands in Huntsville, where he is involved in project management. His wife, Dorothy, is a secretary with the Army Corps of Engineers. They have two children—Linda Kay Sumners DeBrunner '84 and Susan Gail Sumners, currently an Auburn student. Both Linda and Susan received Auburn Alumni Association Scholarships.

Mary Griffin Mastin and her husband, William Charles Mastin '58, live in Huntsville. Mary is a social studies teacher at Lee High and her husband is an engineer with NASA. They have three children—Bartley, who attended Auburn for a year and is now at UAH; Brent, an Auburn student; and Shannon, who attends Huntsville High.

Snow Proctor Kee is president of Proctor Enterprises, Inc., a college book and supply store. Snow and her husband, the late James D. (Dan) Proctor '60, worked at J&M as students and then moved to Georgia Tech to manage Engineer's Bookstore. They later opened stores at Emory and at DeKalb College, although the Emory store burned in 1979. Dan died in 1982 and Snow has since married James William Kee, who owns Kee Automotive Performance Center. Snow has four children: Susan, a graduate of Agnes Scott; James Daniel, Jr., who attends DeKalb College; Helen Josephine Proctor, a student at Auburn; and John Edward Proctor, a student at Shamrock High in Decatur, Ga.

James O. Williams is chancellor of Auburn University at Montgomery. He and his wife, Pamela, have five children—James O., Jr., who attended AUM and is now at Cumberland Law School; David, 23; Tyler, 18; Travis, 14; and Deric, 11.

Beebe Ray Frederick, Jr., and his wife, Carol, live in Montgomery where he is in insurance with the Frederick Agency.

Earl L. Norton and his wife, Julia, live in Auburn where he works for the USDA and she is a Welcome Wagon hostess. They have two sons, Tony and Daniel.

Charles R. Dyess and his wife, Nancy, live in Ft. Walton Beach, Fla., with their three children—Sharon, Lorraine, and Ricky.

Roger Conrad Vaughan and his wife, Jean Whatley '61, live in Birmingham where he is assistant manager of industrial marketing with Alabama Power and she teaches kindergarten and heads the preschool department at Advent Day School. They have two sons, Jefferson Roger Vaughan, who is currently in medical school at the University of South Alabama and Andrew Boyd Vaughan, a UAB student.

Lydia Moore Almand teaches English in the Jackson County, Fla., schools. Her husband, Howard, is an English instructor at Chipola Jr. College. They have two daughters—Carol, a graduate of Huntingdon, and Mary Alice, a graduate of Birmingham-Southern.

Thomas F. Boast is president and chief officer of Boast Investment Planning Services, Inc., in Albany, Ga. He and his wife, Laura, have four children—Thomas, Jr., who will be a freshman at Georgia this fall; Billy, 14; Rebecca, 5; and Beau, 3.

E. Boyd Cobb is president of Cobb & Associates, Inc., of Chattanooga, Tenn. He and his wife, Susan Copeland '63, have three children—Elizabeth Kelly Cobb, a graduate of UNC; Mitchell Taylor Cobb, a junior at Auburn; and Bradley Boyd, a senior in high school.

James Autrey Manley, Jr., writes that his daughter, Anne Kimble Manley, graduated in June becoming the third generation to graduate from Auburn. Her grandparents are John C. '40 and Anne Pittman Elder '36.

Anita Camp McCalla is secretary-bookkeeper at Alabama Laborers-AGC in Birmingham. Her husband, Irby Hugh McCalla, is training director with the same company. They have three children—twins Scott and Pete, 13, and Gena, 12.

Richard Lynn Buckelew is general engineer with the Army Missile Command at Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville. He and his wife, Betty, have one son, Steven. Richard is a captain with the civil engineer corps of the Naval Reserve and currently is commanding officer with the Twentieth Reserve Naval Construction Regiment at Gulfport, Miss.

Samuel Ralph Pate is senior vice president and general manager of the AEDC group of Sverdrup Technology, Inc., in Tullahoma, Tenn. He and his wife, Tommye, have three daughters and two grandchildren.

John Robert Davis, Jr., is a lieutenant with the Birmingham Police Department. He and his wife, Judith, live in Chelsea. They have three children—Genie, Brad, and Kim—and one granddaughter.

Emily Earle Jones Parham and her husband, Charles, moved to Columbus, Ga., this summer, where he is executive vice president of Columbus Mills. They have two children—Robby, a junior at Mars Hill College, and Laura, a freshman at Auburn this fall.

Sydney Roton Wells and her husband, James, live in Huntsville. They have three children—Ashley, a recent graduate of Randolph Macon; Anna, a student at Birmingham-Southern, and James, 15.

Marcia Loftin Sheppard and her husband, Stanley A. Sheppard '61, live in Tallahassee, Fla., where he is a pedodontist. They have two sons, Shep, 15, and Lee, 12.

Harriet Hollifield Volk is a speech pathologist in Knox, N.D. Her husband, Edward, operates a 2,000-acre small grain farm and is a member of the North Dakota Wheat Commission. They have six children—Philip, 19; Marcie, 17; Charles, 15; Katie, Juliana, and Steven.

Howell Asher Womack and his wife, Betty, live in Tuscaloosa and have four children—Cyndy W. Codina; Bradley; Lowell, an Auburn freshman; and Haley, 16—and three grandchildren. Lowell is senior vice president and senior trust officer for The First National Bank of Tuscaloosa.

Rebecca Powell Beckwith and her husband, Lt. Col. George G. Beckwith '54, live in Kissimmee, Fla., where Rebecca teaches kindergarten and George is assistant manager of Kissimmee Feed Store. They have four children—Charlotte, 19; Glen, 14; George, 12, and Dorothy, 8.

William Larry Booth is a retired commander of the U.S. Navy and now he is manager of storage and distribution for Lockheed Space Operations Co. at Kennedy Space Center. He and his wife, Elsie, live in Rockledge, Fla., and have two children—Annette, a graduate of Miami University, and William, a University of Florida student.

Alton B. Clingan has his own architecture firm, Clingan & Assoc., P.A., in Jackson, Miss., where he lives with his wife, Margaret, manager of Clingan Printing Co. They have three children, Carl, Keith, and Kaye, all graduates of Mississippi State.

Mildred Johnson Cohen and her husband, Arthur Cohen '58, live in Americus, Ga., where Arthur is a clothing merchant at A. Cohen's & Sons and Mildred is a housewife and substitute teacher. They have three children—David, 17, Arthur, 16, and Nita Lynn, 11.

Bobby Shearl Davis is district manager of Alabama Power Co. in Oneonta where he lives with his wife, Wynelle. They have three children—Regina, a Montevallo graduate; Bob, Jr.; and Stanley, a student at Trevecca Nazarene College in Nashville.

Winston W. Gardner, Jr., of Titusville, Fla., is a member of the House of Representatives, managing partner in W.W. Gardner & Associates Manufacturing, and president of Gardner, Griffith, Minicus & O'Hara, Inc., architects and engineers; Gardner-Griffith, Inc., engineers and constructors; Gardner, Johnson & Associates, advertising, media, public relations; and Breward GNP Corp., developers. He and his wife, Jerol, have two children, Winston W., III, a University of Florida student, and Betty Ann Gardner, a University of Florida graduate.

Gloria Ann Thomas Harmon and her husband, Paris Frederick Harmon '59, live in Selma and have two sons, Bart Gregory '84, and Matthew, 15.

H. Wilson Hawthorne, president-founder of

NEW HEAD—H. Wyman Dorough '59 became professor and head of the Department of Biological Sciences at Mississippi State University on Aug. 1. He is the former director of the Graduate Center for Toxicology at the University of Kentucky and a Diplomate of the Academy of Toxicological Sciences.

Delta Associates, Inc., lives in Longboat Key, Fla., with his wife, Judy Hilt '61, who graduated in radiologic technology from Manatee Community College in June. Delta Associates is an engineering firm specializing in aviation consulting in Alabama, Georgia, and Florida. Wilson has a plane and still flies, after learning at Auburn 23 years ago. They have four children—Wilson, Jr., a University of Georgia graduate; Amy Jones, a Columbus College graduate; Cathy; and Sam.

Carolyn Sheets Leath and her husband, William Scott Leath, live in Birmingham where Carolyn is graphics supervisor for Baptist Medical Center and William owns Custom Advertising Displays, Inc. They have two daughters, Lori Carolyn L. Smith '85 and Lisa Dianne, 16, who, according to her parents, "can't wait" to get to Auburn.

Wilbur Clanton Mosley, Jr., is staff research physicist for E.I. duPont at the Savannah River Laboratory in Aiken, S.C. He and his wife, Betty LaFrange '61, live in New Ellenton, S.C., and have two children, Benjamin Clanton Mosley '84, and Mary Elizabeth, a Furman student. Ben became the third generation of Auburn engineering graduates when he completed his degree in June, following in the footsteps of his father and his grandfather, Wilbur C. Mosley '26.

John B. Overmeyer of Baton Rouge, La., is maintenance and engineering supervisor for Ethyl Corp. He and his wife, Mary, have four children—Stephen, Anne, Sharon and David.

Charlotte Faye Williams Overstreet and her husband, Wynton Rex Overstreet '59, live in Hendersonville, Tenn., where Wynton is co-owner of Nashville Wholesale Molding Co. They have two daughters, Kimberly '83 and Paige '85.

James L. Perry, III, is a structural engineer for U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, South Atlantic Division. He is a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserve, completed the Army Command & Staff College in 1979, and received a master's in civil engineering from Georgia Tech in 1967. He lives in Dunwoody, Ga., and has three children, Pamela, Christina, and James, IV.

Russell Stephen Pimm and his wife, Bonnie, live in Huntsville where Russell is project director for the Army Ballistic Missile Defense Advanced Technology Center. They have two children, Carmen '85, and Scott, an Auburn student.

James Loyd Rooker of Vidalia, Ga., is project engineer for Southern Company Services, Inc. He has four children, Sheryl, Wehodlyn Kaye, Suzanne, and James.

Richard Miller Rousseau lives in Spring, Tex., with his wife, Kay, where he is account manager of the loss control dept. for Hartford Insurance Group. They have two sons, Richard, a University of Houston student, and Jeffrey, a University of Texas student.

Thomas N. Taylor is superintendent of education for Arab City Schools in Arab where he lives with his wife, Peggy. They have two children, Jeff Taylor '85, and Susan.

Random Shots at the Montgomery Auburn Club Meeting

—Photos by Kaye Lovvorn

Mary (Mark) Thigpen Barnes is a part-time tutor for the learning disabled. She lives in Mobile and has a son, Jerry Max, II, 15.

Thomas Phillip Tytula of Huntsville is chief engineer of system engineering analysis division for the Army Missile Command. He and his wife, Barbara, have two daughters, Teresa Lynn and Mary Elizabeth.

Marcilla Jacobs Heath and her husband, William Ted Heath, live in Stone Mountain, Ga., and have two sons, Mark and Lewis. Marcilla is reading specialist for the DeKalb County Board of Education and William works for 3M Company in inventory control.

John Olen Ballard of West Monroe, La., is president of The Ballard Agency. He and his wife, Diane, have three children—Cynthia B. McLaughlin, an AUM graduate; John, Jr.; and Stephen—and two grandchildren.

Martha Webb Hansens, account executive for E.F. Hutton, lives in Birmingham with her husband, Bob. They have four children—Lee, Robert, Christina, Cynthia—and four grandchildren.

Terry Sellers, Jr., is a professor in the Forest Products Utilization Laboratory at Mississippi State University. He and his wife, Joan, have two daughters, Jill an Emory graduate and Lee Anna Sellers '85.

Thomas David Bivin, Jr., and his wife, Patricia Lovvorn '61, live in Sylacauga and have two children, Leigh Ann B. Cox '82, and David, an Auburn student. Thomas is vice president and merchandise manager of Avondale Mills. They had their first grandchild in July.

Jesse Elbert Croley is process foreman for Monsanto Textiles Co. He and his wife, Janice Ardis '61, live in Pensacola, Fla., and have four children, Jesse, Jr., '84, Stephen, Rex, and Kathy.

Jim Patterson and his wife, Pat, live in Stone Mountain, Ga., where Jim is principal consulting engineer for Patterson Engineering. They have four children, Merl, James, Laura, and Bill.

Daniel Elliott Acker of Merritt Island, Fla., is European test coordinator for Martin Marietta Corp. He and his wife, Ursula, have two sons, Mark and Scott, both Auburn students.

John Robert Faulk is retired from the Navy Civil Engineer Corps and now is principal engineer of performing, planning, design, and construction for Computer Sciences Corp. He and his wife, Elizabeth, live in Stafford, Va., and have three children, Robert, Debora, and Steven.

John B. Cartwright and his wife, Charlene, live in Vancouver, Wash., where John is regional track engineer for Federal Railroad Administration. They have two children, Craig and Leigh Ann.

Jackie Reed Blessing of Huntsville is design engineering manager for Teledyne Brown. He and his wife, Gloria, have two daughters, Pamela Lynne Blessing '80, and Jacqueline Ann, who received a degree in nursing from the University of Southern Mississippi.

Joe W. Walker and his wife, Melba, live in Fayetteville, N.C. They have four children, Joseph, Tracey, Mark, and Brian. Joe is co-owner and vice president of Ellis-Walker Builders, Inc., which he and partner Leonard Ellis formed in 1982. The firm specializes in commercial, industrial, and military construction, and in 1984 were awarded contracts worth more than $4 million.

Carl M. Jeffcoat of Randolph, N.J., is district manager of international engineering for AT&T. He engineers and installs undersea telephone cables, directs the ocean survey, shipboard installation, and transmission testing. He has been involved in construction in the Mediterranean, Atlanta, Pacific, and the Caribbean, and travels extensively. He and his wife, Ann, have two children, Benjamin, 18, and Holly, 16.

Mary Kay Blanchfield Clements is a real estate agent in Columbus, Ga., where she lives with her husband, Merit, a marketing consultant whom she married in June, 1984. She has four children, Clay, Jay, and Linda Land, all University of Georgia graduates, and Ben Land, a Georgia student.

James Thomas Stewart of Athens, Ga., is a professor and head of the department of medical chemistry in the College of Pharmacy at the University of Georgia. He and his wife have three children, Elisa, a University of Georgia graduate, Cathryn and Sharyn, both 18.

Stanley G. Reach and his wife, Marie, live in Hueytown and have three children, Stan Reach, Jr., '83; William; and Paul, an Auburn student. Stanley is supervisor of general accounting and appropriations for U.S. Steel's Fairfield works.

Gladys Williams Hester lives in West Point, Ga., where she is a kindergarten teacher at Springwood School and her husband, James, is manager of Hester Printing. They have two children, Frank and Mary Charles, both Auburn students.

Martha Ann Jones Senkbeil of Jonesboro, Ga., teaches American history at Forest Park High School in Clayton County. She and her husband, Frank, have two children, Jeffrey Neil Senkbeil '84, and Amelia Leigh, an Auburn student.

Ronald Howard Sullivan is a sales representative for Parke-Davis Pharmaceutical Co. in Montgomery where he lives with his wife, Patricia Grimes, a medical secretary for Dr. Trawick. They have four children—Mary S. Tucker and Michael, both AUM graduates; Mark Sullivan '85, and Daniel, 18.

Danny F. Nail is project engineer for NASA in Cocoa Beach, Fla. He and his wife, Mary, a real estate agent, have three children, Debra, 17, Derrel, 15, and Tiffany, 12. They built an energy efficient house in 1982 which had the best energy performance index in the State of Florida at that time.

Sarah Poole Sullivan of Falls Church, Va., is a math skills center teacher for Arlington County schools and a million dollar agent for Skyline Properties.

Arthur John Steely, Jr., is retired from NASA at Marshall Space Flight Center. He and his wife, Judy, live in Huntsville and have two children, James, a junior at UAH, and Janet, 17.

Guy H. Payne of Skipperville has a son and daughter attending Auburn.

Col. Edward C. Bolen of Warner Robins, Ga., is director of Transportation, headquarters Air Force Reserve, at Robins AFB. His son, Bill, is a public administration and journalism major at Auburn.

Dan Stagner lives in Columbus, Ga., with his wife, Sylvia, where he is a salesman for Josten's high school and college graduation products. They have two children, Jubal, 16, and Josh, 15.

Col. William N. Winters, professor of Aerospace studies and commander for Air Force ROTC at Auburn until August, is chief of joint operations planning and execution systems for U.S. Central Command (USCENTCOM) headquartered at MacDill AFB, Tampa, Fla. USCENTCOM is the nation's newest unified command and has responsibilities in 19 countries in Southwest Asia, the Horn of Africa, and the Persian Gulf.

James Douglas Wood is senior project engineer for E.I. duPont. He and his wife, Janie, live in Macungie, Pa., and have two children, Elizabeth, a graduate of Brandywine, and James, Jr., who will graduate from Villanova in 1987.

Charles David Montgomery and his wife, Linda, live in Oak Ridge, Tenn., where he is development group leader of Martin Marietta Energy Systems. They have three children, David, Suzanne, and Michael.

Joe Robins Carothers, Jr., of Dothan is an agriculture teacher at Ashford High School, vice president of Burks Trading Co., Inc., and in the Alabama House of Representatives, district 86. He and his wife, Barbara Noel Burns, have two children, Joe, III, and Merritt Burns.

Charles Robert Mauldin is chief of the shuttle systems branch for NASA at Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville. Charles has received the NASA Exceptional Service Medal, the Astronaut Silver "Snoopy" Award (twice), and the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association's Honor Award. He and his wife, Susan, have three children—Lara, Charles Robert, Jr., and Alison.

James Edward Grady is an automotive industry specialist with CIBA-Geigy Corp. He moved to that company two years ago when DuPont sold its pigment color business. He and his wife, Renie, a registered nurse, live in Birmingham, Mich. They have three children—Jim and Mike, who are both sophomores in college, and Maureen, who is a senior in high school.

Thomas Anderson Chambliss is assistant dean/director of student teaching and field services in the School of Education at East Carolina University. His wife, Stella Chambliss, is principal of Elmhurst Elementary School in Greenville. She just completed 6½ years as development director for the Martin County, N.C., schools. They have two children, Valerie Ann,

18, and Jonathan Thomas, 15. In July Dr. Chambliss read a paper at the Seminario Didactica in San Jose, Costa Rica, a seminar on teacher education sponsored by the Organization of American States. Later he served as a teacher education consultant at the National University and writes that while there he "toured the School of Vet Medicine, saw the name of an Auburn alumnus listed as a member of the faculty."

Harris S. Burns is sales manager for Fouts Brothers Datsun in Marietta, Ga. His wife, Julietto, is an interior decorator. They have two sons, Harris S. Burns, III, 13, and Taylor Burns, 11.

Anthony Wayne Bulger is a pharmacist at Murphy Drugs in Prattville.

Reginald C. Simmons is owner and pharmacist at Plaza Shop & Save Drugs in Quincy, Fla. His wife, Patsy, is an executive secretary. They have two children—Tracey Lynne and Todd, who are both Auburn students.

William E. Davis of Forest City, N.C., is a plant industrial engineer with Burlington Industries. His wife, Mary Anne Gillis '64, teaches 8th grade. They have two children—Keith, a medical student at Chapel Hill, and William, an undergraduate at Chapel Hill.

Marian Key Barclay and her husband, Col. Douglas Hines Barclay '61, live at Fort Monmouth, N.J. They have three children—Douglas H. Barclay, II, '84; Karen Barclay, a student at William & Mary; and Alan Key Barclay, who begins his freshman year at Auburn this month.

Mark William McCurdy of Ider is vice president of Ladd Environmental Consultants, Inc. He and his wife, Linda, have five children: Bill Harris; Tim Harris; Shelly McCurdy Forsik; Ben McCurdy, currently an Auburn student and number 52 on the football team; and Mary McCurdy, 15.

Walter R. (Ron) Matthews is president of Southeastern Satellite Systems in Destin, Fla. He and his wife, Marie, have four children—Ron; Cande; Todd, an Auburn student; and Brett.

Ray Donald Reaves is base commander at Tinker AFB, Okla. He and his wife, Annette, have two children—Tanya Ann Reaves '84 and Ronald Ray Reaves, currently an Auburn student.

Robert G. (Jerry) Chandler is a civil engineer with the Army Corps of Engineers. He and his wife, Martha, live in Mobile, where she is a secretary at the University of South Alabama. They have two children, Cathy and Beth Chandler.

Thomas Frederick Fagan, Jr., is division quality management director with J.P. Stevens & Co., Inc., in Dublin, Ga. His wife, Theresa, is head nurse at the VA Hospital in Dublin. They have five children—Lynn Fagan '84, now in the School of Dentistry at the Medical University of South Carolina; Tom Fagan, III, a senior at The Citadel; Tim Fagan, entering Auburn in September on a four-year ROTC Scholarship; Leslie, 16; and Lori, 11.

Clyde Harry Wood is division vice president of the Southern Division of Alabama Power Co. in Montgomery. Clyde is active with a number of civic groups in Montgomery including on the board of the Montgomery Chamber of Commerce, where he is vice president of the economic council; on the technical committee of the committee to Restore the Electric Street Car. He is active with the Boy Scouts as president of the 14-county Tukabatchee Council and vice president and board member of Area Three (Southeastern United States). In 1983 he received the Silver Beaver Award from the Boy Scouts of America for Distinguished Service to Youth. A senior member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, he received the IEEE Centennial Medal in 1984. He and his wife, Carolyn, have two sons—Larry Clyde Wood '81 and Mark Joseph Wood '83.

Howard R. Hrbek is sales and marketing manager of magnetic films with American Hoechst Corp. He and his wife, Norma, live in Greer, S.C. They have four children—Cathy, Susanne, Bradley, and Mellisa.

George Edgar Bruner, Jr., DMD, is a self-employed dentist in Theodore. He and his wife, Janice, live in Mobile and have three children—George, III, Brooks William, and Ruth Anne.

Jake Wallace Purvis, DVM, operates an animal hospital in Ft. Walton Beach, Fla. He has three daughters—Vicki, Luanne, and Camille—and three grandchildren.

Barbara Robinson Manning and her husband, Howard Lester Manning, live in Birmingham where Barbara owns Attic Antiques and Howard works for Rust Engineering. They have two children—Cynthia and Mark.

Milton Albert (Mack) Ferguson is president and CEO of Activation, Inc. He and his wife, Shriley, live in Helena. They have four children—Cynthia, Milton, Jr., Ginger, and Corky. Mack is in the process of selling his current business and will enter industrial sales training this fall with his own company. He is on the executive committee of the Fluid Power Distributors Association, on the board of Stegall & Co., is a past board member of King's Ranch, and is a deacon in the Briarwood Presbyterian Church.

C. Wayne Ashmore is president of his family business, Reform Mercantile Co., Inc. His wife Patsy, teaches home economics at Pickens County High in Reform. They have two children—William and Suellen, who is a freshman at Auburn this fall.

Billy Warren Shelton and his wife, Nancy, live in Moulton. Billy is chief of the systems integration branch, program development, for NASA at Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville. The Sheltons have two children—Roger and Gwendolyn.

George Preiss and his wife, Jane Sentell '59, live in Little Rock, Ark., where he is unit sales manager with Procter & Gamble and she teaches elementary school. They have three daughters, two of whom are married.

Wallace Dohn Bonner is president and partner of Bonner & Russell Pharmacy, Inc., in Forsyth, Ga. His wife, Katherine, works part-time at the county library with the Children's Story Hour. They have two children, Wallace, 17, and Katherine, 12.

James Oliver Tolbert of Albertville is personnel manager with Mitchell Grocery Corp. He has two children—Jana P. Tolbert and James O. Tolbert, Jr., '77.

Jack Davis Mathews is design project engineer with Pratt & Whitney. He and his wife, Barbara Hobart '61, live in Tequesta, Fla. They have three children—Scott, 21; Steven, 17; and Kay, 15.

William R. (Bob) Murdock, Jr., is senior marketing representative with duPont. His wife, Carol, is group manager with Peau Soin International. They live in Mission Viejo, Calif., with their children—Brad, a junior at UCLA, and Andrew, 17.

Barrie A. Parker is a civilian radar engineer at Eglin AFB, Fla., where he is responsible for simulation of threat radar and other related ECM and radar including automatic radar cross section measurements. He and his wife, Yvonne, a secretary with the Okaloosa County School Board, have two sons—Barrie Allen, Jr., 26, and Randall Lee, 23.

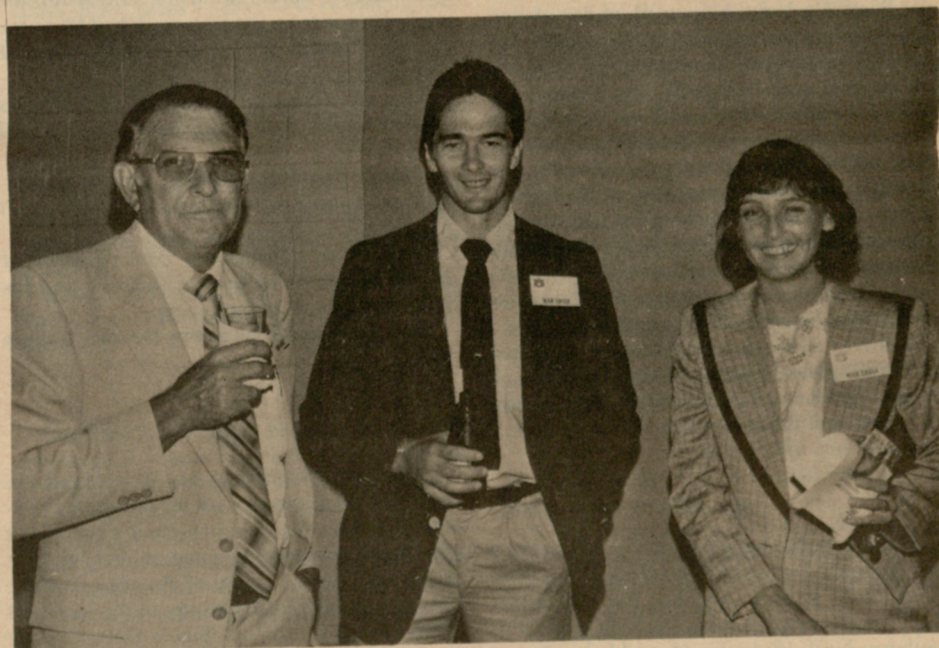

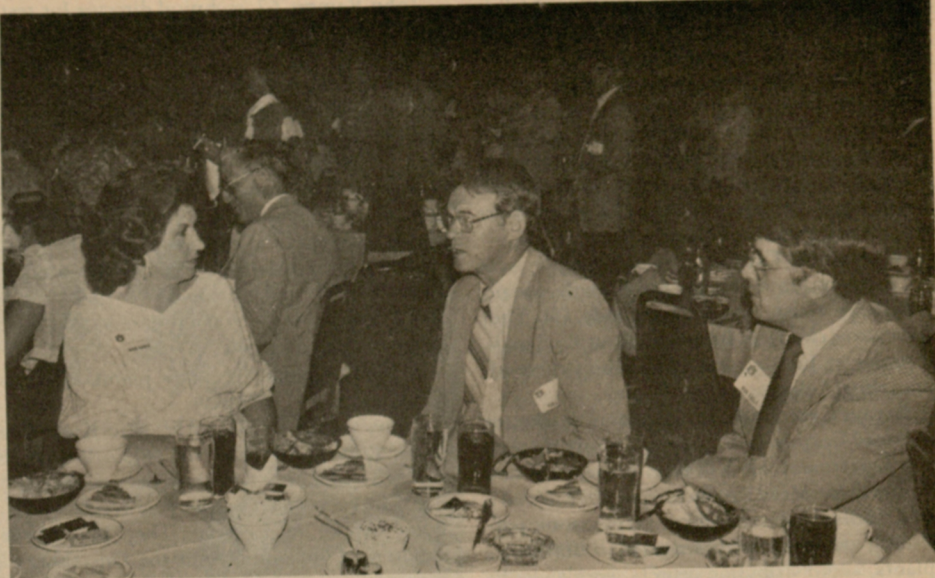

Brice F. Marsh is director of management information services for Royal Cup, Inc., in Birmingham. His wife, Mary Ellen, is a claims representative with Social Security. They have three children—Terri M. Hamer; Kevin Marsh, in junior high school; and Richard Irvin, a student at Auburn.

John Raymond Garrett and his wife, Nancy Carr '59, live in Burke, Va. He is manager of the management development division for the Federal Aviation Administration and she is budget analyst for the Department of the Army's military traffic management command. They have two sons, John Garrett, Jr., and Mark A. Garrett.

Mortimer Jefferson Thurman, Sr., is director of a work release center for the Alabama Department of Corrections. He was named director of the year for the Department of Corrections in both 1983 and 1984. In addition to earning an M.Ed. from Auburn in 1977, he studied at the National Academy of Corrections at the University of Colorado. He and his wife, Joyce, a teller with the Bank of Dadeville, live in Jackson's Gap. They have three children—M.J. Thurman, Jr., a student at Alex City Jr. College; Marti, 15; and Dandi, 11.

Ginger Spear Hawk and her husband, John D. Hawk '58, live in LaPine where he is a Shell Oil jobber and president of Spear Oil Co. They have three children—Derran, a student at AUM; DeeAnn, a student at Auburn; and Denton, a 9th grader.

Ronald Leon Dumas, DVM, owns Dumas Veterinary Clinic in Inverness, Fla. His wife, Marie, is an office administrator. They have three children—Debra, Gloria, and Ronald. Ronald has been honored by the Citrus County

Random Shots at the Montgomery Auburn Club Meeting

—Photos by Kaye Lovvorn

Fair Association which annually gives the R.L. Dumas Youth Scholarship. He is a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force Reserve and has served two terms (eight years) on the Citrus County Board of County Commissioners, two years as chairman. He is an honorary 4-H and FFA member and has been named an Outstanding State 4-H alumnus. He serves on the Blood Bank board of directors and has given more than seven gallons of blood.

Wyman M. Colson is sales manager with Sidal Aluminum Corp. He and his wife, Laurie, a makeup artist, live in Dunwoody, Ga. They have three children: Brenda Colson '85; Londa, a junior at Judson; and Chip, who's currently attending Auburn.

Bryant Crutchfield is manager of marketing in Mead Corporation's new corporate marketing department. He had been manager of new ventures for Mead Products since 1978. Mead is a $2.7 billion forest products and electronic publishing company with more than 100 mills, plants, and distribution centers worldwide. Its headquarters is in Dayton, Ohio.

Margaret Upshaw Richardson and her husband, Robert, live in Tryon, N.C.

Emmette Phillip Waite, Jr., has been with CH2M-Hill for 26 years in a number of positions including regional administrative manager, division manager of technical services, division manager of construction management services, and district discipline director of technical services. He and his wife, Janet Smith '59, live in Gainesville, Fla. They have three children—Julie Waite Dean, E. Phillip Waite, III, and S. Carole Waite.

M. Ann Sullivan Ortega and her husband, Jose Roberto Ortega '61, live in Montgomery. They have three children—Jody, 17; Juan, 13; and Joanna, 7. Ann works with her husband in his business, J.R. Ortega, Architect.

William M. Voigt is executive director of the Birmingham Parking Authority and a lieutenant colonel with the Alabama Air National Guard, currently assigned to the state headquarters staff, and serves as liaison officer with the Air Force Academy. Among a long list of civic involvements, he includes president of the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Alabama, president of the Jefferson-Shelby chapter of the March of Dimes, chairman of the Birmingham Community Education Advisory Council, president of the Birmingham Council of Parent-Teacher Associations, president of the Institutional and Municipal Parking Congress, president of the Birmingham chapter of the American Institute of Banking, president of the Alabama Jaycee Senators, and president of the Metropolitan Birmingham Football League.

Robert Felton Mann and his wife, Jane, live in Birmingham. They have three children—Hope, a graduate of Ole Miss; Lee Mann Porter '84; Rob; and Elizabeth.

1961-1964

Gail Cartledge Laye '61 of Columbia received her master's in early childhood education from Troy State in June. She has five children—Linda, a Huntingdon graduate; Scott, a junior at Auburn; Neal, 18; Leslie, 15; and Laura, 9.

Robert J. Danos '61 of Lakeland, Fla., is manager of granulation technology for Badger, a Raytheon company in Tampa, Fla.

Sheldon Wayne Darnell '61 of Sylacauga is head football coach and athletic director at Childersburg High School. He had his 100th career victory as head coach last year and is president of the Talladega County Coaches' Association for 1985-86.

Col. James Walter Buchey '61 lives in Burke, Va., where he has been reassigned to the Joint Staff in the Pentagon. He and his wife, Thellis, have a son, Scott Buchey '85.

James C. Mullenix, Jr., '62 is general manager of Lantuck Felt Mill and the Cusseta Plant of WestPoint Pepperell. He was previously manager of the Lantuck Felt Mill. He and his wife, Betty, live in Lanett and have three children—Cynthia M. Giardano, James, III, and William Scott, 17.

William C. Walley '62 and his wife, Jane Copeland, live in Hallsville, Tex.

Frank B. Tatom '62 of Huntsville works for Engineering Analysis, Inc., which has recently relocated.

Albert Kirwan '62 is national sales and marketing manager at Rohm Corp. in Irvine, Calif. He lives in Mission Viejo.

John Rumpy '62, technical director for testing at the Air Force's Arnold Engineering Development Center has been promoted to the Senior Executive Service, a civilian rank equivalent to general officer level. Senior Executive Service is the highest rank a civilian can attain and requires that the incumbent exercise managerial, policymaking or other executive management functions. He has been with Civil Service for 18 years and at Arnold for 11. He has a master's in engineering from the University of Tennessee. He and his wife, Marie, of Winchester, Tenn., have three children—Michael, 21; Stephen, 20; and Janet, 15.

Joanna Freeman '62 is now Joanna F. Curtis of Lilburn, Ga.

James L. Abbott '63 and his wife, Katherine (Kay) Reitmeyer '66, live in LaPlace, La., where Jim is an engineer with Louisiana Power and Light in New Orleans and Kay teaches at St. Peter School in Reserve. They have three children—Lisa, a student at the University of New Orleans and Charity Hospital School of Nursing; Melissa, 16, who recently returned from England and Scotland; and Nicole, 13.

Richard D. Lane '63 is a district court judge for Lee County.

Gerald Payne Lewis '63 of Roswell, Ga., "was last seen eating a table mountain pine cone near Roswell," according to his most recent communication with the Auburn Alumni Association.

Conrad L. Beland '63 retired from the Navy in February and is now program control manager for Sperry Corp. in Huntsville. He and his wife, Barbara Beckman '63, have two children, Susan, an Auburn student, and David, a high school sophomore.

Phillip L. Medlin '63 is captain for Delta Airlines on Boeing 737. He and his wife, Pat Little '62, owner of Brush and Needle Arts & Craft Shop live in Marietta, Ga., have two children, Phillip Sheu and Shana Lynn, both Auburn students. Phillip is a junior on an NROTC scholarship and Shana is an incoming freshman with both an Alumni Academic Scholarship and a scholarship from the Rotary Club of Marietta.

Jean Brennan '63 is now Jean B. Mann of Columbus, Ga.

James F. (Jimmy) Hitchcock, III, '64 is in his ninth year of teaching at Selma High school in Selma.

Dianne Strickland Hodges '64 teaches English and Spanish at Brookwood High School in Gwinnett County, Ga.

James Milton Bohannon '64 is president of Retail Information Systems, Inc. He and his wife, Ava, live in Montgomery.

Rosalie S. Cook '64 is now Rosalie C. Shipp of Ft. Payne.

1965

James E. Alderman '65 has been elected vice president of communications and public relations for Alabama Gas Corp. He is a member of the Public Relations Council of Alabama, the Public Relations Society of America, and the Alabama Professional Chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi. He had worked at a Birmingham television station before joining Alabama Gas in 1976.

Peter L. Goodrich '65 and his family have moved from England to Clayton, Calif., where he works for Eastman Kodak. He and his wife, Linda, have three children, Patrick, 15, Ryan, 11, and Blaine, 4.

Robert J. Spence '65 is new deputy assistant manager for Defense Programs with the Department of Energy's Oak Ridge operations. Among his responsibilities will be planning and execution of policies and programs for nuclear weapons production and related process development and quality assurance. He and his wife, Barbara, live in Knoxville, Tenn., and have three children—Kim, a student at the University of Tennessee; Kelley, a Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University student; and Kenny, 14.

Jerry T. Phillips '65 is marketing manager with Control Data Corp. in Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minn. He and his wife, Phyllis, have two children—Jan, who transferred to Auburn this fall, and Paul, 17. He writes that a group of War Eagles in the twin cities area have formed the Frozen Eagles Auburn Club which boasts over 50 members one month after formation. Their first event was a barbecue in August. Their president is Ralph Beard '71; vice president, Tom McClendon '79; secretary, Jan Pendleton '82; and treasurer, Charles Wyrick '80.

Joel Colley Watson '65 and his wife, Janice Ellis, live in Birmingham with their son, Joel Leighton, 15. Joel practices law in Hoover and Alabaster and Janice teaches first grade.

Howard Delane Fowler '65 received the Master of Science in administration from Georgia Southwestern College in June, 1984. He is manager of Distribution Center for Coats & Clark, Inc., a hand-knit yarn manufacturer in Albany, Ga. He and his wife, Rachelle, have two daughters, Anissa Lane and Jemmy Deanne.

Bob Heard '65 of Trussville is health superintendent for the State Farm Health Insurance Companies' Alabama region. He will supervise the Birmingham end of the operation when State Farm moves from its corporate offices in Bloomington, Ill., to Birmingham in 1986. He is captain the Alabama Air National Guard's 117th Resource Management Squadron.

Lt. Col. Frank H. Anderson, III, '65 is incoming commander of the 1st Signal Battalion in Kaiserslautern, Germany. His decorations include the Bronze Star Medal, the Defense Meritorious Service Medal, the Meritorious Service Medal, and the Air Medal. He is a graduate of the Army Command and Staff College and the Drense Systems Management College. He also holds an MBA from the New York Institute of Technology. He and his wife, Sandy, have two daughters, Beth and Virginia.

1966

Lt. Col. Robert P. Smith has been selected as the Air Force Manpower and Personnel Center's Command-Sponsored Research Fellow for a one-year assignment with the Airpower Research Institute, Center for Aerospace Doctrine, Research and Education, Air University, Maxwell AFB. While working on his research progress, Bob will also complete the Air War College and the AUM Master of Public Administration program. His wife, Air Force Nurse Major Cheryl Smith, and his four daughters continue to live in San Antonio, Tex., during his assignment.

R. Jerry Thacker recently sold his consulting engineering firm to Byers Engineering Co. and has formed a real estate development and brokerage company in Canton, Ga., where he lives with his wife, Doris, and their children, Nancy, 16, and Christy, 15.

Linda Lambert Zeiler and her husband, Richard John Zeiler '66, live in Pensacola, Fla., with children Todd, 16, and John David, 13. Richard is president of Gulf Coast Diversified, a subsidiary of Sacred Heart Health Systems, and Linda teaches English as a second language at Pensacola High School.

Austin M. Ashurst is senior electrical engineer in WestPoint Pepperell's Engineering Dept. He formerly was an electrical design engineer with Sherlock, Smith & Adams in Montgomery. He has two children, Brett of Norfolk, Va., and Amea of Montgomery.

William L. Henderson is manager of the Sandy Springs office for Georgia Federal Bank in Atlanta, Ga. An attorney, William has practiced law with two Atlanta firms for five years. He is a member of the Christian Businessman's Committee, Sandy Springs Chamber of Commerce, Gwinnet County Bar Association, Association of Trial Lawyers, and the Georgia Bar Association. He and his wife, Julia, live in Lilburn, Ga., with their two children.

Norma Eileen Worley is systems analyst for Alabama Electric Cooperative, Inc., in Andalusia where she lives with her husband, Mike, a State Farm agent, and children, Marcie, 13, Mark, Jr., 11, and Walter, 7. In their spare time, Mike and Norma are cattle and tree farmers.

James E. Hendrix is new vice president of research and development for Springs Industries in Ft. Mill, S.C. He joined Springs in 1978 after working for Milliken & Co., FMC Corp., and Monsanto. He received an M.S. in textile chemistry and a Ph.D. in chemistry from Clemson and an MBA from Winthrop College. He has also done postdoctoral work in flame retardant chemistry at the National Academy of Sciences.

1967

R. Gary Pitts, Ph.D., is vice president of biological research at Schering-Plough, consumer operations, in Memphis, Tenn. He lives in Germantown, Tenn.

Patsy Grant Ham of Lakeland, Fla., is an agent for Allstate Insurance. She has two daughters, Debbie, 14, and Laurie, 11.

J. Robert Heath lives in Lexington, Ky., with his son, Grif. Dr. Heath was recently promoted to associate vice president for information systems planning and policy director of the computing center at the University of Kentucky.

Vincent Ernest Parr received a Ph.D. in clinical psychology from Oklahoma State University in 1976. He has a private psychology practice in Tampa, Fla. He is also co-director of The Institute for Rational Living, adjunct professor for the University of Tampa, and a consultant for General Electric Neutron Devices Dept., St. Petersburg Police Dept., and the City of St. Petersburg.

Wallace Whatley of Auburn has received a grant from the Ingram Merrill Foundation in New York to compile a book of his short stories. He has published a book of poetry through a grant from the University of Alabama and has had twelve stories published in various places. He and his wife, Carol Adams '68, have two sons, Prince, 16, and Leslie, 11.

Raymond H. Smith and his wife, Helen Hall, live in Ooltewah, Tenn. Ray is technical director for Chatten Chemicals, the chemical division of Chatten, Inc., in Chattanooga.

ADOPTED: A baby daughter, Anna Katherine, by Mr. and Mrs. George W. Dyer (Peggy Kirby) '70 of Opelika in May. She joined David, 5.

1968

E. Wycliffe Orr practices law in Gainesville, Ga., where he specializes in insurance defense and tort litigation. He is a member of the boards of the Gainesville Arts Council, the Gainesville-Hall County Chamber of Commerce, the Auburn Alumni Association, and Junior Achievement of Northeast Georgia, Inc. He and his wife, Lyn, have two children—Kris, 15, and Cliff, 7.

David B. Cummings is vocational education director for the Russellville [Ala.] City School System. His wife, Carol Ann Flanigan '71, teaches second grade in the Russellville City Schools. They have two children, Andrea, 12, and Patrick, 7.

Dr. David Ernest Alsobrook lives in Atlanta, Ga., where he is a senior archivist with the Carter Presidential Library. Dr. Alsobrook completed his Ph.D. in 1983 and is currently revising his dissertation ("Mobile during the Progressive Era, 1896-1917") for publication. Before moving to Atlanta in 1981, he was an archivist with the Office of Presidential Libraries, Washington, D.C., including assignment in a national archives liaison office in the White House (1977-1981). He and his wife, Ellen Lester, have two children, Adam, 7, and Meredith, 2.

Michael Lynn Smith is executive vice president for Yarborough and Co. in High Point, N.C., where he and his wife, Bunnie Bradford '69, live with their children, Bradford, 11, Stirling, 7, and Adair, 2.

CORPORATE MARKET—Bryant Crutchfield '60 of Dayton, Ohio, is the manager of Mead Corporation's new corporate marketing department. He has spent 25 years in the company's school and home office supplies business. He had been manager of new ventures for Mead Products since 1978.

Jimmy Harris is general manager of Buffalo Rock Pepsi Co. in Dothan. Buffalo Rock has ten Pepsi franchises and both chairman of the board Jimmy Lee, Jr., '40 and president Jimmy Lee, III, '70 are Auburn alumni. Jimmy Harris and his wife, Ruth Stewart, have two children, Paige, 11, and Patrick, 5.

MARRIED: Mary Gilliland Veigas to Henri F. East '79 on June 16. They live in Montgomery.

BORN: A son, Jeffrey Martin, to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Curvin of Birmingham on April 2.

A son, Joshua David, to Mr. and Mrs. W. David Garrison on April 15. They live in Cullman.

1969

William T. Clements of Cape Elizabeth, Maine, is president and CEO of Saco Defense, Inc., a subsidiary of Maremont Corp. The company is located on the coast of Maine and is the largest producer of small to medium caliber weapon systems for the U.S. Government.

Kathryn Poe Lansden received the Master of Education degree in educational administration and supervision at the 66th commencement at Albany State College on June 2.

C. Van Treadway is president and owner of The Packaged Solution, Inc., an executive search and recruiting firm in Atlanta, Ga. He and his wife, Mary Beth, live in the Buckhead area with their one-year-old daughter, Mary Ashley.

Joseph P. Morton is superintendent of education for the Sylacauga Board of Education. He is also president of the Sylacauga Chamber of Commerce and the Sylacauga Rotary Club. He and his wife, Margaret, have two sons, Joseph, 10, and Matthew, 6.

Andrea Pyron Deneke and her husband, Walter E. (Butch) Deneke '70, live in Clanton with their three children, Heather, 14, Heath, 12, and Hunter, 8. Andrea teaches science and physical education at Chilton County High School and Butch is chief pharmacist and owner of Wright Drug & Gift Shop, Inc.

BORN: A daughter, Erin Colleen, to Capt. and Mrs. Bob Clappett on March 1. They live in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

1970

Dr. David B. Hill, director of the Public Policy Resources Laboratory and associate professor of political science at Texas A&M University, joined the executive staff of V. Lance Tarrance & Associates in June. He will conduct research for political, corporate and public affairs accounts.

Maj. George B. Wingard is stationed at Wright-Patterson AFB in Dayton, Ohio, where he is branch chief for tactical Air Force requirements at Air Force Logistics Command for the DCS/Plans and Programs, Operational Interface Division. His wife, Jackie London, is a librarian at the Beaver Creek Library.

Robert C. (Bobby) Keen is regional account manager for Agri Business Group's Southeast division. Bobby is also a major in the Army Reserve and received the Army Commendation Medal for his performance as Headquarters Company Commander. He is former president of the International Board of Directors of Farmhouse Fraternity, is married, and has one child.

Stephanie Sawyer Rubin lives in Birmingham, Mich., with her husband, Paul. She is communications director for the Michigan Eye Institute and Paul is senior buyer in Menswear for K-mart Corp. whose headquarters are in Birmingham.

Allen Reed and his wife, Martha Reimer '69, live in Los Angeles, Calif., where Allen is president of Hughes Investment Management Co. They have two sons, Brian, 9, and Justin, 5.

Joseph A. Haley, II, president of the Georgia Jewelers' Association, is a registered jeweler and owner of Haley Jewelers in Tifton, Ga.

William H. (Bill) Lee is vice president of Operations Research and Development for Burger King Corp. He and his wife, Linda Mobley (Lynn), live in Coral Gables, Fla., with their son, Austin, 8.

Dick C. Ingwersen is a CPA/attorney with Gifford, Hilleagass & Ingerson in Atlanta. His wife, Terry West, is an operations manager with Bell South Advertising and Publishing. They have two sons, Wes, 8, and Lance, 4.

Bill A. Myers of New Orleans, La., is sales

AG HONORARY—Seniors in agriculture, forestry, and home economics, who were this year's inductees into Gamma Sigma Delta, the honor society of agriculture for outstanding achievement, included: front row, left to right, Elizabeth Irlandi of Auburn; Sharon Harper of Huntsville; Rhonda Fowler of Cottonwood; Lisa Varner of Fairborn, Ohio, and Charles Crawford of Dadeville. Second row, James Pyron of Loachapoka; David Arnold of Winchester, Tenn.; Wyatt Genge of Heflin, and Stephan Tomlinson of Cherokee. In the back row are Lisa Harper of Pisgah, Richard Petcher of Chatom, and David Weir of Auburn.

and service engineer for Sybron Chemicals, Inc./Gamlen Chemical Co. He is also manager of the territory which includes Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, and West Florida.

BORN: A son, Russell Arron, to Mr. and Mrs. A. Gilliam Lowe, III, of Marianna, Fla. Gil is quality assurance director for Sunland Marianna. Russell joins brother Bryan, 4.

A daughter, Katherine Elizabeth, to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dixon Edge (Jayne Webster '71) of Alexandria, Va., on June 21. She joins brother Andrew, 3, and shares the same birthday with him.

1971

The Rev. William C. Haskell, Jr., is pastor of St. Paul Lutheran Church in Hamlet, N.C. He is active in community affairs in Richmond County as well as in local ministerial associations.

G. Wayne Pearce is assistant controller of bed products within the Sheet Operations of WestPoint Pepperell's Consumer Products Division. He lives in Auburn and has two sons, William George, 16, and Jared Wayne, 11.

Capt. Ronald A. Seyle is an instructor navigator with the 4007th Combat Crew Training Squadron at Plattsburgh AFB, N.Y., where he lives with his wife, Frances.

Forrest Fields and his wife, Barbara Phillips '71, live in Orlando, Fla. Forrest graduated from the Florida State School of Law in April and is an associate with Gray, Harris and Robinson.

Lynn Babb Schmid is an elementary school principal in the Hempfield School District in Lancaster County, Pa.

Eddie Dale Lassiter of Athens, Tex., is a partner with Holdridge, McGee & Lassiter, CPA, of Athens and Gun Barel City. He is active in the Kiwanis Club, a Sunday school teacher, and on the Session of First Presbyterian Church of Athens.

Lt./Cmdr. Andrew H. Jackson participated in exercise Distant Hammer while serving with Air Anti-Submarine Squadron 24, Cecil Field NAS, Fla.

J. Norman Brown, III, is general manager of Ardmore Printing Co., a web-press facility in Ardmore, Tenn. He lives in Decatur with his daughters, Joni and Maribeth.

Kenneth B. Walkley is manager of analytical aeronautical programs for DEI-Tech, Inc., in Newport News, Va. His wife, Judith Bennett, is a crisis intervention counselor for the emergency department at Riverside Hospital. They have three children—Meredith, 6, Ashley, 3, and Matthew, 1.

Laura Piersol Bailey is new vice president and director of interior design/space planning division for HHCP/Architects, Inc., in Maitland, Fla.

BORN: A son, Andrew Ryan, to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Putnam on June 23. He joins sister Lorna Anne, 5, and brother Aaron Christopher, 2.

Randal Paul Andress '71 and his wife, Karen, live in Huntsville, where he works with TRW.

1972

Geoffrey C. Ketcham has been named vice president of finance and planning for Alabama Gas Corp. in Birmingham. He had been with an accounting firm before joining Alabama Gas in 1981. He is a member of the Financial Executive Institute, American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, and serves on the Accounting Advisory Council of the American Gas Association.

Dave Tomlin is loan originator at the LaGrange, Ga., office of Fulton Federal Savings and Loan Association. He will market Fulton Federal's mortgage loans to customers in LaGrange and surrounding areas. He and his wife, Beth, have one son.

Wanda F. Lambert has been promoted to vice president of personnel services for First Southern Federal Savings and Loan Association in Birmingham.

Carlos Wayne Pressnell of Thomasville is a loan officer for the United Security Bank.

Daniel C. Wilson and his wife, Teresa, live in Montgomery where Daniel is corporate manager of quality assurance for Blount Brothers Corp. They have three children, Amanda, 11, Matt, 7, and Meredith, 3.

Donald G. Hart is a Southern Baptist missionary in Caracas, Venezuela. His duties include mission treasurer and business manager. He has two children, Jennifer, 3, and Taylor, almost 1.

Mike Stiefel completed his education specialist degree at Auburn this summer. He teaches agribusiness at White Plains High, where his wife, Judy, teaches home economics. They have a 3-year-old daughter, Libby.

Janie Lambert Light's son, James Michael, 8, of Austin, Tex., made the all-star Little League baseball team in Austin and was picked to play in the Little League World Series.

Laurel Seamen Wenzel and her husband, Franz, live in Columbiana with their three children—Erin Argo, 8; Whitney Wenzel, 2½; and Alex Wenzel, 1.

BORN: A son, Joshua, to Dr. and Mrs. Henry Hudson (Susan Spratlin) on July 31, 1984. He joins sisters Amy, 9, and Sarah, 4, and brother Andy, 3, in Birmingham.

A daughter, Kellye Jean, to Mr. and Mrs. Michael L. Chambers of Birmingham. She joins brothers Brad, 6, Ryan, 5, and Matt, 1. Michael is a lawyer in Birmingham.

A daughter, Janet Rebecca, to Mr. and Mrs. David V. Weber (Mary Frances Palmer '73) on April 23. She joins sisters Catherine Lynn, 7, and Lauren Patricia, 5.

1973

David E. Wright is manufacturing manager for Fairchild Communications Products Co., Transmission Products Division, a division of Fairchild Industries, Inc., in Frederick, Md. They are a supplier of satellite communications and earth station equipment to communications carriers such as AT&T and American Satellite Co.

Roy Powell Baker is a neurosurgeon in Savannah, Ga., where he lives with his wife, Lynda Hudson '74, and two children, Lauren Elizabeth, 3, and Caroline Anne, 6 months.

Ben Holifield is Cahaba region land manager for MacMillan Bloedel, Inc. He and his wife, Donna, a teacher, live in Selma with their children, Heath, 11, and Heather, 7.

Charles P. Alexander is an associate with Gresham, Smith and Partners of Birmingham.

Jerry Lynn Purcell is manager of marketing for Daniel International Corp. in Greenville, S.C.

Lynn Chambers Adams manages a travel agency in Ormond Beach, Fla. She has two children.

Marsha Hope Durham teaches home economics at Ft. Payne High School. She has two children, Lindsay Erin, 8, and James Russell, 4.

Ronald Columbo is a retired Air Force captain and lives in Chandler, Ariz., with his wife, Nellie Jo. They both work for Motorola Corp.

Pat Lord Chandler of Kingwood, Tex., is employment representative at Tenneco, Inc. She is also a member of the adjunct faculty at North Harris County College as a word processing instructor. Her husband, Tom, has been promoted to lieutenant colonel in the Marine Corps and is serving on active duty in Dallas. She writes that they have a "commuter marriage."

BORN: A son, Michael Houston, to Mr. and Mrs. Albert V. Spratley, II, of Pensacola, Fla., on Nov. 10, 1984. He joins two brothers.

A son, Joseph Griffin, to Mr. and Mrs. John Bailey Duncan on March 1. He joins brother Bailey in Rome, Ga.

A son, Scott Eugene, on March 20 to Mr. and Mrs. Gene Robert Martin '75 (Joy Shealy). He joins brother Bobby, 2. Gene is vice president of W.P. Shealy Advertising in Dothan.

A daughter, Nicole Elizabeth, to Mr. and Mrs. Del Arduengo (Patricia Terry) on March 8. She joins brother, Christopher William, 4, in Tampa, Fla. Patricia teaches emotionally handicapped high school students and Del owns C&A Products, Inc.

A son, Brian Joseph, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rodney Clark of Hoover on Nov. 22, 1984.

A son, Robert Joseph, to Mr. and Mrs. Alan G. McDevitt of Chattanooga, Tenn., on March 30.

A son, Daniel Morgan, to Mr. and Mrs. Gary Heacock (Kathy Robinson) on Feb. 28. He joins brother David, 2, in Talladega.

A daughter, Michael Leigh, to Mr. and Mrs. John W. Mardis (Johnnie Sue Cherneski) of Birmingham on Nov. 13, 1983. She joined sister Johnnie, 7.

1974

Robert Herron, III, is project manager with Prime Builders, Inc., in Atlanta, Ga., a division of Dravo Corp. of Pittsburgh. He and his wife, Karen Uthlaut, live in Roswell with their children, Kathryn, 6, Alexander, 3, and Jonathon, 1.

Stanley Gene Aman of Normal, Ill., teaches word technology in the Industrial Technology

Dept. at Illinois State University. His wife, Cindy Summerford, is district librarian for Melvin Sibley Unit Schools.

Charles E. Hastey, M.D., and his wife, Linda, live in Montgomery with their daughter, Mary Lee, 2. Charles is practicing cardiology in association with Southeastern Cardiology Consultants.

Paula Brown Uselis is product manager for the marketing department of Paradyne Corp. in Tampa, Fla. She works with a product which links computers through communications networking.

Elizabeth Smith Thompson and her husband, Dan, live in Decatur with their children, Elizabeth, 4, and William, 6 months. Dan is an industrial engineer with Chesebrough Pond's, Inc., and Betsy is a "domestic engineer" and involved in several community activities.

Capt. Larry J. Houser participated in Global Shield 85, an exercise involving the Air Force, Air Force Reserve, Air National Guard, Navy and Marine Corps units, and elements of the Canadian forces. The exercise was designed to enhance readiness and the ability of the Air Force Strategic Air Command to carry out orders should deterrence fail. He is stationed at Minot AFB, N.D., with his wife, Sharon.

James B. Hood of Atlanta is executive director of three national newspapers covering the news of the retail and wholesale food industry: Shelby Report of the Southeast, Shelby Report of the Southwest, and Shelby's Southwest Foodservice, with offices in Dallas, Atlanta, and Gainesville, Ga.

Capt. David Wayne Ferguson, selected for early promotion to major, is reassigned from Tinker AFB, Okla., to a one-year education with Eastman-Kodak in Rochester, N.Y. While at Tinker David served as executive to the commander of the 28th Air Division, the parent command for the Air Force's E-3 AWACS wing, and he completed an MBA with Central State University.

Hugh R. Harris is executive vice president and chief operating officer for Mortgage Corp. of the South.

Capt. Carl A. Poteat, Jr., graduated from the Air Force personnel officer course at Keesler AFB, Miss., and is scheduled to serve with the 908th Tactical Airlift Group at Maxwell AFB. He is married to Susan Powell.

J. Wayne Palmer is director of construction and purchasing with Wensouth Corp. in Dothan. Wensouth is a 42-unit Wendy's Oldfashioned Hamburger franchise operating in Dothan, Mobile, Tallahassee, Fla., Augusta, Ga., and Charleston, S.C.

Bethany Denise Burke is now Bethany B. Betz of Alexandria, Va.

MARRIED: Melissa Skelton to Johnny Miller. They live in Fairhope.

Martha Frances Jernigan to William Henry Scott, Jr., on June 29.

BORN: A son, Thomas Philip, on January 10 to Mr. and Mrs. Philip J. Capra, Jr., of Birmingham.

A son, Brent Eliot, to Mr. and Mrs. James E. Heard (Connie Kenney '76) on Nov. 10, 1984. He joins sister Leah. James is center manager of United Parcel Service in Huntsville.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Phillip M. Dupree (Nancy Unger '76) on Dec. 4, 1984. She joins sister Katie, 5, in Birmingham.

A son, Adam Thomas, to Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Guy Horton, Jr., (Tina Likos '75) on May 3. He joins sister Sara Hollis, 4. They live in Harpersville where Guy is project manager with Hoar Construction Co., Inc., and Tina is director of public information for The Children's Hospital of Alabama in Birmingham.

A daughter, Linda Ann, to Mr. and Mrs. James Martle Patterson on Sept. 17, 1984. James is systems engineer for Texas Instruments in Iselin, N.J.

A daughter, Breanna Carol, to Mr. and Mrs. John O. Bolton (Kathy Jean Davis) of Birmingham on April 30.

1975

Clark F. Hungerford has been promoted to group vice president and manager of credit administration in the branch division of Trust Company Bank of Cobb County, Ga. Clark joined Trust Company Bank in 1979, and completed the National Commercial Lending Graduate School with distinction. He is also involved in Leadership Cobb, The Marietta Kiwanis Club, and was a charter board member of the Cobb County chapter of AIB.

Terry Slaughter is a partner in a successful Dothan advertising agency, Slaughter/Hanson and Associates. Terry oversees all the conceptual and creative work. The agency has won several Addy awards from the Montgomery Ad Federation, and recently walked away with eight first place Addies from the Birmingham Ad Club. The agency was recently featured in The Alabama Journal and Advertiser.

Michael P. Guy has joined Farmers National Bank in Opelika as assistant vice president after 10 years of service with First Alabama Bank in the loan administration field. Michael is a graduate of the University of South Alabama School of Banking, and has completed several banking courses. Michael is the 1985-86 president of the Exchange Club and in 1984 he was chairman of the Industrial Division of the United Way. He also served as chairman of the Lee County Lupus Foundation. Michael's wife, Belva Wal-drop '77, teaches in the Opelika school system.

Robert E. O'Neil, DVM, now lives in Miami, Fla.

James L. Hundley and his wife, Jacqueline Holliday '74, are moving to Montgomery after nine years in South Carolina. Jay is working in the contract management section at the Maxwell AFB Civil Engineering office.

Melanie Morris Buchholz and her husband, Mike, are back in Stone Mountain, Ga., after spending three years in Ventura, Calif. They have two children, Matt, 6, and Michael, 4, and are expecting another child in March 1986.

John Snow Thrower, Jr., is an attorney with Ball, Ball, Duke & Matthews, P.A., in Montgomery. His wife, Lynn Riddle '78, is an attorney with the law firm of Reneau & Reneau in Wetumpka.

Dr. David Bryant Smalley and his wife, Debbie Nichols '76, moved back to Auburn in July after David completed his pediatric residency at Duke University Medical Center in Durham, N.C. He joined the pediatric group of Curry, Druhan, and Ingle in Opelika. The Smalleys have two children, Patrick, 2, and Sarah, 9 months.

Capt. Charles D. Connor is now assigned to Kirk Army Health Clinic at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

Virgil D. Oswald, Jr., of Marianna, Fla., works for Watson Rexall Drugs and is co-owner of Kelson Discount Drugs. He and his wife, Mary Lynn, have a daughter, Sarah Hunt, 18 months.

Nancy Edwards Bergfeld is now Nancy Edwards Eldridge. She lives in Conroe, Tex., with her husband, Dr. Charles Eldridge.

Lt. Cmdr. Patrick Ross Lanier and his wife, Maurice Sockwell, are living overseas.

Capt. J.D. White has been assigned as chief of supply and services with the 5th Mobile Army Surgical Hospital at Ft. Bragg, N.C. He was previously assigned at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

Kent H. Hite is a pilot with Eastern Airlines and lives in Smyrna, Ga.

MARRIED: Pamela Diane Wyche to Joel Thomas Lyon on May 18, 1985. They live in Valley. Joel is past president of the Greater Valley Auburn Club and cost manager with Consumer Products Division of WestPoint Pepperell.

Jill Callahan to Ronald Carl Dennis on May 25, 1985. They live in Naperville, Ill., where Ron is a market research analyst with Donnelly Marketing Information Services.

BORN: A son, Jared Stallworth, to Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. McKay, III, on Jan. 20, 1985. He joins brother, Daniel, 2. Ron and his wife, Sue, live in Slidell, La., and he is a civil engineer with the New Orleans office of James M. Montgomery, Consulting Engineers, Inc.

A son, William Landon, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Rogan (Janis Green), on Jan. 3, 1985. They live in Birmingham where Charles is director of employment and employee relations at Brookwood Medical Center.

A son, Clark Richard, to Mr. and Mrs. Steven A. Williams (Robin Whitney) on Oct. 17, 1984. Clark joins brother, Drew, 4. They live in Royston, Ga.

1976

Kathryn Graves Henderson has written a new book, First Stage, which is being published by Wm. Morrow/Quill and will be released in October. The book features interviews by Kathy with 20 of the "new generation" of actors who started their careers on stage along with over 160 photographs. Kathy also freelances for Playbill and Showbill magazines, as well as other magazines. Her husband, Kenneth L. Henderson, is with the New York law firm of Finley, Kumble, Wagner, Heine, Underberg, Manley & Casey.

Donald D. Morrison is with the Department of Home Economics and Family Living at Western Kentucky University in Bowling Green, Ky.

Michael Dendy works at Degussa Corp. in Mobile.

Thomas F. Davidson, III, is now vice president of branch operations at Carolina Savings & Loan in Wallace, N.C. He has also been named an Honorary Tarheel by Gov. Jim Hunt.

Lt. Cmdr. Dale A. Milton graduated from the Naval Postgraduate School in March 1984 with a master's in aeronautical engineering. He is assigned as assistant FAWPRA officer at Fleet Air Western Pacific Repair Activity, NAS Cubic Point, Republic of Philippines. Dale's wife, Elizabeth Truluck '72, teaches a tiny tots preschool program under naval base services. They have a son, Joseph, 7.

Lt. Cmdr. Stephen W. Dlugos recently participated in Distant Hammer while serving aboard the USS Nimitz. The 11-day, multinational exercise took place in the central and eastern Mediterranean Sea and was designed to improve the operational effectiveness of naval, air and land forces.

Mr. and Mrs. David Masse (Mary Jones) live in Ocala, Fla., where David is an operations supervisor with the Social Security Administration. They have three children, Fran, 5, Michael, 3, and Ryan, 7 months.

Pamela Goodwin Brown lives in Houston, Tex., and is a senior procedures analyst for SCH Health Care System. She has a son, Will, 2.

William G. Cole has been transferred to Atlanta, Ga., where he is national accounts manager, southeast region, for American Buildings Co. of Eufula.

Joseph D. Grau is with Byrd Memorial Hospital in Lessville, La.

Capt. John L. Leech and his wife, Elaine, live in Sacramento, Calif., where John is assigned to 320th Bombardment Wing, Mather AFB, and flies B-52s. They have a daughter, Ashley, 3.

Julia Cleone is now Julia Muelling-Dykes. She and her husband live in Montgomery where Julia manages Klein & Son Jewelers. She hopes to finish her studies to become a certified gemologist.

Elizabeth A. Plunkett completed her Ph.D. in August 1982 and now works in employee and customer relations at Bowdon Manufacturing Co. and LaMar Manufacturing Co. She is also a member of the board of directors of both companies. She lives in Bowden, Ga.

Karen Cleveland Browning and her husband, Tim, live in Northport and Kim teaches English at Tuscaloosa Academy.

Ronald L. Tejada is personnel manager in the new office of employee services at Auburn City Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis M. Campbell (Deborah Dalton) live in Coral Gables, Fla., where Dennis is an attorney and Deborah is a flight attendant with Pan American World Airways.

Dr. Daniel F. Jackson, III, began his gastroenterology practice in Dothan in July. He and his wife, Melissa Henderson, have two children, Forrest, 5, and Elizabeth, 3.

MARRIED: Leone Bourgeois to Carl Steven Gifford. They live in San Diego, Calif., where Steve is a senior electronics engineer with General Dynamics and Leone teaches home economics.

Rebecca Goodwin to Lee W. Schafer in October 1984. They live in Seminole, Fla., where Lee is an attorney and Becky works at the Bay Pines VA Medical Center as the diabetes team dietitian.

Betty Elaine Smith to John David Puckett on June 22. They live in Marietta, Ga., where

MEMPHIS CLUB—Pictured at a recent meeting of the Memphis Auburn Club are, in the top picture: Jan Sofge Cain '71, treasurer; Anita Plunkett McGowan '69, secretary; and Scott McGowan. At left in the bottom photo are Rob Browne (an Auburn student and son of Robert Browne '54) and Susan Bell Elledge '76, club president, leading the club members in a "War Eagle." At right are Tonya and Bill McDonald '73. Bill is vice president of the club.

John teaches science and coaches football at Marietta High School.

BORN: A daughter, Aubrey Elizabeth, to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ridley Mobley of Shorterville on May 13, 1985.

A daughter, Landon Michele, to Mr. and Mrs. Rory L. McKean (Sharon Paulk '80) on July 4, 1985. They live in Montgomery where Rory is a partner in the architectural firm of Borden and McKean and Sharon is now a homemaker.

A daughter, Laura Ann, to Dr. and Mrs. Frank W. Fitzgerald on April 5, 1985. They live in Lafayette, Tenn., where Frank is a veterinarian. Laura joins sister Katy, 5, and brother Robert, 3.

A son, Chase Gladston, to Mr. and Mrs. Gladston Hall (Cindy Bilby) on July 15, 1985. They live in Spanish Fort.

A son, Benjamin Dugger, to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lerer (Carol Dugger) of San Francisco, Calif., on May 2, 1985.

A son, Alexander Ward, to Mr. and Mrs. David A. McIntosh (Debbie Ward) of Jackson, Miss., on Mar. 17, 1985. He joins sister Katherine, 3.

A daughter, Megan Lorraine, to Mr. and Mrs. Glen Wade Adams, Jr. Glen and his wife, Margaret, live in League City, Tex., where he is integration manager for flight planning and software development with McDonnell-Douglas on the space shuttle program.

A daughter, Erin Lee, to Mr. and Mrs. Garry Lance Taylor on April 9, 1985. Garry and wife, Jan, live in Hanceville and Garry is band director at Cullman High School.

1977

J. Denise Murray returned to Auburn to obtain a master's degree in vocational evaluation of the sensory impaired. She had worked in Birmingham for seven years. She has also studied deaf education at the University of Tennessee.

Mary Pat Kircher is now Mary K. DeLozier of San Antonio, Tex.

Debbie Hinkle Davis and her husband, John Roy Davis, live in Clinton, Miss., with their sons, Christopher, 5, and Patrick, 2. John is an industrial engineer with Packard Electric, a division of General Motors.

Bonnie A. Rasburg lives in Alpharetta, Ga., with her husband, Richard Lorell, and child, Laney, 18 months.

Kirby C. Adams of Houston, Tex., is president of NL Erco Industries, Inc., a worldwide provider of core analysis, reservoir fluid analysis and geological services to the oil and gas industry.

Donna Jean Harris is now Donna H. Penn of Birmingham.

Jane Allen Waldrop has her own landscape design business in Augusta, Ga., and does contract work with a local garden center, Green Thumb West, owned by Bert Botts '50.

GENERAL MANAGER—Frank M. Clark '66 has been named general manager of U.S. Steel's Clairton, Pa., Works. He had been in Provo, Utah, as division manager for primary steel-making operations. He has worked with USS since 1966, holding a variety of positions.

Robert Wallace McGehee completed the MBA in finance at Auburn in December 1984. He is a commercial banker at the First National Bank of Atlanta. His wife, Cindy Thompson '84, is an analyst with the Federal Home Loan Bank of Atlanta.

Lt. Anthony F. Burson participated in Distant Hammer, an 11-day multi-national exercise in the central and eastern Mediterranean Sea designed to improve the operational effectiveness of maritime forces, land-based air forces, and land forces. He serves with anti-submarine squadron 24, NAS Cecil Field, Fla.

Robb Huntley Byrd of Minneola, Fla., teaches distribution education at Clermont High in Clermont, Fla.

Jan Mosely Holland and her husband, Capt. Lee Holland, a helicopter pilot in the Army, live in Fayetteville, N.C., with their son, Jacob Lee.

Randall N. Hayes of Norcross, Ga., is a sales representative for Beatrice Specialty Pet Products.

Patricia Hope Carey is a mortgage processor-underwriter for the Bank of Boston in the Cape Cod region. She and her husband, Kevin, live in South Dennis, Mass.

Gordon K. Hardaway, DVM, graduated from the University of Florida veterinary school in 1982 and is practicing in Belgrade, Mon.

Martin M. Freeman is corporate attorney for Zapata Gulf Marine which consolidated with Gulf Fleet Marine Corp. of New Orleans, La., Martin's previous employer. He is now in Houston, Tex., at the corporate headquarters.

Cpt. Kelley Griswold is the operations officer of an artillery battalion at Ft. Stewart, Ga. He completed the Combined Arms Staff School at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan. He lives in Hinesville, Ga., with his wife, Sherri Hughes, associate editor of a newspaper at Ft. Stewart. She graduated with honors from the Defense Information School at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Allen E. Andress and his wife, Deborah, have a daughter, Elizabeth, 8. Allen is with the Alabama Department of Wildlife Conservation.

Brenda Andress Potts and her husband, Karl Potts '75, of Pelham have two children—Rebekah, 3, and Stephen, 8 months.

MARRIED: Cathy Garrett to Cpt. Ronnie E. Nickel on August 3. Ronnie is stationed in Birmingham with the Defense Contract Administration Service (DCAS) on a joint service assignment. He is branch chief of a quality assurance branch in DCAS. Before coming to Birmingham he was stationed at Northrop Corp. in Los Angeles on an AFIT Education with Industry assignment.

Lt. Lee Ann Fullerton to Nick Timrick on Dec. 22, 1984. Lee Ann is an intelligence briefing officer for the Commander-in-Chief for the Pacific Fleet.

Anne Clifton to Van Abon Norris. They live in Birmingham where Van is regional sales and marketing manager for the Texas United Corp., a position he accepted after five years and five cities in various marketing and sales management positions.

Maria Ann Johnson to Bruce Lively. They live in Summiton.

Denise Till to Daniel Edward Roby on Dec. 25, 1984. Denise is a probation officer II at the Columbus [Ga.] Probation Office and Dan is an identification technician in the Columbus Police Dept.

BORN: A daughter, Anna Elizabeth, to Mr. and Mrs. Fife Whiteside (Emily Luttrell) on April 25. Emily is a speech-language pathologist with the Muscogee County Schools in Columbus, Ga.

A daughter, Stephanie Elizabeth, to Mr. and Mrs. Steven A. Boucher (Lynne Hawkins) on May 7. She joins brother Bradley Joseph, 4, in Opelika.

A daughter, Alma Lacy, on April 8, 1984, to Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Gibson, II (Lacy Dixon) of Montgomery where Lacy is assistant director of personnel at Baptist Medical Center. Fletcher is an account executive with Morgan, Keegan & Co., Inc., a New York stock exchange firm.

A son, William Carter, Jr., to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carter (Jan Hambrick) of Montgomery on April 18.

A daughter, Aubrey Lynne, to Capt. and Mrs. James Neal Stewart of Alexandria, Va. He works for the Long Range Strategic Planning Division at the Pentagon in Washington, D.C.

AG ALUMNI—When the National Agricultural Alumni and Development Association held its annual conference in July on the campus of the University of California-Davis, this group of Auburn folks got together. From left are John Morgan Spence '49 of Birmingham; Frank Benford '67 and Mary Helen Stitzel Benford '70 of Sacramento, Calif.; Bill Alverson '65 and Snooky Alverson '82 of Auburn; Glenda and Bob Voile of Auburn; and Harold G. Alford '51 of Davis, Calif. The Auburn Agricultural Alumni Association is affiliated with the national organization.

Twin sons, Marshall Hawkins and Matthew William, II, on March 21, 1984, to Mr. and Mrs. Reinhart W. Reiss. Reinhart is a programmer analyst at J.B.A. in Richmond, Va.

A son, Micah Dewey, on March 21 to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Dewey Collins of Thorsby. Micah joins sisters Christa, 5, and Meka, 3. Michael is a pharmacist at B-Mart Food and Drugs in Clanton.

A daughter, Natalie Dawn, to Mr. and Mrs. Jon H. Davison (Cynthia Ann Council) of Daphne on July 6. Cindy teaches fifth grade social studies and science at Fairhope Intermediate School.

A daughter, Mary Dell, to Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Petit (Carol Dell) on April 10. She joins brother Willy, 2. They live in Pensacola, Fla., and expect orders to Tustin, Calif., in January where Bruce will continue to fly helicopters.

A daughter, Sara Anne, to Mr. and Mrs. Alan Johnson (Susan Neill) on March 4. They live in Birmingham.

PHARMACY DEAN—Dr. Ronald W. Maddox '69 has been named the first dean of the School of Pharmacy at Campbell University in Bules Creek, N.C. He was professor of pharmacy and assistant dean of the Southern School of Pharmacy at Mercer University. The plans to establish the School of Pharmacy at Campbell were presented to the Baptist State Convention in January and the charter class is expected to enroll in 1986. Dr. Maddox holds the Pharm.D. degree from the University of Tennessee. He has worked in a number of positions which include retail pharmacy and hospital pharmacy, as well as education. Active in pharmacy research, he has published in cardiovascular pharmacology and anti-hypertension agents. He has received the Outstanding Professor Award from Mercer and is active with a number of professional organizations.

1978

Herman L. Wolfe, Jr., along with three other architects has organized the architectural firm, Askew, Nixon, Ferguson and Wolfe, Inc., in Memphis, Tenn. Projects Herman had worked on include Federal Express' Call Centers in Sacramento, Somerset and Memphis; Clark Tower Computer Center; Computer Literacy Lab at Memphis State University, and Southwide's Distribution Services Facility. He has been involved in architectural design, interiors, equipment coordination and contract administration.

W. Bob Wilson is a health inspector for the Jefferson County Public Health Dept. He lives in Center Point with his wife June, a nurse at UAB.

Laurence Dana Jones is an accountant for Hughes Aircraft Corp. in Fullerton, Calif.

Kandra L. Jones, DVM, opened her own veterinary clinic, Mandarin Veterinary Clinic, on July 15 in Jacksonville, Fla.

Kenneth L. Smith, Jr., received his MBA in 1982 from the University of Pittsburgh. He is operations manager with Metcalf & Eddy International, consulting engineers in Boston, Mass. Before going to graduate school he worked for Harbert International Construction Corp. on overseas construction projects for three years.

Peter E. Zubowicz lives in Columbus, Miss., with his wife, Margaret, and daughter, Elena, 16 months. He is land use manager with Weyerhaeuser Co.

Leslie Bosshard Sorrell is a graphic artist in Atlanta specializing in the real estate industry. She develops marketing packages for subdivision and architectural renderings of new homes for builders.

John Michael McGwier is vice president of operations for Ridgeway Corp. in Atlanta, Ga.

Garth Andrew Forster received a master's in divinity from the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary on July 12.

Martha Feagin Kent of Millbrook is an accounting instructor at AUM. She has taught since fall 1984.

Joan Brogden Barnhill and her husband, Harry, moved to Marietta, Ga., from Plano, Tex., with their son, Joshua Brogden, 16 months. Joan is a homemaker and free-lance kitchen designer and Harry is regional sales manager for Gulf States Manufacturing.

Camille Powell is now Camille P. Hilliard of Venice, Fla.

Patricia A. Tonsmire is now Patricia T. Lubitz of Mobile.

Mary A. McClure is now Mary M. Robinson of Gainesville, Fla.

Carolyn Elizabeth Boyd is now Carolyn B. Newberry of Smyrna, Ga.

Richard F. Knox, M.D., works in the Department of Anesthesiology at The Children's Hospital in Denver, Colo.

John Segrest is employed by Torchmark Investment Advisory in Birmingham.

MARRIED: Elizabeth E. Hill to Kirk Renn on August 24. Elizabeth works in Denver.

Kathy Allen to Aaron B. Strickland. They live in Macon, Ga.

Martha McGehee to Steve Smith. They live in Opelika where Martha is a graphic designer for Diversified Products and Steve is a counselor at the East Alabama Mental Health Center.

Margaret Estella Burke '80 to Gary Campbell. They live in Birmingham.

Debbie Wyman to Robert A. Rifkin on March 10. Debbie is a pharmacist at Presbyterian Hospital in Dallas, Tex., and Robert is a division controller at Texas Instruments.

Edith Patricia Morgan to Marion Roy Price on June 16. They live in Birmingham.

Margaret Fuller to Dr. Gordon Love in January. Margaret is a staff writer in the Living section of the New Orleans Times-Picayune and Gordon is a pathologist at the Veterans Hospital and LSU Medical School.

BORN: A daughter, Kathryn Elder, to Mr. and Mrs. Carmelo Foti (Margaret Trafton) on Nov. 8. They live in Chappaqua, N.Y.

A son, Matthew Marshall to Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Cawthorn (Kay Kilgore) on June 20. He joins sister Meg, 2, in Moreland, Ga.

A daughter, Lindsey Michelle, to Mr. and Mrs. Barry Wayne Carroll of Macon, Ga., on Dec. 4, 1984. Barry owns his own company, Barry Carroll Construction, commercial and residential construction.

A daughter, Alison Joy, to Mr. and Mrs. Perry L. Oakes (Janey Hayes) on Nov. 15, 1984, in Tuscaloosa.

A son, Jonathon Eric, to Mr. and Mrs. Eric Lewerenz (Margaret Coe) on Jan. 28. They live in Ocala, Fla., where Margaret owns a baby boutique, Conceptions.

A son, Patrick Aaron, to Mr. and Mrs. Phil Alford (Cynthia Sherrill) of Birmingham on May 10.

A son, Robert William, to Dr. and Mrs. Duncan C. Krause on Aug. 27, 1984. He joins sister Kristen, 3. Duncan is an assistant professor in the Department of Microbiology at the University of Georgia where he will be teaching and doing research.

Twins, Betty Clair and Sarah Helen, to Mr. and Mrs. James D. Barton (Amelia Lockwood '76) on Aug. 2, 1984. They joined sister Jamie, 4, in Montgomery. Amelia will begin teaching in Eclectic this fall.

A daughter, Anne Hourigan, to Mr. and Mrs. William Gregory Womack (Susan Long) on Jan. 9. They live in Birmingham.

ADOPTED: A daughter, Calli Song, by Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Boucher (Susan Schieler) on July 15. Calli was born in Korea on April 28.

1979

James D. Randall, III, is an account executive with Adcock and Adcock Insurance Co. in Tampa, Fla., and has been awarded the Certified Insurance Counselor rating. James is also in the Army Reserve and is assigned to the 32nd Transportation Group (Terminal) in Tampa.

Wesley W. Diehl has moved to Slidell, La.

Dr. William R. (Bill) Carroll has graduated from the Medical College of Georgia and is completing an ear, nose and throat surgery specialty at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. Bill's wife, Nancy Winslow '80, is an account executive and writer for Blixt and Assoc., a marketing and communications agency in Ann Arbor.

Charles S. Frew works for the Bellsouth Corp. in Atlanta, Ga. He's working in the security financing group of the Treasury Dept.

David E. Norwood works for Martin Marietta in Wash., D.C. Presently, he's working on a contract to assist the FAA in modernizing the National Airspace System.

Martin W. Tokos is working for Benning Construction Co. in Atlanta, Ga., as a construction superintendent.

Willie J. Smith, III, works at Channel 42 in Birmingham. A member of the 1984 Olympic Team, Willie qualified a few hours before fellow Auburn runner Harvey Gance, becoming the first sprinter since 1934 to make three teams. Although he was not on the team running the 400-meter in the Olympic Race, Willie was on the relay squad that qualified and the Olympic Organization presented him as well as fellow team members a Gold Medal. Willie and his wife, Dona Herring '82, have a daughter, Kendall, 2½.

Richard J. Cavanaugh is materials manager

BUTLER COUNTY—New officers of the Buytler County Auburn Club are pictured at the club's recent meeting and election of officers. From left is Pat Newby '57, president; Margaret Vines Lewis '59, secretary-treasurer; Johnnie Hartzog '50, ex officio board member; and Charles Shepherd, Jr., '59, vice president.

for Coca-Cola Consolidated in Charlotte, N.C.—one of the five largest bottling plants in the country.

Cindy G. McKay is an assistant banking officer at Commercial Bank and Trust Co. in LaGrange, Ga.

Capt. Jonathon G. Clapper has been assigned duty in Iceland as chief of mission operations with the 960th Airborne Warning and Control Squadron. He was previously stationed at Tinker AFB, Okla.

R. Keith Lolley is the employee relations manager for the James River Corporation in Chambersburg, Pa. He was recently elected president of the Cumberland Valley Chapter of the American Society for Personnel Administration (ASPA).

Margaret Haigler Davis received her master's degree in English from the University of Montevallo in June.

Barry Leach lives in Gadsden where he is an estimator and construction manager with Trocal Roofing Systems for Gadsden Heating & Sheet Metal Co. His wife, Katy, is a kindergarten teacher for Attalla City Schools. They have two sons: Philip, 2, and Stuart, 1.

Cynthia L. Grant has been promoted to employment supervisor for Davison's/Macy's department stores in Atlanta, Ga.

Keith C. Anderson has joined Clendenin-Anderson Realty in Greensboro, N.C., as office manager and sales associate. His wife, Beverly Bains '80, hopes to be teaching kindergarten this fall. They have a daughter, Laura Beth, 1.

R. Brian Morton is a CPA working for Baptist Medical Centers in Birmingham. He and his wife, Karen, have three children.

1980

Richard W. Tarbell is working in Huntsville as senior engineer for Digital Engineering, Inc., a company specializing in computer-aided nuclear engineering services and systems.

David A. Potts is an in-flight service coordinator with Delta Air Lines in Atlanta, Ga.

Margaret Elizabeth Speer has been teaching at Country Day School in Montgomery for the past four years. She completed her Master's of Education program in elementary education at AUM this summer. She served as president of the Capitol City Jaycee Women last year and is currently serving as director of the Capitol City Jaycees.

Tony B. Southerland is now living in Ft. Walton Beach, Fla., after several years of moving around with the Air Force.

Mr. and Mrs. Woody Richardson (Vivian Widner) are living in Orlando, Fla., where Woody is an assistant professor of management at the University of Central Florida. Vivian received her Certified Professional Secretary rating in August 1984.

Barry R. Vickers has been promoted to technical assistant for WestPoint Pepperell's Towel Division in April. Barry's wife, Tami Conde, works for CB&T in LaGrange as an administrative assistant. They live in LaGrange and expect their first "War Eagle" in September.

Ronald M. Cofield has been promoted to manager at Coopers & Lybrand CPA firm. He lives in Birmingham with his wife, Patricia Newell '79.

Nancy R. Quinn teaches fourth grade in Clay County at Lineville Elementary School.

Barbara Ann Bray is living in Birmingham and works as the senior writer in the University Relations Office-Publications Unit at UAB.

Lt. Dana K. Weeden participated in exercise Distant Hammer while serving with Air Anti-Submarine Squadron 24, NAS Cecil Field, Fla. The eleven-day multinational exercise took place in the east-central Mediterranean Sea and was divided into two phases. The first phase was designed to improve the effectiveness of maritime, land-based air, and land forces. The second phase involved the integration of air defense operations and sea control in the Mediterranean Sea.

Randall T. Cagle became a registered architect in Tennessee in October 1984, and is now working in Chattanooga for Frank McDonald & Assoc., Architects, as project architect. His wife, Deborah, formerly a staffer with the Alumni Association, is a paralegal with the law firm of Patrick, Beard & Samples P.C.

Brooke N. Nelson has quit her position as production manager for an advertising agency to manage her husband's veterinary clinic. She keeps busy doing everything from marketing to bookkeeping and writes that she and Tom plan to open satellite clinics all over southeast Texas.

Linda Kathryn Whittington Varner lives in Bainbridge, Ga., where she is a casualty insurance agent with Miller-Griffin Realty and Insurance Co. She and her husband, Fields, have an 18-month-old daughter, Kathryn Elizabeth.

Morris J. Ross, Jr., received the Doctor of Osteopathy degree at The University of Health Sciences - College of Osteopathic Medicine, in Kansas City, Mo., in May. His studies included osteopathic manipulative therapy and emphasis on the musculoskeletal system. Morris will serve a one-year internship at the Southeastern College of Osteopathic Medicine in Miami, Fla.

Roger G. Law is a project superintendent with Batson-Cook Co. He and his wife, Becky, and daughter, Whitney, live in Spartanburg, S.C., and are expecting their second child in early September.

Mary Ann Bovay is assistant vice president of corporate banking at Sun Bank in Tampa, Fla. She recently completed her MBA at the University of Miami.

Claudia Jones Panteloukas is opening a gift shop in Nokomis, Fla., this fall, and expects her step-daughter, Angela, 13, will be a big help in running the shop.

William C. Cantrell, Jr., now lives in Auburn.

Frank Henry Dagostin, Jr., is a commercial specialist for Alabama Power Co. He lives in Anniston with his wife, Carol Ann, and two sons, Brad, 8, and Andrew, 4.

MARRIED: Jeannine Baskin to Greg Weeks. They are living in Mobile.

Amy Stewart Lawrence to Charles R. Walton, in October 1984. They live in Mobile where Amy teaches a special education kindergarten class and Charles practices dentistry.

Ann E. Smith to David T. Burgess, in April 1985. They are both financial specialists for the State of Florida's Department of Banking and Finance and live in Tallahassee.

Edith Elizabeth Myrick to Thomas N. Lester. They live in Tampa, Fla.

BORN: A daughter, Jennifer Renee, to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Peebles on April 24, 1985. Jim and his wife, Cathy, live in Sylacauga where he is a pharmacist and assistant manager for Harco Drugs.

A son, Mark Alexander, to Mr. and Mrs. Jim LaRose (Debbie Harris) of Tidewater, Va., on March 4, 1985. Debbie works as a part-time pharmacist and Jim is an industrial engineer with Newport News Shipbuilding.

A daughter, Lauren Ashley, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank V. Holmes, Jr. (Joanna Supple), on June 10, 1985. They live in Birmingham where Joanna is accounting supervisor for the Birmingham Water Works Board.

A daughter, Lindsey Danielley, to Mr. and Mrs. Daniel H. Donnelly (AUM '82) (Vicki Watson), on June 29, 1985. They live in Houston, Tex.

A son, Benjamin Michael, to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford H. Levan (Jayne Ellen Batt), on March 16, 1985. They live in Louisville, Ky.

A son, Thomas Lewmerle, to Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Lewmerle Ayers, on May 31, 1984. They live in Thomasville, Ga., where Eddie is a county agent with Thomas County Extension Service.

1981

Mike Paffenback has been promoted to vice president/account supervisor for Wilson, Horne, McClelland & Gray Advertising. Mike lives in Atlanta with his wife, Susan Schneider.

Patricia Harris Quinney is part owner of a ladies specialty shop in Demopolis. She lives in Gallion with her husband, Joe, and son, Rich, 2.

Debbie Parham Bolton has been elected president of the Georgia Associated Press Broadcasters Association. Debbie, who is news director of WWSA/WCHY in Savannah, Ga., also won the 1985 TARA Award for the "best radio news anchor in Georgia." In addition, she took two first-place awards in the Georgia AP Awards competition for "Best News Series" and "Best Audio Editing." Debbie also recently won a 1985 School Bell Award from the Georgia Association of Educators for her "outstanding coverage of educational issues."

Cherie Lynn Osborne is now Cherie McCain. She and her husband are living in Wadley.

Harold E. Tubbs, Jr., is a forester with the Army Corps of Engineers at Ft. Benning, Ga. He lives in Camp Hill with his wife, Judy, and their children, Kristy, 12, Christen, 8, and Kelly, 5.

Mark Forchette of Tampa, Fla., sells ophthalmic surgical instruments for Grieshaber/Switzerland.

Brandon Ray Clausen, Jr., is a systems engineer with Southern Company Services in Birmingham where he is also a member of the 20th Special Forces Group of the Alabama National Guard.

Elizabeth Shedd became a CPA in July 1983 and is now manager of the accounting department for Gulf Coast Marine Supply in Mobile.

Joseph E. Randall has completed a four-year tour with the Army and returned from Frankfurt, Germany in May. He is now an assistant trainmaster with the Seaboard System Railroad in Columbia, S.C. Joe is in the Army Reserve, assigned to the 174th Maintenance Co., Columbia, S.C.

Eugene Heavlin is a senior at the University of Alabama School of Dentistry, and his wife, Linda Hogue '82, is a secretary at a Birmingham law firm. They live in Birmingham.

Lt. Stephanie Anne Mellin is now Lt. Stephanie Mellin Douglas. She lives in North Charleston, S.C.

Dana Ken Becton is now associated with the First Bank of Grove Hill as security and loan officer. He came to the bank, of which his father is president, from Auburn where he was manager of Wendy's in 1983. Dana and his wife, Brenda, have a daughter, Morgan Daly, 1.

Patricia Nolan is now Patricia Nolan Benne-tech.

Rick Beiswenger is now administrator of field resources with Kellogg Rust Constructors in Houston, Tex., and is responsible for manpower staffing of both domestic and international construction projects. Rick's wife, Sharon Bragg '80, is a cost and budget analyst with Moore Paper Co. in Houston.

Lisa Rowell Bramer has been appointed audit officer for SouthTrust Corp. in Birmingham.

Capt. Joseph M. Burns is being transferred to Chanute AFB, Ill., to pursue a master's of electrical engineering at the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana under an Air Force Institute of Technology program. Joe and his wife, Cindy, are expecting their fourth child in early 1986.

Dennis Findley received a master of architecture degree in June from the Harvard Graduate School of Design.

Lt. Dave Baucom of Alexandria, Va., is a contract negotiator for the Navy's Space and Warfare Systems Command in Washington, D.C.

Lisa Michelis is a building services representative for Honeywell, Inc., in Atlanta, Ga.

Fred Newman is a design engineer for General Dynamics in Ft. Worth, Tex.

Rebecca Butz is now living in Montgomery.

William Glenn Walker is an aerospace engineer at the Naval Air Rework Facility in Jacksonville, Fla. His job has been expanded to include the Navy's newest fighter, the F/A-18 Hornet. William, wife Teresa, and 2-year-old son Aaron, are expecting an addition to the family in October, the same month Teresa expects to be certified as a medical assistant.

Rita Spruiell Moore and her family are now living in Huntsville where Frank works for SCI Systems. They have a daughter, Laura, 2.

Mitzi McKinney is now Mitzi M. Collins.

Charlotte Foster Longfield and her husband, Stephen, have been transferred to Milton Keynes, England, for the start-up of a new silicon manufacturing plant by Monsanto Corp. Charlotte is a quality assurance engineer and Steve will have responsibility as manufacturing manager at the new plant 60 miles north of London.

Jay Ashurst's lithograph of the Wright Flyer and Hangar graces the cover of the Air Command and Staff College Foundation's Monument to Powered Flight donations brochure. Jay's subject was the Wright Brothers' Hangar and Flying School that was located at the present site of Maxwell AFB in Montgomery in 1910. Copies of the lithograph will be given to donors to the Foundation which is seeking to commemorate the Wright brothers' connection with Montgomery.

Catherine Willis Oliver is a senior at the University of Alabama Nursing School in Birmingham and will graduate in December. In May she was inducted into the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society. Catherine's husband, Michael Oliver '82, is a reporter for the Birmingham News.

Tammy Warren Beck is a travel agent at Expeditions, Inc., in Auburn, where she lives with her husband, Chris.

Clark Rankin is an office engineer with Cad-dell Construction Co. He is currently working on a project in Hilton Head, S.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell H. Schuster (Kimberly Drake) live in Birmingham where Mitchell will be attending medical school at UAB and Kim is working for Central Bank of the South.

David Wachs has been promoted to supervisor of industrial engineering at Neptune Water Meter Co. in Tallahassee. David, his wife Charlene (AUM '81), and daughter Ashley live in Montgomery where Charlene is an accountant with Jim Wilson and Associates.

Karen Riegle is now Karen Boyd. She and her husband live in Muscle Shoals.

Donna Minton Mason works in the advertising department at Weir's Furniture Village in Dallas, Tex. Her husband, Wayne, is an attorney with a law firm in Dallas.

MARRIED: Eleanor Ann Loyd to Patrick R. Thompson in November 1984. They are living in Atlanta where Eleanor is a manager at Computerland.

Lyn Emerson to Kenneth A. Smith on April 19. They live in Birmingham where Ken was recently promoted to manager of technical support for Alagasco, Inc., the holding company for Alabama Gas Corp., Alagasco Energy, and American Heat Tech.

SUMTER COUNTY AUBURN CLUB—New officers of the Sumter County Auburn Club are, from left, Michael Rory Farmer '83, treasurer; Evan Allison Derby, Jr., '81, president, and Joyce Tate Crawford '75, secretary. Not pictured is Sidney Smith Nelson '70, vice president.

Emily Susannah Lawson to Robin A. Wade, III. They live in Birmingham.

Elizabeth Ann Stover to Victor P. Haley. They live in Atlanta, Ga.

Cherie Lynn Osborn to Timothy Allen McCain. They live in Wadley.

BORN: A daughter, Laura Jane, to Mr. and Mrs. H. Mark Golden (Jane Kuester) of Athens, Ga., on Mar. 23, 1985. Mark is a computer marketing representative for Radio Shack Business Products.

A son, William Drew, to Mr. and Mrs. Neil A. Moore (Karol Yates '80) on Feb. 17, 1985. They live in Americus, Ga., where Neil is an engineer with Buckeye Cellulose.

A son, Christopher Allen, to Capt. and Mrs. William R. McInnis (Cecelia Walters) on June 4, 1985. He joins sister Allison, 2. William is stationed at Ft. Hood, Tex., where he recently assumed command of the HHT Combat Aviation Brigade.

A son, Taylor Patrick, to Mr. and Mrs. John S. Fendley (Susan Phillips '80) on Mar. 6, 1985. John is a CPA and senior staff accountant with Jackson Thornton & Co. in Montgomery and Susan is a kindergarten teacher for Montgomery County.

A daughter, Elizabeth Leigh, to Mr. and Mrs. Timothy K. Pellet (Lynn Ramsey '83) of Birmingham on Mar. 27, 1985.

A son, Jacob David, to Mr. and Mrs. David Estes of Somerville on Dec. 29, 1984.

A son, Kristopher Ryan, to Mr. and Mrs. Mark West (Julia White) on May 9, 1985. He joins sister, Rachael, 2.

1982

Jody Mayo Jackson is industrial audiologist at WestPoint Pepperell's corporate medical department in Valley. She lives in Lanett with her husband, John.

Gale A. Slagley and his wife, Phyllis Jerkins '80, live in Lexington, Ky., with their son, Brandon Blake, 3. Gale is president of American Leisure Design.

James Kent Cook of Evergreen is a computer operator with Vanity Fair in Monroeville. He will complete a second degree in information systems from AUM this fall.

Julie A. Wolfe is a bookkeeper and secretary for Campus Crusade for Christ in Cyprus for one year. For the past year she was an accountant for Alabama Public TV.

Thomas Robert Schlitt received the master of science degree in physical therapy from UAB and he and his wife, Rosalyn, will move to Asheville, N.C.

Lt(jg). Robert Steven Dennis, USN, is assigned to the United Nations Command Military Armistice Commission Secretariat, Seoul, Korea, as chief of administration.

James Robert Stroud of Auburn is a sales representative for Joanna Western Mills. He is married and has a three-year-old daughter.

Linda Jean Patterson of Birmingham is an engineer I in the piping section at Rust International. She plans to enroll in the MBA program at UAB this fall.

Phyllis Kaye Jones of Atlanta, Ga., is fiscal officer for the Georgia Court of Appeals.

Patrick Michael McCarty and his wife, Cynthia Sanders, live in Pelham where Cynthia is foreign exchange trader with AmSouth Bank and working on her MBA at Samford. Patrick is midwestern U.S. sales manager with 13-30 Corp., a publishing firm out of Knoxville, Tenn.

Maury D. Gaston works in the Orlando, Fla., office of American Ductile Iron Pipe. He was previously in the New York office where he was involved in the reorganization of the Auburn Alumni Club.

Tyler John Findlay of Enterprise is marketing engineer for Alabama Power Co. in Headland.

Capt. Linda Arleen King is a helicopter pilot at Hunter Army Airfield in Savannah, Ga.

Johnny Lee Latham works for Warren, Knight & Davis, Inc., Architects, in Birmingham.

Bryan Eugene Williams is manager of A&A Metro Mart in Olive Branch, Miss.

Carol Ann Price of Dallas, Tex., is a sales representative for John H. Harland Co., national check printers.

1/Lt. Lance H. Souders is an industrial engineer officer with the 24th Civil Engineering Squadron at Howard AFB, Panama.

Sgt. Trexel K. Manley is team leader at Ft. Bragg, N.C., with the 82nd Airborne Division.

Emily Ruth Coats and her husband, James Mason Cross '81, live in Gadsden where Emily is account executive with American Bell.

Donna Jaye Adams is now Donna Adams Ferros of Albany, Ga.

Letitia Parsons Smith and her husband, Leigh Pegues, live in Birmingham.

Suellen Lambert graduated on May 12 from the Cumberland School of Law. She works with the State Public Service Commission in Montgomery.

MARRIED: Cheryl Lynn Brown '83 to Matthew Clement Lamere on June 22. Cheryl writes they "met while working on the Plainsman staff." They live in Marietta, Ga., and Matthew is attending Cumberland Law School.

Alicia Lee Smith to Brian L. Franklin on Aug. 3. They live in Niceville, Fla., and Brian works at Eglin AFB.

Jean Ellis Brown '83 to Jamie Lamar Lane on July 27 in Roanoke. Jean works for the Roanoke City School System and Jamie is employed with Roy Lane Contract Logging.

Lynn Callahan '84 to Scott L. Norene. They live in Knoxville, Tenn.

Diane Williams to Brian Taliaferro on March 23 in Greensboro. They live in Orlando, Fla., where Brian is vice president of Gifts

Unlimited and Diane is manager of Jackson's Gift Shop.

Carolyn Sawyer to Jim H. Warr on Aug. 17 in Americus, Ga. They live in Bloomfield, N.M., where Jim is territory manager for Gary Energy Corp., oil refining, and Lyn teaches special education in the public schools.

Ann Elizabeth Cornelison to John Vincent. They live in Huntsville.

Darlene Hicks to Tom Ruzic on Aug. 17. They live in Hampton, Va.

BORN: A daughter, Malinda Davis (Mindy), to Mr. and Mrs. Brett Chambers (Vicki Rindone '80) on Oct. 27, 1984. Brett is meat department supervisor for Golden State Foods and Vicki is a high school math teacher.

A daughter, Emily Simone, on May 13 to Mr. and Mrs. Wishum (Tammy Lipscomb) of Gulf Shores.

A daughter, Mary Lindsay, to Mr. and Mrs. Scott Norene (Lynn Callahan '84) of Knoxville, Tenn. Scott is account sales manager for Medline Industries, Inc., out of Chicago, Ill.

1983

Providence Jean Spina teaches third grade at Vestavia Hills Elementary West School in Birmingham.

Susan Gail Crowe is now Susan C. Mickle.

Bryan and Margaret Tannehill Flowers live in Waynesboro, Va., where Bryan is grocery merchandiser for Fleming Foods, Inc., and Meg is account representative and artist for the News-Virginian.

2/Lt. William S. Adkins has completed navigation officer training at Mather AFB in Sacramento, Calif. His next assignment will be at Little Rock, Ark., for advanced navigator training in transport aircraft.

Pamela A. Hargrove is now Pamela H. Meadows.

Todd Pope and his wife, Dana, live in Durham, N.C. Todd is director of community development in Louisville.

1/Lt. Darsi Krueger McDowell is a missile launch officer with the 308th Strategic Missile Wing at Little Rock AFB, Ark., where she lives with her husband, Kenneth.

Cynthia Sue Nunnally is now Cynthia N. Creamer and lives in Decatur, Ga.

Wesley David and Lori Medlin Pearson live in San Antonio, Tex., where David works for Diamond-Shamrock Chemical Corp. and Lori is a special education teacher.

Donna Jean Goodchild is studying chemical engineering at Georgia Tech and co-ops with duPont in New Johnsonville, Tenn.

Theresa Ellen Moody received an M.S. in chemical engineering from Auburn in June.

Rana Louise Schutzehofer is now Rana McClelland.

Thomas William Schauer works for McCain Boiler and Engineering Co. in Birmingham in customer service and purchasing.

Cathy Ann Chadbourne is now Cathy Chadbourne Rodgers.

Laura Lee Dickey is an attendant for Piedmont Airlines, based in Virginia Beach-Norfolk, Va.

Alisa Jane Simmons is now Alisa Simmons Maund.

Glen Drew Granberry lives in Vicksburg, Miss., and works for Mississippi Power and Light as a health physicist.

Jere L. Beasley, Jr., is assistant branch manager for AmSouth Bank in Auburn.

Randall W. Price is human resources specialist for Gold Star of America in Athens.

Susan A. Muller, DVM, will be opening The Animal Care Clinic, a small animal hospital in Huntsville, in October.

Thomas Warner Secrest, after a brief period as a stockbroker, is a financial analyst in the profitability planning department of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Rochester, N.Y.

Clem Bedwell is an art director for J. Walter Thompson in Atlanta, Ga.

Phillip (Moe) Moultrie is manager for Computers Plus, an Apple Computer retail dealer in Decatur.

David Lucian Creel works for Alabama Power Co. in Oneonta as an engineer.

Conitha Hogeland King is an auditor for the Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources. She and her husband, William, live in Montgomery where he is an Alabama Farm Bureau insurance agent.

Laura Jeanne Cole Whitfield lives in Lenox, Ga., and teaches fifth grade in Sparks.

Pamela Ann Gilchrist is choral director of Opelika Jr. High School and minister of music and youth at Union Grove Baptist Church.

2/Lt. Robert F. Clay, missile launch officer with the 321st Strategic Missile Wing at Grand Forks AFB, N.D., participated in Global Shield '85—an exercise designed to enhance readiness should deterrence fail.

MARRIED: Sharon Mandelbaum to George G. Pappanastos on Sept. 28 in Miami, Fla. Sharon works for Digital Equipment Corp. and George is manager and bass player for the local band, Sailor.

Cynthia Jane Campbell to Jeffrey Wade Lynn '85 on August 10. They live in Atlanta, Ga., where he is with the management program of Steak and Ale. She had been employed by the Tallapoosa County School System.

Charlyn Fordyce to William Daniel Robinson '80. They live in Colton, Calif.

Jane Hayes to Mark Winfield Fisher. Mark is a supervisor for Peco Farms in Tuscaloosa.

Carrie Anne Branch '84 to Dixon Alan Land. They live in Tallahassee, Fla.

Missie Atkins '84 to Robert Gregory Harris on May 18. Bob, an AU football player 1978-1982, is on the St. Louis Cardinal football team; Missie is a former AU cheerleader. The couple lives in Atlanta, Ga.

Letia Owens to Robert M. Seaborn, Jr. Letia works for the Birmingham Area Chamber of Commerce as managing editor of Birmingham Business Magazine. Robert works for South-Trust Bank of Alabama in the commercial lending division.

Traci Lyn Kennedy to Mark Carroll. They live in Birmingham where Traci is a registered medical technologist at Lloyd Noland Hospital.

Mary Riegle '84 to David Grider in October, 1984, in Palm Bay, Fla., where David is a quality engineer for Harris Corporation. Mary is a community health nurse for Brevard County.

Mary Anne Alsobrook '84 to Charles Talmage Carl on July 20.

BORN: A daughter, Rosalynda Marie, to 2/Lt. and Mrs. Wayne F. Cook (Lynn Marie Patterson) on Jan. 18, 1985. Wayne recently graduated from Air Force pilot training at Williams AFB, Ariz., and will be flying C-130s for the Nashville Air National Guard, as well as working for Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville as a mechanical engineer.

A son, Jared Wesley, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wesley Widner (Lorill Williams) of Huntsville on Jan. 14.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Howard Shafer on Jan. 3. Jerry is a plant engineer for Union Carbide Corp. in Taft, La.

1984

2/Lt. Albert Mercer is an electronics warfare program manager in the aeronautical systems division at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio.

Anna Karen Phillips is news director and disc jockey for WEIS Radio in Centre.

Kevin R. Kurtz is on the USS Joseph Strauss (DDG-16) stationed in Hawaii.

2/Lt. Joseph E. Boyett, III, is the second platoon leader for Bravo troop of 1/11th Armored Cavalry Regiment on the East-West German Border.

Rhonda Hoggle works for Aldridge, Borden & Co. in Montgomery as a staff accountant.

Stephen Hamilton is attending the University of Alabama School of Medicine in Birmingham.

Kimberly Cardwell is an academic instructor with East Alabama Skills Center in Oneonta.

2/Lt. Jimmy L. Meacham has completed the officer rotary wing aviator course and received the silver wings of an Army aviator at the U.S. Army Aviation School in Ft. Rucker.

Tim A. Tyler has completed Air Force basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex., and is receiving additional training there in the security police field.

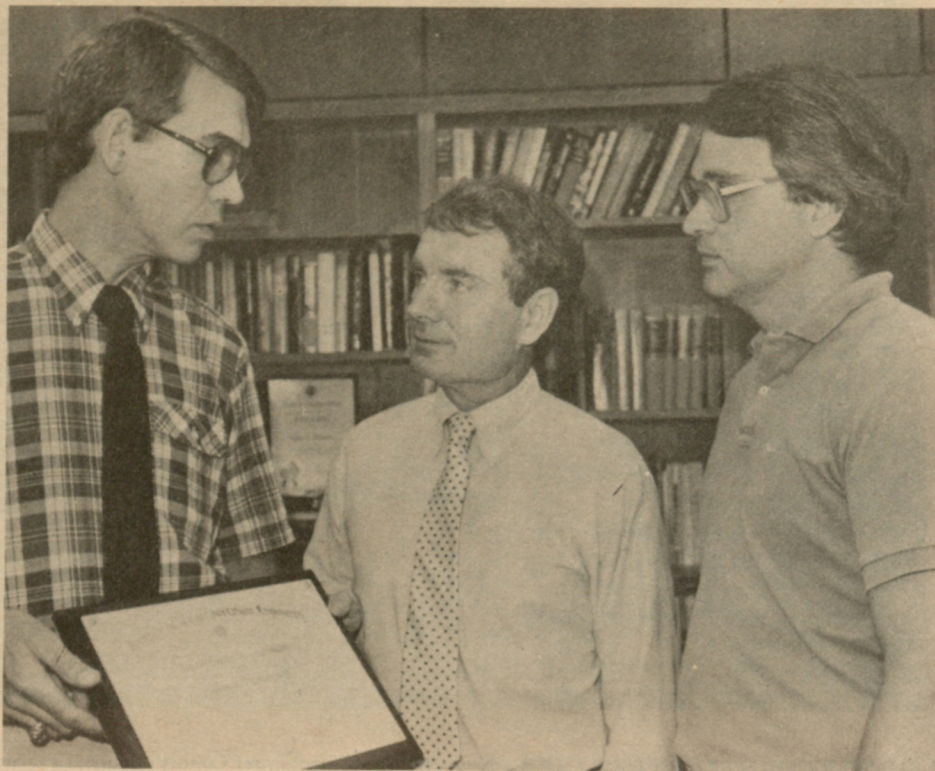

2/Lt. Lorie Coats graduated from the air weapons controller course at Tyndall AFB, Fla., and will serve with the 728th Tactical Control Squadron at Eglin AFB, Fla.

Timi Diane Lasewicz is now Timi L. McCovey.

Mark Kidd, DVM, practices veterinary medicine at the Niceville Animal Clinic in Niceville, Fla.

Daniel Wilson, who worked for an attorney in Nashville this summer, is starting his second year of law school at Vanderbilt.

James Edmond works in construction management for Kajima International Inc., in Atlanta, the third largest construction company in the world.

ITE TOPS—The Auburn student chapter of the Institute of Transportation Engineers (ITE) has been selected the top student chapter in the organization. Faculty advisor Tom Culpepper, an assistant professor of civil engineering, left, and chapter officer Dan Henry, a senior in civil engineering, right, show off the award recognizing that achievement to Engineering Dean Lynn Weaver. The Auburn student ITE chapter has been named an outstanding chapter for the Southern region—which includes 60 chapters in a six-state area—for the past eight years.

Margaret Suzanne Obering is now Suzanne Obering Willoughby.

Stacey Tepool is an accountant for Chrysler Corp. in the Huntsville electronics division and is working on an MBA at Florida Institute of Technology. She recently became a member of the American Society of Women Accountants.

Teresa Lee works for Kraft, Inc., as a transportation analyst and lives in Atlanta.

Lisa Alice Johnson is now Lisa J. Brannon. Timothy Connor is project manager with Gentrac, Inc., a commercial general contractor based in Decatur and lives in Huntsville.

Beverly Dawn Cochran is now Beverly C. Haymon.

Richard Sims is manager of shipping and modular carpet departments at Milliken's large carpet service center in LaGrange, Ga.

Catherine Williams teaches in the Mobile County public schools.

Jeffrey Charnock is production assistant and account representative for Day Communications in Mobile.

Jack Poole is working on the Bell Express project for Bell South Services in Birmingham.

Cynthia Gibson is a software engineer for Texas Instruments in Dallas, Tex.

Emily Logan is assistant manager for Brooks Fashion at Parkway City Mall in Huntsville.

Ann Elizabeth Shaw is now Ann S. King.

Susan Williams of Birmingham works for Central Bank in the trust department.

Debra Brummett was selected as a finalist in Art and the Alabama Woman in competition at Mobile College. Her textile design is one of the 188 pieces included in the show, selected from 690 entries.

Cathy Palmer is now Cathy P. Watford and lives in Eufaula.

Ens. Laron Maloney has completed Aviation Officer Candidate School in preparation for primary flight training.

2/Lt. Jonathan Vinson has completed the disbursing officer course at Marine Corps Service Support School in Camp Lejeune, N.C.

MARRIED: Maja E. Van Eysbergen to J. Scott Clayton on June 22. They live in Tuscaloosa where they both work for Alabama Power.

Rebecca Ann Brewer to Roland Charles Throneberry. They live in Ft. Walton Beach, Fla.

Tammie Warnke '83 to Jim Little on Aug. 3. They live in Birmingham where Tammie is a financial consultant and Jim is a business developer.

Valerie Lane '83 to Terry S. Pickle. They live in Colquitt, Ga., where Terry is part owner of Pickle Farms, Inc., and grows peanuts, soybeans, and corn. Valerie is an 8th grade teacher in the Miller County school system.

Donna Muslolino to John Scott Oliver. They live in Norcross, Ga.

Janice Marie Tyus '83 to James A. Kelly, Jr., on July 20. They live in Birmingham where Janice works for Protective Life Insurance Co. and Jim works for Coopers & Lybrand.

Martha Kay Acton to Roger King Fuston on May 11. Kay is a copy editor for Southern Living and Roger is sales engineer with Westinghouse Electric in Birmingham.

Rebecca L. Lauderdale to Curtis A. Beebe on March 9. They live in Shalimar, Fla.

Paula Kate Bradford '83 to David Lynn Watson on June 16. Both are industrial arts teachers with the Bibb County Board of Education in Macon, Ga.

Catherine Anne Judkins to Kenneth Jackson Stephens on Feb. 16 in Auburn. They live in Atlanta where Ken is a real estate agent and Cathy works in the advertising department of Wolf Camera and Video.

Glenda Kay Penland to Michael V. Parkman. They live in Dallas, Tex., where Michael is an electrical design engineer in Texas Instruments' Advanced Systems Program.

Amy Carter to Jerry Dauphin. They live in Montgomery where Amy works in court administration at the Montgomery County Courthouse.

Cindy J. Moree to Mark Galen Glazner '83 on April 27 in Miami, Fla. They live in Lafayette, La., where Cindy is merchandise manager for D.H. Holmes and Mark is core analyst for Core Laboratories.

Holly Harrison to Lt. William A. Moore '83. Billy is a weapons systems officer in F-4 and will be moving in October from George AFB, Calif., to Seymour-Johnson AFB, N.C., with Holly who "won big on 'The Price is Right.'"

1985

Donald Cox works for the architectural firm of Stand & Newdow, Inc., in Atlanta, Ga.

David Turner is employed by Lee Company in Fayetteville, Tenn.

Douglas Barton is an engineer in the telecommunications department of Alabama Power Co. in Birmingham.

Margaret Stockham is a marketing research analyst for Southern Company Services in Atlanta.

James Atherton, Jr., is a branch manager trainee with SouthTrust Bank in Birmingham.

Jay S. Whitman is management information analyst for Alabama Cooperative Extension Service.

Stephen E. Brown is in charge of management production for Kinnett Dairies, Inc., in Columbus, Ga.

1/Lt. Richard W. Roberts is spacecraft systems engineering manager at the Los Angeles AFS, Calif.

Kevin J. Maher is an intern architect with Thomas Clark Associates Architects in Gaithersburg, Md.

2/Lt. Brian D. Hughes is a missile systems electrical engineer for Lowry Technical Training Center at Lowry AFB, Colo.

Penny Dollar is a pharmacist for Harco Drug Company in Tuscaloosa.

Steve Norton of Nashville, Tenn., works for Aetna Life & Casualty Insurance Co. as an employee benefits representative, specializing in pensions and investments.

Barton Carr is project manager for a Vicksburg, Miss., District Corps of Engineers surveying project with Carr & Associates Engineers, Inc., of Birmingham.

Ted Mabry is a registered representative with First Investors Corp. in Atlanta, Ga.

David O'Shields is field producer/video-grapher with a company contracted to the U.S. Army at Ft. McClellan. He produces programs of various training procedures and chemical warfare techniques. He and his wife, Laura, have a daughter, Erin.

Lawrence Whatley, Jr., is a field engineer for Robins Corp., general contractors in Birmingham.

Michael Armstrong lives on Hilton Head Island, S.C., and works for Jordan Construction of Hilton Head, Inc.

Timothy Hartford is teaching fish farming with the Peace Corps in the Central African Republic.

Pamela Denise McDonald is now Pamela M. Fortenberry and lives in Dadeville with her husband.

Frankie George DuPre, DVM, is associated with Fairvilla Animal Hospital in Orlando, Fla.

Janet Lynn Noles is now Janet N. Bryant. She and her husband live in Opelika.

Frank Tantillo is an account executive with Merrill Lynch Pierce Fenner & Smith in Montgomery.

Hubert B. Wall, Jr., works for the Army Missile Command at Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville. He is married to Anita Weaver '71.

MARRIED: Julie Turner '84 to Wendell Riley. They live in Holt, Fla.

Lisa A. Miller '83 to Edwin H. Miller. They live in Titusville, Fla.

Debra Lee Partin to Rosser L. Pace. They live in Orlando, Fla.

Carol Renee Brady to Kenneth Hubbard on August 10. They live in Marion.

Karin Lynn Gage to Thomas Calloway. They live in Augusta, Ga.

Allison Gittings to Cooper Vance Evans. They live in Auburn.

Marie M. Monin, DVM, to Louis Lyman Pittman, Jr., DVM, on June 5. Both are employed at Gordon Animal Hospital in Pulaski, Tenn.

Laurie Roberts to Steven Lee Jackson '81. They live in Pensacola, Fla.

Mary Louise Harwell to Paul Malcolm Patterson on June 29. They live in Auburn where she is employed by Lee County Board of Education, and he works for the Department of Agricultural Economics at Auburn University.

Cheryl Caye Jones '84 to William Shane Files. They live in Tampa, Fla.

Elizabeth Hall to Frank Harris Garcia on Aug. 31.

Alumnews